Senators, Yakima Again Divide Pair, Break Even in Long Series; Brooklyn Fattens Lead; Yankees, Athletics Sweep Doubleheaders

by Al Lightner

Nice to see that the Washingtons didn't corner the full market on southern Cal junior college transfers, and particularly from our old alma mater Compton. Jim Aiken speared one for Oregon in Bill Fell, field last night, the league leaders and a good one indeed. Fell last fall did a century in 10.3 attired in full football regalia, which is flying low. He did the same distance regularly in 9.7 to 9.9 in track harness, which has Bill Bowerman clicking a few heels also . . . The checking in of Fell to Oregon from Compton marks the first such transfer of a notable athlete since the days of footballer Buck Berry and basketbailer Vic Townsend who were Tarters (rah rah rah!) Win 'em when we were there . . . and draw 'em: In Yakima's 33 home games so far, less than half the home season, the paid attendance has been 64.671. For all of the '48 campaign it was 73,600, considered a dismal season Speaking above of corners on markets, looks as if the town Senators are a magnet for U of Oregon baseballers. Outfielder Hal Zurcher, who can go get 'em afield with the best, is the latest. First-sacker Dick Bartle wasn't much ahead of him, and last year it was Catcher Bill Burgher. Then there is Roy Carlson too. True, Pitcher Hal Saltzman went with Seattle and Vancouver first, but eventually wound up with Salem.

BOBBY VOLK And the Senators were dickering for Shortstop Al Cohen before he which wound up being played undecided to join the Cleveland-San Diego-Tacoma clicque . . . Jim was leading 1-0 at the it they haven't much to moan about now. Lookit how easy they time. Yakima had runners on first got Dick Sinovic into their organization from the Beavers . .

Middleweight Bobby Volk, now 25 and admittedly under full sail along the comeback trail, has moved bug and baggage from Portland to Spokane. He'll operate out of the Inland Empire city. It was only a couple of years ago that Volk flattened the famed Fred Apostoli and appeared headed for 160-pound greatness. Then it was only last winter that Volk got his eye in the way of one of King-Henry Lee's thumbs here in our armory and had to retire from the game with a short-lived paralysis. He's all over it now and is raring to go again . . .

Next Midget Racing Program Dated July 13

So many queries have come in that perhaps we'd better mention here the next midget auto racing program has been booked for Wednesday night, July 13, at Hollywood bowl. By then there will be caps and verbal mayhem into the two more "Offies" in the running, the brand newie just installed by ozone. They would like to have the veteran Howard Osborne, and the one that loosened its bearings for Cal Niday during his Salem debut late last month, stopping him during the time trials. All told, there will be seven of the Offenhausers present, which should make things a bit tough in the competition department

He probably won't have many waving him off personally, but many are they who wish Jerry Lillie much success in his new coachine venture at Oregon. Jerry leaves town today to check in at the "U" . . . Jack Wilson's pitching sortie for the Albany Alcos the other day against the Kansas City Monarchs has some of the natives asking him to crank up his stuff in behalf of the town Senators. But the truth of it is, J. Francis can hardly hoist his flipper ligh enough to comb his graying (and steadily disappearing) locks. Both he and Bill Bevens are practicing the combing tasks left handed, and 'tis a shame. We remember easily the days not too far gone when both gents could put a dent in a brick wall

Looks like that yakkity-yak stuff we wrote about on the Spokanes came none too soon. They've got themselves in quite a mess for that run-in with Umpire Max Skulik, the same one that cost them a 9-0 forfeit game to Wenatchee. The Spokes of 1947 lost themselves a pennent via a similar forfeit, remember? They blew their corks that had blanked Salem only last Friyear at Johnny Nenezich during a Salem game at Spokane. Little day, staggered on and on and Jawn declared a forfeit, and when the final tabulations were made came in with the win. He was biffin September, Vancouver was champion and Spokane was second ed hard and was ineffective

The Bosses Got the 'Bird' When Introduced

The barrage of razzberries (non-cratable species) handed the high pooh-bahs George Norgan and Bill Mulligan when they were introduced to the crowd at Waters field Sunday night should have impressed those gents they aren't exactly popular in these parts. The plight of the town Senators is the reason of course. and among the catcalls and other assorted wise cracks which went with the booing was heard such remarks as, "Why'n'cha give us some ballplayers," and "throw 'em out, the cheapskates."

So it would seem that the guys and gals who pay the freight In the local park have gotten to the point that they won't take a losing a 12-hit Salem attack, and some the local park have gotten to the point that they won't take a losing a 12-hit Salem attack, and some 14-1, in the opener of a twin-bill. club year in and year out, and don't mind sounding off on the subject. We're an idea the Messrs. Norgan and Mulligan weren't present just because they didn't have anyplace else to go. There have been some pretty solid rumors flitting about that at least one local man is interested in buying the club. And it is known that the club d finitely is for sale, at $75,000 or perhaps a little less for each. We've a suspicion the big boys were in town to talk a little turkey with the prospect, or prospects. Could be.

Mat Card Set Tonight

It's to be Sugi Hyamaki's trickery, including his dangerous sleeper hold, against the mangle-'em tactics of Tattooed Al Williams in the main dish on Matchmaker Elton Owen's armory grappling m tonight. Williams made his presence felt by all hands last week when he ended a long absence hereabouts by flattening Al Szasz in a ding-dong scrap. Hayamaki is easily one of the top operators locally when he's churging on all cylinders, and in his "sleeper" has an equalizer for any hold or mayhem the meanies fling at him. The semiwindup special between Ge / ge Dusette and Buck Weaver, a pair of the top scientific artists, should more than carry its share of the evening's better action. Both are A-1 gladiators wherever they do. The 8:30 o'clock opener bring back the popular Yaqui Kid in a rematch with Toughie Tony Falotti. Theirs was dinger last week. The Kid, seconded by his famed tutor Yaqui Joe has been making many friends since his arrival in the local mat pitcure. Owen will referee the bouts.

Sporer Traded To Bears Nine

By Al Lightner

The town Senators and Yakima Bars again gained nothing and lost nothing, except time, in their series ending double bill at Waters spearing the opener 9-5 and the Solons coming back to cop the nightcap 10-8. And so for the lengthy eight game stand all things ended even at four wins for each club.

The Salems are abroad today to Wenatchee where they will open a series tonight. They'll have a new pitcher with them in Bob Drilling, husky righthander, who last night was picked up in an even-up swap with the Yaks for Bus Sporer. Drilling's record to date this season is three wins, five losses. Sporer had won six, lost five for Salem. Inasmuch as Bus was supposed to return to his regular job in a local paper mill soon, he was considered a total loss by the Senator management. A promise of winter employment by his new owners prompted the deal. Drilling is the lad who in 1947 won 23 games for Salt Lake in the Pioneer loop. He appeared in a relief role for the Bears in the second game last

Big Jim Olsen, who has lost his key to the win column lately, absorbed the loss in the first game and second as a result of singles. Then Ted Jennings also singled and on the throw-in Gene Thompson was trapped between third and home. In the run-down between Catcher Roy Carlson and Third-baseman Bob Hedington, Thompson was waved across the plate by Umpire John Young when he ruled that Hedington impeded Thompson's progress while trying to return to third base.

This of course brought down the house, and the Senators for almost five minutes tossed gloves, tossed the ump right along with them, but didn't of course. All hands were allowed to stay in the game, despite the abuse rendered, and before Olsen could get the side out two more runs romped across.

Manager Bill Beard lodged his protest on the ump's call on Thompson, but it's doubtful that it will be allowed inasmuch as it involved an umpire's decision and not a breach of the rules.

including Babe Gammino's second another in the sixth and then plucked two more off Reliefer Stu Fredericks in the seventh.

Meanwhile Bill Sweiger, who throughout, but managed to hang on to the end.

For Olsen it was his eigth loss against seven wins. Jim had six straight wins to start with.

Ray McNulty did some staggering of his own in the nightcap, the cellar for the first time since mutuel ticket holders collected but went the distance for his ninth win. The 12-inning stint Ray checked in with last Thursday apparently sapped his good stuff, for it was lacking last night. He gave up 12 hits but had the grace of Wenatchee whi enough to carry him through. Tiny Ted Savarese, McNulty's Vancouver 1-0 victim in the 12-inning spark- Tacoma ler, again opposed him. But Savarese was on the sagging sid also and lasted only until the four th, when Salem jumped in from 7-4, never to be headed. The first three Salem runs wer of the quickie variety, thanks t Mel Wasley. With both Bud Peter son and Bob Cherry aboard as result of walks, Mel fouled off a couple of 3-and-2 pitches and Bremerton then lined his ninth home run of the season over the right field wall. It was a welcome blow, but Victoria one that might be costly as well.
