

Young Demos Back Recall For Elliott

PORTLAND, July 12—(P)—Young democrats of Multnomah county lined up today behind a recall campaign sponsored by democratic Sheriff M. L. Elliott.

The new lineup of opposition to the young Multnomah sheriff, who took office in January, was announced after a morning conference of officers of both political groups.

Meanwhile, a recall notice filed yesterday against Elliott was declared faulty and the committee formed by Don C. Walker, president of the young republicans, and Walter Dennis, president of the young democrats, planned a new notice.

Walker said the Rev. Thomas F. Hudson, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, would be treasurer of the new non-partisan committee to be organized at a public meeting Thursday.

Neither the young republican or democratic organizations will have an official role in the recall campaign after the Thursday meeting, Walker said.

Sheriff Elliott remained closeted at his office today and has nothing to add to last night's statement that he had "only begun to fight."

Silverton Gets Petitions for Road Switch

SILVERTON, July 12—(Special)—The Chamber of Commerce, announced today that petitions have been prepared to counter those of property owners who protested against completion of the Salem-Silverton highway to the Marion county court.

The section of road under dispute would complete widening and improvement of the highway, which now extends to a point within five miles of Silverton.

Those opposing completion of the project to the court last Friday said "it would destroy farm units and add to government expense without shortening the route appreciably or adding to driving safety."

Some chamber members expressed concern over damage to farms of Alfred Jensen and Alvin Krug, but said the project might be "jeopardized for many years" if it is not completed soon.

The petitions, prepared by the chamber, urge the court "to take immediate steps to procure the remainder of the right-of-way" so that work may go ahead immediately.

Board Awards Three School Repair Tasks

The Salem school district board Tuesday night accepted three low bids on summertime improvement projects at local schools.

Contracts were authorized for Neuman Co., Salem, to build a retaining wall and sidewalk at McKinley school at $1,185; T. J. Patzer Co., Salem, to fill 14 window openings at Leslie junior high school auditorium, $3,373; R. L. Elfstrom Co., Salem, to re-roof parts of public school office building and adjacent school-owned house on North High street, at $2,952.

There was one higher bidder in each case, including Neuman Co. on the Leslie job, Patzer on the McKinley work and McGilchrist & Sons on the roofing.

The board appointed as a veteran agricultural instructor O. C. Brown of West Salem, former agriculture teacher and West Salem school director, who replaces Peter Larsen in the $4,500 position financed by the federal government.

Chairman Harry Scott of the board appointed as committee chairman: Gardner Knapp, building and grounds; L. J. Stewart, supplies; Mrs. David Wright, health; Edward Majek, insurance and finance; Scott, employment and transportation.

4 Bound Over At Silverton

SILVERTON—Four men were bound over to the Marion county grand jury in Silverton justice court Tuesday on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

They were Earl Knother, Richard Baller and Ray Carrington, all of Silverton, and Wilbur Tennes, Monitor route 1. Their ages ranged from 19 to 24, according to Judge Alf O. Nelson.

Baller posted $1,000 bail and Tennes posted $250 bail. Knother and Carrington were confined in Marion county jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each.

The charge involved three 4-year-old girls from the Silverton area. The police court room was packed for the hearing, but Nelson ordered it cleared before final testimonies were taken.

Salem Woman Suffers Burns From Paraffin

A home canning accident resulted in severe burns to Mrs. R. J. Chance, 30, at her apartment at 1065 Madison st., at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

An overheated kettle containing paraffin exploded and enveloped her in flames. Neighbors said she ran to the front door ablaze from head to foot.

Occupants of other apartments extinguished the flames by wrapping her in bedding. They also used a small rug which she seized in her flight from the apartment.

City first aid men took her to Salem General hospital. Late Tuesday night an attending physician said her condition was "fair." She incurred second and third-degree burns, the worst of which were on her body, arms and legs, he said. Her hair was badly singed.

Mrs. Chance told first aid men she was preparing another dish and forgot about the paraffin on the stove. When she lifted the lid it blew up, spraying her with the hot wax.

Firemen also were summoned, but property damage was confined to a waste paper basket beside the stove.

Mrs. Chance's husband was at work in Hogg brothers furniture store at the time of the accident. They have no children.

He said he had taken a car from the 200 block of South Front street on July 6 but it disappeared shortly after when he parked it near a lunch room on the Portland highway in Salem.

The car was reported stolen on July 6 by Chester Tucker, Salem route 4, box 529. It was recovered the next day and a check made out to Eugene Enfield was found in it. Friederick was carrying checks payable to that name when apprehended Tuesday, according to the police report.

Senate Group Increases Funds For Reclamation, O&C Lands

The senate appropriations committee voted Tuesday to grant increases totalling $750,000 over allowances in the house bill for operations of the bureau of land management administering O & C lands in Oregon.

This is the gist of a message received from Sen. Guy Cordon, committee member, by Charles A. Sprague, publisher of The Statesman, who is chairman of the O & C advisory committee.

The committee had gone on record urging a larger appropriation for the management of these timber lands which cover nearly 2,500,000 acres in western Oregon.

Cordon's message is as follows: "Am pleased to advise senate appropriations committee has approved increase of $175,000 over house figure for administration of O & C making total of $673,000 in the bill as reported to the senate. The contract authority for O & C access roads was also increased $100,000, making total of $250,000. Bill now goes to senate floor for action and thereafter to conference for adjustment of differences between the two houses. Will advise you of final results."

The house appropriation held to the same dollar figure as last year, but owing to automatic salary increases and increased cost for contracted fire patrol the amount would have forced a cut in staff of the bureau and restriction of operations.

"While the amount authorized by the senate committee is not equal to the sums requested by the committee, it will be of great benefit to the government and counties having an interest in timber sales and to those dealing with the bureau," said Sprague after receiving the telegram from Cordon. "We hope the senate and then the house will concur. These valuable lands must be managed so as to increase their yield in trees and revenue. The increased appropriation is really an investment which will pay dividends."

WASHINGTON, July 12—(AP)—The senate appropriations committee voted to boost funds for reclamation today, but slashed into the administration's public power program.

It approved a $590,685,911 interior department money bill that was short of many controversial power projects approved by the house when it passed the measure. (None were in Oregon.)

The bill presented to the senate would increase reclamation funds by $36,811,747 over the $317,790,037 allowed by the house, bringing the total to $354,601,784.

In addition, the committee approved contract authorizations totalling $10,339,700 for the bureau. Funds for the Bonneville Power administration were increased from the house figure of $29,927,500 to $30,284,500. It also voted to increase contract authorization for Bonneville from $15,725,000 to $15,916,500.

The committee said it was recommending an additional $255,000 in cash and $81,000 contract authority for the Lebanon substation of the Bonneville system.
