State Teacher Requirement Drop Approved

Rules and regulations, dealing with elementary teacher training in Oregon, were approved by the State Board of Education here Monday.

Under the old law elementary teacher training was restricted to normal schools and teacher colleges. A 1949 legislative act provides that these teachers may receive their training in any standard college or university.

Another enactment of the last legislature providing for an exhaustive study of the elementary and secondary schools also was discussed. This study primarily would involve financing, physical plant, organization and administration.

Proposal Approved
The board approved a proposal to join with the secretary of state, under another new law, regulating the operation of school buses.

Under this law the secretary of state will inspect school buses but the state educational department retains the responsibility as it relates to the conduct of children riding in the buses and drivers.

A total of $90,000 was authorized for administration of the basic school fund for the fiscal year 1949-50. Administration is under the state education department.

New Minimum Set
The board voted standards relating to the size of classes and teaching load at the technical school. In compliance with a recommendation of the joint ways and means committee of the last legislature under the new standards there must be a minimum of 15 pupils for a new course and a minimum of 15 students for each instructor.

It was reported that M. C. Buchanan, assistant supervisor of agricultural education, would report for duty July 1. He has been on leave because of ill-health.

Soap Sculpture Wins Award For Salem Girl

Soap sculpture of a Grecian lady won honorable mention and $25 in cash for Leanita Park, 11, of Salem, in the recent national soap sculpture contest, it was learned Monday.

Leanita received one of 35 honorable mentions in the junior class, for 14 years and under. She is the daughter of Mrs. Junita Rompage, 1925 S. 25th st. and just finished the sixth grade at Richmond school.

Model Plane 'Pilots' Win

Three Salem model aircraft "pilots" went back from Roseburg Monday with two firsts and a third place from an annual meet sponsored by merchants there.

Melvin Dornbusch won first in class A speed with 70 miles per hour; Earl Cayton, first in class D with 120 miles per hour, and Pat Tuttle, third in class C with 99 miles per hour. Approximately 60 persons competed.

Traffic Safety Council Stresses Need for County Safety Units

Importance of county traffic safety units, in the statewide campaign to reduce traffic accidents, was stressed at a meeting of the Governor's traffic safety council here Monday.

Governor Douglas McKay emphasized the need for continued education in the traffic field and pledged support of his office to the traffic safety council's program.

Robert Glenn, Oregon State college, chairman of the statewide council, presided.

Outstanding subjects discussed included engineering, education, fleet safety, public information, traffic law enforcement, traffic courts and ways and means. Members of the interim committee to report at the 1951 legislature are Frank Landsburg, chairman; John Carpenter, J. J. Quillin, Lyman Slack, and Sidney King, secretary, all of Portland.

Use Local Problems
Carpenter, chairman of the public information section, while emphasizing the importance of newspaper and radio publicity, warned against the indiscriminate use of this material. "It is far better if you base your newspaper and radio releases on local problems," Carpenter declared. Carpenter suggested the organization of county speakers bureaus, use of traffic films and frequent meetings of the county traffic councils. He stressed that speakers should know what they are talking about.

Need Suggestions
Traffic engineering problems were discussed by E. B. Crandall, chairman of the engineering division of the council and employe of the state highway commission here. He said the highway commission was anxious to receive suggestions from the public concerning traffic safety and urged persons having an idea looking toward improvement of highway conditions to contact with state highway department officials. Crandall told the county traffic safety council chairman that the highway commission, in turn, would provide any information sought by the councils provided it was available.

Play Important Role
Harvey Wright, chairman of the council education division, said the schools of the state are now playing an important role in traffic safety programs. He said this educational program not only included lectures and distribution of safety pamphlets but also the actual operation of motor vehicles. Traffic law enforcement was discussed by Walter Lansing, state motor vehicle department.

Lansing stressed that without law enforcement little could be accomplished through education or any other program.

"I believe the governor's traffic safety council, supported by active county traffic safety groups, can do much toward alleviation of traffic accidents," Lansing said. He previously was captain of the Salem state police district.

HURTS ARMS
Earl Morgan, 245 E. Madrona ave., was treated Monday by city first aid men for abrasions on his arms received when he tumbled along with a broken scaffold. Morgan was working on a house in the 1800 block of North 24th street when the accident occurred.

Gas Company Authorized To Sell Bonds

Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg Monday signed an order authorizing the Portland Gas & Coke company, on or before July 12, 1949, to issue and sell to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company $3,500,000 of first mortgage bonds, 3 1/2 per cent series, at a price of 100.5 per cent of the principal amount of said bonds, plus accrued interest from June 1, 1949.

Proceeds of the sale would be used to pay and discharge $2,000,000 of 4 per cent promissory notes maturing July 12, 1949, and the balance of $1,500,000 to be applied $562,500 to the prepayment of two installments due February 12, 1950, on applicant's mortgage promissory note dated Aug. 12, 1947, and $937,500 ratably to prepayment of the remaining installments payable on said note over the period from February 12, 1951, to August 12, 1957, both inclusive.

The order becomes operative on payment of all lawful fees to the utilities department.

The company has its headquarters in Portland and operates in both Oregon and Washington.

The bow and arrow was used by ancient men on every continent except Australia.

Professor at UO Fired 'for Incompetence'

PORTLAND, June 13—(AP)—Dr. C. J. Sullivan, assistant professor of philosophy at the University of Oregon, today was denied continued appointment by the state board of higher education sitting as a committee of the whole today. The regular meeting is scheduled for 10 o'clock Tuesday.

Dr. Sullivan, appointed to the staff in 1938 and continued on yearly tenure ever since, appealed to the board over notice given him a year ago that he would not be re-hired. He produced letters from his former department head and from students attesting to his ability.

Dean E. L. Johnson of the college of liberal arts replied that on six budget periods Dr. Sullivan had been denied tenure with the approval of his dean, the faculty advisory council and three successive presidents or acting presidents, on grounds of incompetence. Johnson said Sullivan also had failed to heed repeated urgings to obtain a position elsewhere.

Without Dissent
The members of the board voted without dissent to confirm the action of university officials.

President Harry N. Newbain reported that under present procedures no faculty member is kept longer than seven years on yearly tenure. The rule is recommended by the American Association of University Professors.

Donald R. Grutke, Portland student who missed the graduation ceremony at Oregon State college last week, was granted a "one-man" commencement.

One-Man Commencement
Grutke's case involved failure of his winter term credits, needed for graduation at OSC, to clear through the extension service and University of Oregon office and back to the state college.

Though college officials had given him a letter saying that he had completed all work for a degree in business and technology.

Grutke's case involved failure of his winter term credits, needed for graduation at OSC, to clear through the extension service and University of Oregon office and back to the state college.

degree, which would be conferred a year hence, the board authorized the college to grant him the degree now so he could be counted in the class of 1949.

Veterans Loan Total Swells

Farm and home loans approved by the Oregon veterans department, as of May 30, aggregated $13,639,539, as against $15,000,000 of bonds issued, department officials reported here Monday.

There were 299 applications for loans during May which was a few less than during the previous month. Applications approved during May totaled $699,450. Officials said loan approvals had averaged about $200,000 a month since early in March with indications that applications would increase later in the year.

It was predicted that another bond issue would be required about September 15. Applications for home loans predominate.
