Concrete Work Slowed by Wage Dispute of Teamsters, Gravel

Work on construction projects in Salem was reported advancing slowly but under handicap Tuesday as the wage dispute between teamsters and sand and gravel companies entered its fourth week—with no settlement in sight.

Three weeks ago yesterday the Teamsters union, Salem local 324, posted pickets at the River Bend Sand and Gravel plant following a breakdown in wage negotiations.

Ward Graham, secretary-treasurer of the union, said his men were locked out immediately at the Willing, Commercial and Salem plants.

Regarding the dispute's effect on construction, City Engineer J. H. Davis said Tuesday he has been forced to increase the size of crews laying curbs and sewer pipes but that projects were proceeding "with inconvenience."

It was necessary to increase crews because men are forced to mix cement in the field, Davis said. If the wage dispute continues until the city begins several pavement-laying projects in the near future, Davis said he would encounter more difficulty.

Claude H. Post of Viecko and Post reported "lots of work tied up" Tuesday. His workers are mixing their own cement but the process is slow because only Keizer Sand and Gravel company, which signed a union contract June 29, is supplying materials.

The Capitola and Four Corners school projects were reported considerably slowed Tuesday by Contractor Henry Carl. Carl brought a concrete mixer to Salem Monday and now is mixing his own cement, but he reports only a limited gravel supply from the Keizer plant.

Construction on the First Christian church was reported advancing under handicap by E. E. Bat-terman, who also is mixing his own cement.

The Warren Northwest company, under contract to pave city streets, has not been bothered by the current wage dispute, Superintendent Vincent Colvin reported. The company has its own crushing plants in Albany and currently is working with asphalt concrete which does not require materials tied up by the dispute.

The sand and gravel wage dispute has idled about 40 members of the Salem Teamsters union at the four Salem plants. The union seeks a wage increase of 12 1/2 cents per hour beginning July 1 and a 10 cent increase retroactive to January 1. Employers have offered a 10 cents per hour increase beginning July 1.

Graham said Tuesday he has

Gardner Rites At Portland

Chemeketas Move Outing To Cascades

Scott lake, bordered on one side by the Three Sisters mountains, was selected Tuesday as new site for the annual two-week outing of Salem's Chemeketas.

Harold Melchert, in charge of the outing, said original plans to visit Sequoia national park in California were cancelled recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Melchert, Dr. C. A. Downs, Mrs. E. L. Crawford and Hugh Striker of the Chemeketas scouted the Scott lake area during the past week and reported to club members before the selection was announced.

More than 20 Chemeketas already have signed for the trip. Melchert said. The group will leave Salem July 30 and travel by private car and trailers to the campsite.

Exploration of many lakes and minor peaks in the area is planned, plus a major climb of either the North or Middle Sister mountains.

Temperance Board For Rehabilitation Named by McKay

Gov. Douglas McKay Tuesday appointed members of the temperance and rehabilitation division, which was created by the 1949 legislature.

Members are Mrs. W. V. Gabriel, the Rev. Walter Knutson and Dr. John Montague, all of Portland; Fred C. Inkster, Oswego; and Dr. Franklin R. Zeran, Corvallis, associate dean of education at Oregon State college.

The division will promote temperance education, and will have charge of the liquor control commission's clinic to cure alcoholics.

Salem Entry in Miss Oregon Contest to Leave Thursday

Connie Cross, who was named June 13 as Salem's representative in the 1949 Miss Oregon contest, will leave Thursday for the week-end competition in Seaside.

In Seaside the 21-year-old brunette will compete for a $1,000 scholarship and a chance to enter the Miss America contest in Atlantic City, N. J., September 5 as Oregon's official representative.

She will be chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. Olin Cross, 2370 Fairgrounds rd., on the trip to Seaside.

The competition will begin Friday with rehearsal for all contestants. Preliminary judging will be Saturday with the final selection at 2 p.m. Sunday after the grand parade.

Judging is based on personality, talent, appearance in an evening gown and in a bathing suit, with 25 points a perfect score in each division.

Miss Cross, an employe of Miller's Mercantile company, has been provided by the store with fash-

The answers to everyday insurance problems ★
By Sid Boise

QUESTION: We plan to build an addition to our home. Is it necessary to notify our insurance company of the changes we intend?

ANSWER: Since the new addition will undoubtedly add to the value of your home, it would be folly not to make sure that the increased value is properly insured. Also, a well-informed insurance agent can advise you in your choice of materials and plans insofar as they affect the fire and structural hazards. Many times very slight changes in materials can save you many dollars by reducing your insurance premiums over a period years.

★ If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
