SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Every woman is the center of three circles . . . hers to influence according to the strength of her will.

Everything you touch is changed, diminished or increased by your contact. Every person you meet gains or loses through the experience. Every room you enter is made more attractive or less so by your presence. You are a very important person. Your power is great.

Choose a new dress and you influence fashion by your acceptance of it. Dine in any restaurant and you become part of its character. Strangers judge it to some degree by your appearance. Walk down any street — you alter its appearance for all who may be passing by or glancing from a window.

Hemmed into a Corner?
Did you ever feel that your sphere of activity was small? Did you ever think you were hemmed into a tiny corner of the world?

Just consider the three circles of your life — and how great your influence over each one is:

First, there's your most intimate, personal circle: Your immediate surroundings such as your home, your job, your school, your room. You'll admit that your control over this circle is great. You can change any part in little ways or in big ways — you can even change their location from one city to another — or to another state! You can alter their complexion or their character — if you want it strongly enough! You are the motivating factor in this circle.

Second, there's your circle of people, the community of which you are a part, your social environment. Here, your influence is as great or as small as you wish it to be and earn. In this field you reap the rewards of your charm, your consideration of others, your forbearance toward the opinions and beliefs of others. Your influence is in direct relation to how well you have learned the lessons of tact, timing and tolerance. And to how great a bid you have made for influence through your good work, your thoughtful acts and ideas. You must deserve your influence in this circle. It largely will be what you make it.

And third, there is the circle of democracy, of which, if you are a citizen of the United States, you are a part! Here, your opinion is heard 'round the world! Never give or withhold your vote lightly. No person is more consequential, more influential than yours.

You are a very important person. Your place in this world is big. You are big enough to fill it!

Expanded Health Unit Plan Offered to Polk Budgeteers

DALLAS, May 8.—(Special)—Polk county could establish its own county health unit with an additional county expenditure of only $1,600 under a plan to be proposed to the county budget committee here Tuesday, according to health officials.

The plan proposes a budget of $23,900 to support a minimal health unit. Federal funds are available through the state department of health to reimburse the county for 35 per cent of this amount, provided that the unit meets minimal standards.

Federal reimbursement thus would reach over $8,000, bringing cost to the county down to about $15,145. This is only $1,600 over the budget for this fiscal year of $13,500.

Proponents of the plan point out that the present budget provided $4,500 for joint employment with some other neighboring county of a full-time health officer. This plan was not accomplished and the money will revert to the county general fund. By using $1,600 of this year's savings of $4,500, proponents say, the county can receive over $8,000 more in federal funds. The actual dollars of savings, however, are not available, since the unexpended money must by law revert to the general fund.

A minimal health unit, such as is proposed, would be made up of a full-time health officer, two nurses, a sanitarian and an office clerk.

Possibility that a third person could be employed, to expand and strengthen work of the unit, revealed at a meeting here Friday, when the plan was put in final form. It was learned that of $4,000 estimated salary and expense cost for the additional nurse, at least $3,000 was already available in the form of pledges from the county tuberculosis and health association and from school districts, which would receive expanded health service through the work of the third nurse.

The tuberculosis and health association president, Mrs. Grove Peterson, and spokesmen for the school districts informed W. E. Knower and C. L. Burbank, county commissioners, of the available pledges.

The movement to request a county health unit in this year's budget is the outgrowth of action taken by Polk County Tuberculosis and Health association at its annual meeting recently. Judge W. A. Wiest of Independence and Monmouth heads a committee of the association which called the meeting here Friday.

The group representing the school boards of the county, the health association, present county health organization, and the local and county PTA groups, heard Dr. Gordon Edwards, state director of local health services, describe work of the minimum county health units at that meeting.

Dr. C. A. Pratzke of Independence, County Nurses Barbara Dike and Audrey Smith of Dallas, and L. P. Putnam, state field organization director for the tuberculosis and health association, spoke briefly on phases of the proposal.

W. A. Wiest, Dr. Edwards and Mrs. Ernest Lettken of Rickreuil were named a committee to represent the interested organizations at a meeting of the county budget committee in the county court at 10 a. m. Tuesday.
