Jewish Exodus From Poland

WARSAW, Poland, May 8—(AP)—More than 300 Polish Jews are getting permits each month from the American military permit office here to travel through Germany on their way to Palestine.

The permit office recently removed the ban on issuing visas to emigrant Jews of military age. The restriction was applied up until the end of hostilities in Palestine. Best estimates are that between 800 and 1000 Jews of all ages are leaving Poland monthly, bearing passports.

There are reports that many hundreds of others are departing illegally, mostly by crossing the southern frontier into Czechoslovakia. Poland's Jewish population is still listed at between 30,000 and 90,000. But no record is available of Jews who leave the country illegally. Thus, some Jewish sources say the population in Poland now is down to about 50,000.

Air Propeller to Drive Russian River Boat

MOSCOW, May 8—(AP)—The Moscow dockyards will produce this year a speedy riverboat powered by air propellers. Designed by engineer A. Nikolaevich, the boat has four propellers on the after deck and is capable of going 50 to 60 kilometers an hour.

The boat will also have a portable propeller which can be lowered in the water for docking and leaving the dock.

Traffic Safety Record Lauded

The top honors won by Oregon in the nation-wide pedestrian protection contest have elicited the praise of Dr. E. B. McDaniel, president of the Oregon State Motor association.

Oregon won first place jointly with Connecticut in its division in 1948. It was the fifth time in nine years that the Beaver state had placed at or near the top.

Accident programs conducted by the governor's traffic safety council, the secretary of state's office, civic organizations, his own group and others combined to make Oregon's top rating possible, McDaniel said.

Salem and Albany were among five Oregon cities winning high awards in their divisions during the past year.

Kelly to Head State Jaycees

BAKER, May 8—(AP)—The Oregon Junior Chamber of Commerce convention has named Bruce Kelly, Portland public relations agent, president. The two day session adjourned today.

Fire Auxiliary Plans Meeting

HUBBARD—The Hubbard firemen's auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Ben Miller Wednesday evening. They voted to meet with the firemen at the hall the first Monday of each month. Games were played following the business meeting.

Keith Miller was host for a birthday party at his home on his seventh birthday May 5. Helping celebrate were Gordon and Eric Ross, Gary Barrett, Buddy Jones, Butch Fisher, Stubby Thompson and Laurie Joe DuBraya.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Barendse visited this week at Brownsmeade, where they formerly lived. George Huff is working as a mechanic for Lake county and will move his family there as soon as they sell their house east of Hubbard.

Mrs. Herman Parly and sons of Tacoma, Wash., visited her parents the Vogets, this week.

Inspection Set for Woodburn Guard Company Tonight

WOODBURN, May 8—(Special)—Annual federal inspection of the Woodburn heavy tank company of the Oregon national guard will be Monday, according to Capt. James J. Anderson. The public is invited for the inspection of the troops at the armory at 8 p. m.

The two-week encampment of the guard will start June 11 at Ft. Lewis, Wash. The local unit still has room for 13 more enlisted men and one officer, states Captain Anderson.

Installation of the new furnace in the armory has been completed.

Pass: Bob Johnson, Bend, Harold Rhodes, Ontario.

Frank Hague Takes Stump In Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, N.J., May 8—(AP)—Frank Hague—the boss—is back on the campaign trail. Those are the words you hear today in this industrial city, one of the nation's democratic bastions known for old line rough and tumble politics.

The septuagenarian democratic leader who has been in semi-retirement the past two years isn't a candidate for office. He's stumping for his ticket in Tuesday's city commission election.

It's one of the toughest battles of Hague's stormy career which dates back some 30 years when he climbed into the driver's seat of the tightly-knit democratic organization.

The veteran political chieftain has pulled out all the stops to win the fight. Numerous personal appearances, aerial displays, parades, rallies, and other hoopla employed during Hague's hey-day have been the order of the day.

The city commission election may well hold the key to the political future of Hague who always has been able to deliver tremendous democratic majorities from Jersey City in state and national elections.

Should he lose in Jersey City, Hague's chances of electing a democratic governor this fall will suffer.

Two years ago the 73-year-old Hague stepped down as mayor of this crowded city of 300,000 persons across the Hudson river from New York City. He had been mayor since 1917.

He turned over the reign to his nephew, Frank Hague Eggers, who now is mayor and heads the Hague ticket in the city election.

There are four tickets in the field. Most observers agree the fight is between the incumbent Hague forces and the freedom ticket, a fusion group.

Five commissioners to serve four years are to be elected.

Test Checks Scheduled by Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP)—The census bureau will give its 1950 census-taking plans several try-outs starting this month.

Several spots across the nation will be scenes of tests for questions and procedure to be used next year in the check on population and agriculture.

The bureau's representative tests will start full-scale "dress rehearsals" of census-taking in two southern states May 16. The places to be covered are Anderson (city) and Edgefield county, S. C., and Stephens county and a section of Atlanta, Ga.

In these four places, census enumerators will visit "every dwelling unit and farm under conditions simulating the 1950 census."

Then, in the week of May 23, smaller tests will be conducted on a sample or poll-type basis in 64 "strategically located" counties throughout the country.

Questions on age, citizenship, education and employment will be asked in the population census.

Agriculture census questions will cover farm ownership, crop and livestock production, and an inventory of the number of livestock and poultry.

Counties chosen for try-out of the same tests include Umatilla in Oregon and Kittitas in Washington.

Lebanon Concern's 38 Years Honored

LEBANON—The Kirkpatrick Motor company, Lebanon, is the 75th oldest among 6,400 Ford dealerships in the nation.

J. R. Davis, Ford's vice president-sales and advertising, recently wrote a congratulatory letter to H. R. Kirkpatrick, the dealers, in connection with the 38 years of continuous service of the dealership. The Kirkpatrick company was granted a franchise in March, 1911.

The dealership is one of 248 in the nation and second in Oregon with 35 years or more of continuous operation.

McKay Grooms New Goslings

Taking time out from gubernatorial duties is Gov. Douglas McKay feeding five little goslings belonging to the two Canadian geese at Dr. Fred Burger's artificial lakes on Madrona avenue south of Salem. The lakes, an old gravel quarry divided by a causeway, have been improved and stocked with fish by Dr. Burger and form a lovely setting for his new home. (Statesman photo).

Army, AAF to Provide Show In Portland

Hey, there, civilian! Want to talk over the army's mobile radio? Want to look at some radar equipment or have your teeth cleaned by an army dental officer?

All this and more are promised in Portland starting Thursday when the army and air force exposition opens at Holladay park. The public show, said to be the first of its kind in the nation, will be open from 2 to 10 p. m. daily through next Sunday.

Prominent among committeemen for the event is Maj. Gen. Thomas Rilea, adjutant general of Oregon, while Gen. Mark Clark, commanding the Sixth army, will attend opening ceremonies.

Purpose of the show, say the services involved, is to show young folks and their parents the opportunities that go along with a hitch in the peacetime army and air force.

Exhibited also will be the new-est in clothing for protection from gas, which is said to resemble the outfit of the legendary "man from Mars," mobile classroom for training cooks and mess sergeants, a chaplain's exhibit of altars used in field services.

The 100-piece Second Infantry division band will furnish music.

Driver Training Course Offers Credit to Teachers

Teachers registering for the driver education course at the Portland summer session will receive graduate or under-graduate credit for the 40-hour course, the Oregon State Motor association has announced.

The course will be at Lincoln high school in Portland, July 25-29. Schools with teachers trained in this course become eligible to apply for free dual control cars for driver training, the association pointed out. The 1949 course will be the fourth such training session, with 187 teachers having been trained in the previous three courses.

Sow Boosts British Pork Supply with 23 Pigs

STOKE BY NAYLAND, England, May 8—(AP)—Do you suppose somebody told Pansy Britain needs pork? Pansy, farmer John Butler's 400-pound Essex sow, has just given birth to 23 pigs—said to be a British record.

A few hours later her daughter had another 15.

Clan Claims Age Record

SYDNEY, Australia, May 8—(AP)—An Australian family of 14 brothers and sisters, living in Victoria and Western Australia, are claiming the title of the world's greatest aggregate age for a family. The 14 Smartt brothers and sisters aggregate 982 years. They are Arthur, 80; Florence, 79; Bertha, 78; Esther, 76; Eliza, 75; Thomas, 74; Alexander, 72; Nathaniel, 70; Mary, 68; Martha, 66; Ethel, 64; Walter, 62; Lois, 60; and Samuel, 58. They are the children of Henry and Bertha Smartt, now dead.

Pair Rescued After Crash on Canadian Peak

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 8—(AP)—Their seven-day ordeal virtually behind them, Bill Grant and Sheila Cure are aboard the RCAF Dakota, heading for Vancouver.

The young couple, who crashed Monday on the 8,000-foot peak of Mount Hoop, ten miles below the American border, spent today plodding through the rugged mountainside growth toward a waiting U. S. helicopter.

They reached the copter at Lightning Creek Bridge, 40 miles from Hope, B. C., about 8 p. m. (PDT) and boarded the Dakota at Hope half an hour later.

The helicopter will make two more trips to evacuate the three para-rescue men of the RCAF who guided Grant, 30, and Miss Cure, 28, from their precarious camp on the mountainside.

From Hope, 100 miles east of here, the pair will fly to Abbotsford, about 45 miles east, and transfer to an RCAF Lancaster for the rest of the flight.

Grant, reserve force pilot, and Miss Cure, a student nurse, were enroute to Cardston, Alta., when their light Fleet Canuck ran into trouble near Princeton, B. C. Monday.
