Summertime Travelers Are Many

By Jerome English
Statesman's Editor

With so many traveling during the summer months it is hard to keep track of who is in town and who is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill D. Ohling left Tuesday morning by plane for Portland for Chicago and Detroit. From Detroit they will drive on to the east coast and New York City, where they will attend the international Lions convention. Mr. Ohling is district governor of Lions. The Ohlings will drive north to Bangor, Maine and Quebec before leaving for the west coast. They plan to arrive home in early August.

Fly to Yellowstone

Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee and daughter, Anne, returned Tuesday from a plane trip to Yellowstone National park. They left Friday in their plane and arrived at West Yellowstone in four hours and 43 minutes. They toured and viewed all the scenic spots at Yellowstone for three days, flying home on Tuesday.

Return from East

Mr. and Mrs. T. Harold Tomlinson and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson returned in the capital Monday night by train from a month's trip to the east coast where they attended the Kiwanis international convention in Atlantic City. In New York City they visited with Mrs. Tomlinson's brother, Earl Sande, and spent a day with him at Long Island. The travelers also visited in Washington, D. C. and stopped two nights in Salt Lake City enroute home.

Homeward Bound

Sailing on July 19 from Le-Havre for the states will be Roger Wagner, son of the Charles E. Wagner and Forest E. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Simmons. The two young men have been touring the European continent the past year and attended school in Geneva during the winter months. They have traveled by car in nearly every European country and England, but their trip in Paris prior to sailing. The men will visit in New York City a few days after docking and will then entrain for Salem, arriving here the first of August.

Alma Trio In Monmouth

OREGON COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, Monmouth—The Alma Trio will be heard here on July 21 at 8 p. m., in Campbell hall auditorium. The group is composed of three internationally known musicians—Adolph Miller, piano; Roman Totenberg, violin; and Gabor Rejto, violin.

Friends of many years standing began ensemble playing one summer in California when they were all guests of Yehudi Menuhin on Alma estate (from which the trio takes its name) in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Each would spend many hours a day practicing his individual programs for the following season. In the evening, for recreation, they would gather in Mr. Menuhin's music room to play chamber music.

Blackwell Bush Rites Read

At a quiet ceremony on July 8 at St. Michael's Episcopal church Miss June Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterson of Albany, became the bride of Lynn Blackwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Blackwell of Summit, Oregon. Dr. Mark A. Getzenlander performed the nuptials at 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Stull of Salem attended. The couple. The bride wore a most blue gabbardine suit for her wedding.

After a honeymoon the couple will live at Summit.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. How does one know which name to mention first when introducing two women?

A. Always present the younger woman to the older, but if they are both of about the same age it doesn't matter.

Q. What should a gift do if she is preceding her escort and comes to a closed door?

A. She should allow her escort to open the door. He should then stand aside and allow the girl to pass through first.

Q. Has a divorced woman the privilege to continue wearing her rings?

A. Yes; this is entirely optional.

Salem Man Takes Bride In Portland

At a double ring ceremony at the Central Presbyterian church in Portland on July 1 Miss Virginia Jean Robertson, daughter of Mrs. Arnold Robertson of Portland, became the bride of Melvin L. Johnson, son of Mrs. Laura S. Johnson of Salem. Dr. Mark Talney officiated at the 8 o'clock rites. George Blakeslee was the soloist.

Ansel Crow gave his niece in marriage and her bridal gown was of Chantilly lace fashioned en-train. The fitted bodice was made with a net yoke adorned with satin scallop trim. A satin bustle and scalloping around the skirt finished the trim on the long sleeved gown. Her lace trimmed illusion veil fell from a wreath of braided illusion and orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade of stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Lyle Prater was her sister's honor matron and wore a mauve taffeta gown and carried gold carnations and begonias with a spray of the same flowers in her hair. Bridesmaids were the bride's Alpha Xi Delta sorority sisters, Mrs. O. L. Abbott, Miss Arlene Goither and Miss Marion Victor, who wore Nile green taffeta frocks, the skirts caught up in front with large bows. They carried fan shaped bouquets of salmon carnations and tuberous begonias with matching headdresses. Terry Prater was ring bearer. Donald Barkley of Salem stood with the groom as best man and ushers were Don Hall, James Hilliard and John Dinkle, jr., Phi Kappa Psi fraternity brothers of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Robertson chose a grey evening gown with matching hat and corsage of baby orchids. Mrs. Johnson attended her son's marriage in an ashen of roses gown with orchid corsage with matching feathers and orchids in her hair.

A reception followed in the church parlors. Mrs. Alfred Erickson of Prineville and Mrs. Herman Bergner, Salem, poured, Mrs. George Fletcher of Salem presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Glen O. Dolan of Portland, cut the brides cake. All four are sisters of the groom. Assisting Mrs. Dolan were Miss Louise Rotto and Miss Shirley Helzer.

The couple went north to Vancouver Island and Canada on their honeymoon, after which they will be at home in Portland where he is with International Harvester. For going away the bride wore a watermelon red suit with navy blue accessories and white orchid corsage.

Luncheon For Bride-Elect

Mrs. E. J. Scellars, Mrs. U. Scott Page and Mrs. W. I. Needham were hostesses for a bridal luncheon at Silver Falls lodge on Tuesday afternoon in compliment to Miss Margaret Jane Cooley, August bride-elect.

Covers were placed for twenty-five and coming from out-of-town was Mrs. Jams Maulding, mother of the bride-elect, John Maulding, and Mrs. Melvin T. Hurley of Richmond, Calif. The honor guest was presented with a gift of her crystal.

Reunion for Visitors

A family reunion was held at Olinger park on Sunday, July 10, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. Karchutt, who were here from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Burke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Easter of Oregon City, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Burke and family of Portland.

Fourth Birthday Party

Grandmama's Pride and Joy

This most assuredly isn't grandmother lighting a taper in the diningroom, but it is an ice box which she might have had in her home. The piece of furniture is actually a Leonard ice box of the 1880's which was made for a diningroom and was used also as a sideboard. It is on display at the American Furniture Mart, Chicago.

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

A glance at the elegant piece of furniture which is an ice box of the 1880's, may bring up memories of your own ice problem and the answer to it as worked out in your youth. Each woman's needs are tuned to her time.

Gone are the days when children might enjoy a taste of frozen wafer from the ice man's wagon. Gone are the days (or almost so) when turning the freezer was one of the duties necessary of a Sunday, when ice cream was on the menu for the afternoon.

Gone, too are the days when there was always mud to mop from the floor when the ice man had made his delivery.

Well I remember our ice box—the one which was considered a very large one, and had a door that opened out onto the back porch. Ice was delivered from outside, and food was available from the kitchen side with no mud in the kitchen.

A subtle feature was that there was no door into the food compartment which could be reached from the "back" door of the icebox. This of course was a disadvantage to young boys who would have anticipated a chance to get into the food from an advantageous position, as well as to the ice man who couldn't pick up little snack while making his delivery.

We always wondered at the frosted that many years ago were installed in the meat man's glass counters. It was our first experience with mechanical refrigeration—that and the containers which held the large ice cream tubs down at The Spa, when it was Salem's foremost ice cream shop.

Then too, we recall the ice works that for so many years was located on the millrace on Center street, now occupied by a cold storage plant, and perhaps still manufacturing ice. We wonder how many years we ate millrace water as ice, before sanitary regulations made pure water a necessity. Perhaps they always made ice from pure water, perhaps not.

But we do know that the handling of ice was an invitation to germs in the old days, for what ice man washed his hands carefully before making sales, and how sterile was the freezing equipment.

The modern refrigerator is an appointed homes. They do a great deal more for us these days than keep the food cold. We've come to depend so much on frozen foods that we must have refrigerators to keep the food in condition. Buy a refrigerator today—tomorrow it's the "former model" just like an automobile.

Then of course, the manufacturers have put the home freezer so attractive that housewives' tongues are fairly hanging out until they've added one to the household equipment.

I'm like other housewives, and saying to myself "What I couldn't do with a freezer unit" just as grandmother may have said about a refrigerator many years ago. "What I couldn't do with ice to keep the milk from turning on these here hot days," only I'm not just satisfied with keeping things cold. I want to freeze 'em quick.

The largest government arsenal is located on Rock Island, Ill., close to the city which took its name from the island.

Hostesses to Fete Visitor At Parties

Mrs. James Humphrey and Mrs. Charles Clarke are arranging two bridge luncheons this week at the former's Fairmount Hill home for the pleasure of their sister, Mrs. Myron H. Soupepe of Galesburg, Ill., who is visiting here for several weeks. Mrs. Soupepe accompanied his wife west, but returned to Illinois over the weekend. The Soupepes have many friends here as they have visited in Salem several times at the Humphrey home.

Guests have been bidden to luncheons on Thursday and Saturday afternoons with covers to be placed for twenty-four each day. Bridge will be in play following the luncheon hours and the hostesses will use summer garden flowers in decorating.

Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Clarke are planning an informal tea for Saturday, July 23 at the Humphrey home with guests invited to call after 3 o'clock to meet their sister.
