

Area Policemen Receive Class Certificates at School Banquet

Over 65 mid-valley policemen received training certificates at a regional police banquet Tuesday night which marked the end of the six-course regional police school ending Tuesday afternoon.

City, county and state police, who attended the school, together with officers of the FBI, League of Oregon Cities and mayors, city managers, councilmen and police officers from cities in this area were at the dinner in the American Legion club.

Only non-police member to receive an award was Thomas Wright, staff correspondent of The Oregon Statesman, who attended five police school classes while covering the school for his paper.

A. C. (Jack) Bartlett, director of the state board of aeronautics, was master of ceremonies. Acting Governor William E. Walsh of Coos Bay gave the main address and handed away the diplomas.

The Rev. George O'Keefe, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church gave the invocation.

Father O'Keefe also spoke on the relationship between policemen and children of the community.

Oscar Paulsen, director of the state vocational education department, stressed the need for in-service training of police officers.

Frank A. Fisher, special agent in charge of the FBI in Portland, talked on the value of training to officers and the public.

Mayor Robert Ellstrom gave the welcome address and spoke in behalf of the League of Oregon Cities, who was sponsor.

Gene Rossman Named to Multnomah Commission

PORTLAND, May 17—(AP)—Gene W. Rossman, 39, was named to Multnomah county commissioner today ending a long deadlock over the position.

Rossman, a Portland motor truck salesman and a republican, was named after Democratic Commissioner James Gleason and Republican Commissioner Frank Small previously had been unable to agree on a candidate.

A charge of rape against Havellea Canada, 1412 N. Capitol st., was withdrawn in Marion County District court Tuesday, and a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was substituted.

Canada's bail of $10,000 was not changed as a result of the reduction of the charge which was made on motion of District Attorney E. O. Stadler. He was ordered held for the grand jury.

A complaint against the elderly junk dealer has been signed by parents of a small girl allegedly molested by Canada.

Boy Saved from Death Under Wheels of Train

SEATTLE, May 17—(AP)—After a Great Northern mail train was flagged just 50 yards away, firemen finally extricated a seven-year-old boy's head from two vertical steel I-beams beneath a railroad bridge tonight.

The boy was unharmed. Hundreds of spectators cheered as a fireman passed the word: "He's all right. We've got him out."

Court Awards $6,383 Portland Woman; Befriended Logger

The state supreme court here Tuesday helped justice balance her scales and awarded a Portland woman $6,383 left her by a lonely Spaniard whom she had befriended.

The money which the Spaniard, Jim Jimenez, left Mrs. Ida Giannini, was in a joint bank account. Mrs. Giannini is the wife of a cook. It was the practice of Jimenez, a logger, when he came in from the woods, to occupy a room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Giannini and their two children. He paid $5 a month.

The unmarried logger died three years ago. According to court record the Giannini family and Jimenez were on the best of terms. The joint bank account, he said, was his way of expressing appreciation for Mrs. Giannini's true friendship.

In a suit filed by H. J. Langos, estate administrator, Multnomah Circuit Judge Ashy Dickson ruled in favor of Mrs. Giannini. The supreme court upheld Judge Dickson.

In another opinion the court affirmed a judgment in which Russell Johnson, 25, received $43,909 for personal injuries resulting from a truck accident near DeLake, Jan. 14, 1947.

Highway Men Veto Requests For Additions

PORTLAND, May 17—(AP)—The highway commission chomped today to requests for a number of highway additions in Oregon.

A proposal for a Tualatin delegation for early completion of the Wilsonville cut-off between Portland and Salem was turned down because it would cost $7,500,000 to finish the job.

The delegation said the highway is partly completed, and that if the job were finished it would do more to relieve traffic congestion down the Willamette valley than widening of highway 99-E to four lanes between Portland and the state capital.

R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer said ten miles of paving and construction of a bridge across the Willamette river at Wilsonville still were needed to complete the job. He estimated cost of a four-lane bridge between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

The commission also repeated its statement of yesterday that there is no intention to extend the four-lane width of highway 99-E at present.

Earlier the commission rejected a proposal for a new highway down the east side of the Willamette valley. The route, to be known as the Cascade highway, would run from Oregon City through Silverton, Scio, Lebanon to Springfield.

The commission also rejected proposals from small communities for the state to take over road improvements.

MERCURY PLUMMETS

PORTLAND, May 17—(AP)—Temperatures plummeted in Oregon early today, down to a low at Lakeview of 30 degrees. Bend recorded 32. Klamath Falls 34 and Burns 36. Others had minimum readings in the 40s.

Fancy is a short form of the word phantasy.

Zoners Asked to Authorize Apartments in Hospital Area

P. D. Quisenberry and other property owners asked the Salem planning and zoning commission Tuesday night for a zone change to permit construction of apartment units in the undeveloped area just west of the new clinic and pharmacy center near Salem general hospital.

Salem to Pay $100 Claim in Flood Damage

Flood damage to a north Salem veterinary business will cost the city of Salem $100, as a result of Marion county circuit court decision this week.

Sydney P. Levene, veterinarian, and his wife sued the city for $15,000 damages, asserting that the city was to blame for faulty drainage of the area of their business at 3380 Portland rd. where the basement has been filled with water twice since Salem annexed that district to the north.

Circuit Judge E. M. Page found for the Levenes, but ruled that they could collect only the statutory limit of $100 against the city. The plaintiffs, through Attorney Asa Lewelling, maintained the $100 limit did not apply in this case.

Plaintiffs declared that the city had dug a ditch in rear of their property but had not enlarged drainage facilities under the highway to carry off flood waters.

Acceptance of requested change from class II residential to class III business zone of three lots at Rural and 13th streets for business development by Ransom & Sons, plumbers.

Acceptance of requested change from class I residential to class II business zone to permit establishment of a Dairy Queen ice cream business at N. Capitol and Hood streets, where H. E. Canada now operates a junkyard (which was established before the present city zoning).

Adoption of variance permits to permit alteration of two class I residential area homes to accommodate two families in separate apartments. These were requested by Mrs. Elizabeth Young, at 1596 N. 4th st., and Mrs. Maude May Gobert, 608 N. 16th st.

The zoners also considered a request for special permission for Delta Gamma sorority to enlarge its chapter house at 1610 Court st. in a residential zone. They decided the sorority must secure signed approval of property owners in the immediate vicinity of the chapter house before the proposal could be acted upon.

Escaped Cons Back in Pen

Two convicts, Ralph E. Neyman, 26, and Henry Bradley, 27, who escaped from the state penitentiary early Sunday, were returned to the institution Tuesday from Prineville where they were apprehended by Chief of Police Earl Shaw Monday afternoon.

The men escaped by cutting the window bars in the prison garage dormitory and scaling a 15-foot wall. When arrested they were in possession of an automobile reported stolen at Sheridan.

Prison Warden George Alexander said both convicts had been assigned to isolation cells where they will remain for an indefinite period.
