From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Don't Fence Yourself In

Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They walk along talking-Easy on one side, Handy on the other-picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.

Afterwards, over a friendly g' is of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is a nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there." "Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing." From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful. Take the "walls of intelerance" that people build up against each other. I like a temperate glass of beer now and then, you may prefer buttermilk—but that's no reason for me to criticise you, or you, me. Let's live and letlive together-making more friends and fewer "walls."
