Diamond Miner Visits Home

City's Hot Weather Comfortable For British Guiana Veterans

Salem's hot weather is just right for Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Outlaw who are relaxing at their home at 1735 N. 5th st., after returning from British Guiana last Saturday. British Guiana is just below the equator in South America on the Atlantic coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Outlaw were in the jungles of British Guiana just a little over two years, going to the hot, tropical land in June, 1947, when Outlaw took charge of a gold and diamond mining project for the Diamonds and Metals Exploration Co., of Seattle.

Their camp was set up 140 air-line miles from Georgetown, the nearest settlement, and Mrs. Outlaw was the only white woman in the area during their stay. Return to Salem was necessitated by Mrs. Outlaw's health, although she thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

Outlaw directed operations of the company's dredges which are used to bring the uncut diamonds and gold out of rivers leased on concession to the mining company. Operations are on 44 miles of river including the Eping river, which is about the size of the Willamette at Corvallis, and the Mazaruni river, which is comparable to the Columbia, according to Outlaw.

Diamonds were first discovered in British Guiana in 1887, but until the Seattle corporation began its dredging operations there was no organized mining. Only individual prospectors worked the jungle rivers, Outlaw said.

Since the discovery of diamonds there, more than three million carats of diamonds have been mined. Most of the stones from the Eping area are of gem quality, while those from the Mazaruni are divided between industrial and gem quality diamonds.

All travel to Outlaw's operations is either by air or river boat, making the transportation of heavy machinery difficult.

Outlaw will return to British Guiana about the first of August, but Mrs. Outlaw will remain here.

No Shortage of Farm Labor Seen for July

No farm labor shortage is foreseen in this area, at least until early August when the bean harvest gets in full swing and the hop crop will begin.

William H. Baillie, manager of the Salem office of the state employment service, said Wednesday that bean picking is expected to reach a peak about August 5. Early hops are thought to be about 10 days earlier than last year and indications are the picking will begin about August 8.

Opening of temporary farm labor offices next Monday at Silverton, Woodburn, Stayton and Independence, to recruit bean and hop pickers was announced by Baillie.

The hop harvest is reported to be good while bean acreage has increased 25 per cent over last year's planting in Portland. Meanwhile the unemployment compensation commission reported Wednesday that payments made the past six months have increased 85 per cent over the first six months of last year.

Payments from January to July 1 of this year total $1,244,331. Totals for the first six months of past years show $672,422 in 1948, $660,140 in 1947 and $809,589 in 1946. Of this year's payments $527,300 went to veterans and $717,031 to civilians.

HONORABLE MENTION ASHLAND, Ore., July 13 (Special)—Bernie Rudd of Salem was among those winning honorable mention for a "B" average at Southern Oregon College of Education.

Swim Class Size Climbs With Heat

Swimming class attendance at Salem's two public swimming pools showed a big increase Wednesday as the mercury continued to climb.

Vernon Gilmore, Salem playgrounds director, reported 663 children were on hand for Wednesday's Red Cross classes, more than 100 over Tuesday's attendance. At Leslie pool, 256 took instruction, and at Olinger 407 were on hand.

Youth Leadership Importance Told

Importance of the leadership of boys was stressed Wednesday noon by Dr. Emory C. Ingham of Portland in a talk before the Salem Optimist club.

A volunteer leader in many boys' programs in Portland, Dr. Ingham related experiences which he said had convinced him that boys always "follow" men. Because their own fathers too often are "too busy to be followed," said the speaker, the leadership for these boys must come from active boys' work groups like the Optimist club.

"There's no accounting for the imagination of boys and for what boys will do," Dr. Ingham declared, "and consequently somebody must lead boys to keep them out of trouble."

He noted also that boys' leadership reaps a financial reward to society, citing figures to show that, as examples, the cost of "juvenile processing" in Portland courts averages $1,400 per boy and detention at Woodburn averages $4,000 per boy.

Group Slates Early Study of Tax Structure

No time will be lost by a group appointed by the state board of control here Tuesday to conduct an investigation of the state's tax structure, members of the state tax commission announced Wednesday.

Besides the three tax commissioners the group includes state Budget Director Harry Dorman, S. W. Starr, head of the state auditing division, and Fred Paulus, chief deputy in the state treasurer's office.

Taxation data from other states will be sought as soon as possible, followed by conferences with state officials and others, including several legislators.

Tax commissioners said any persons interested in streamlining Oregon's tax setup would be given an opportunity to appear before the group.

20-30 Club to Attend McMinville Meet

Salem's 20-30 club will send a delegation to a McMinville 20-30 club installation picnic Saturday. The local club also is planning to join the Portland 20-30 in a picnic at Pat's acres July 24.

The Salem club Tuesday night heard a talk on Venezuelan cattle raising by Ray G. Johnston, former animal husbandry chief at Oregon State college who has just returned from two years in Venezuela as assistant manager of farming projects sponsored by the Rockefeller foundation.

Police Cash Register Speeds Ticket Taking

A new cash register went into use at the Salem police station Wednesday. It eliminates the handwritten receipts formerly issued for payment of overtime parking tickets by dispensing a receipt faster than you can say "It couldn't have been an hour since I put that nickel in the meter."

Personnel at the police desk were confident it would eliminate waiting in line, especially during the 6 p.m. "rush hour."

Ceremonies to Launch Forest Project Slated

Plans for the ceremony launching rehabilitation of approximately 600,000 acres of forest lands in Oregon were completed Wednesday by the forestry department.

The ceremonies will be held Monday at Owl camp on the border of the Tillamook burn and will be attended by many forestry officials, both state and federal, and other persons interested in the rehabilitation program. Principal address will be given by Gov. Douglas McKay. The state board of forestry will serve as host at the ceremonial luncheon at noon.

Years of research pioneering guarantee LUCKIES ARE A FINER CIGARETTE!

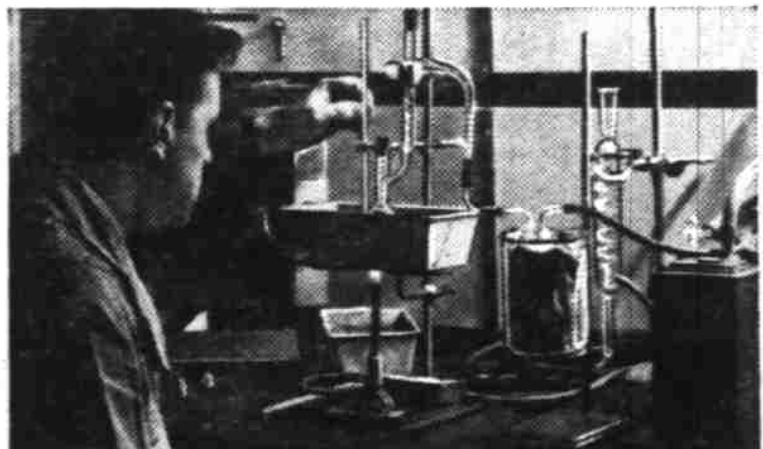

Constant research at Lucky Strike's famous cigarette laboratory—America's largest and most completely equipped—is devoted to giving you a finer cigarette!

There is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike. Here's why: Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And every step in the making of Luckies—from before this fine tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the watchful eye of the largest and most completely equipped cigarette research laboratory in America.

For many years, the famous Lucky Strike laboratory in Richmond, Virginia, has been a center of cigarette science and technology. In this remarkable building you can see a fascinating collection of scientific instruments—microscopes, spectrophotometers, balances, projectors, humidification chambers, and many other complicated and costly machines.

Working with this array of scientific equipment are more than 60 highly trained specialists—chemists, biologists, engineers, physicists. They work on tobacco, on finished cigarettes, on paper, foil, cellophane and even printing inks. For Lucky Strike scientists have for years delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale.

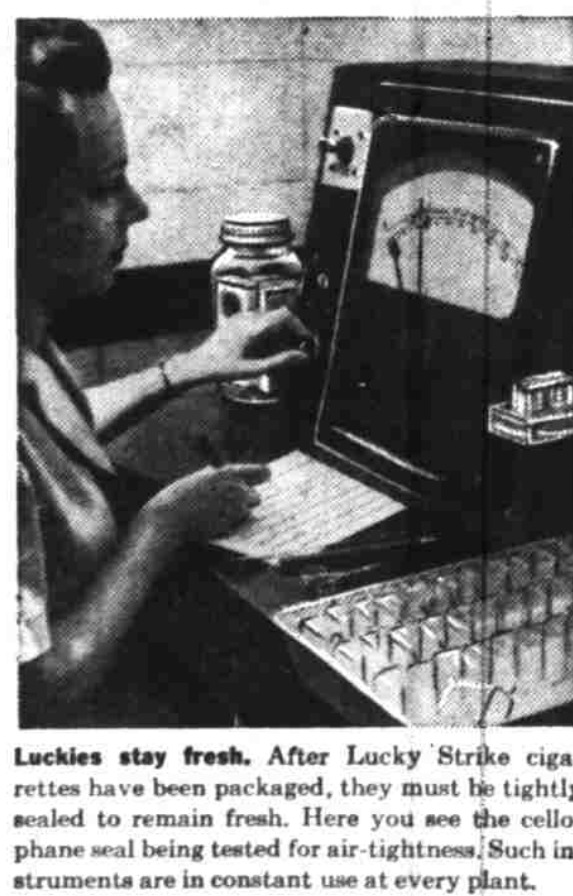

Today, because of the miracle of modern science, Lucky Strike is a finer cigarette.

Research leads the way. Only constant, painstaking, exhaustive research—as conducted on a large scale through the years by The American Tobacco Company—could produce the scientific knowledge that results in the quality of Luckies.

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine, light and mild. No wonder Luckies are a finer cigarette.

We know: LUCKIES PAY MORE for fine tobacco (millions of dollars more than official parity prices)

We are convinced: LUCKIES PAY MORE for cigarette research

Prove to yourself Luckies are finer—Get a carton today!
