Portland-Salem Police Plan Radio Hookup

Direct radio contact between Salem and Portland police departments will start about September 1. It will be the first link in a possible law-enforcement radio network among Oregon cities.

Equipment for Salem has been ordered from $1,000 in funds authorized by the city budget, Police Chief Clyde W. Warren said Friday night.

The new communication system, known as point-to-point broadcasting, will connect only the two city departments. But other Willamette valley cities are expected to join the network within two years, said Temple Eimsen, chief of Portland's bureau of communications. Eugene is now seeking funds, he added.

At present Salem and Portland city police must contact each other by other means of communication. The new point-to-point system will be used principally to report stolen cars, warrants for arrest, and other charges involving non-residents.

Warren cited Friday's incident of bandits who robbed two highway motorists between Salem and Eugene as a case where such a system might have aided in bringing about their apprehension.

Grange Raps Subsidy Bills Both of Farm

PORTLAND, July 22-(AP)—The national grangemaster said today that the grange doesn't like either the Brannan or the Aiken Farm program.

Albert S. Goss, here from Washington, D. C., visit a brother, said the grange would like a flexible plan with a two-price system.

He suggested a bi-partisan board, which would apply different measures — loans, allocations, subsidies — to different commodities, of which can not be handled alike.

Goss said a two-price system would assure farmers fair prices for domestically-used products, and apportion among them losses on surpluses.

As an example, he cited milk control, where producers are guaranteed a minimum price on drinking milk, but share losses on the surplus milk used in manufacture.

He opposed direct subsidies — except in a few instances — as "part of the program for a welfare state."

"52-20" BILL PASSED
WASHINGTON, July 22-(AP)—The senate labor committee moved today to keep the "52-20" jobless veterans law on the books. With the law expiring Monday, the committee unanimously approved a year's extension urged by President Truman, but modified some of the existing rights.

BEAUTY CONTEST OPENS
SEASIDE, July 22-(AP)—The annual "Miss Oregon" contest opened here tonight, with 15 girls from as many Oregon towns competing. The winner will be selected Sunday afternoon.

British Told Conservative Party Policy

LONDON, Saturday, July 23-(AP)—Winston Churchill's conservative party told Britons today it would retain most of the major socialist laws already enacted, but halt further nationalization of industry — if voted back into power in 1950.

The party unveiled its campaign platform for the parliamentary election next year in a 20,000-word statement of policy entitled "The Right Road for Britain." A foreword by Churchill said the outcome would be the most momentous decision in Britain's history.

The wartime prime minister is to elaborate on the policy in a speech this afternoon at Wolverhampton, a labor stronghold.

Seeking to oust the labor government that has ruled Britain since 1945, the conservatives pledged to:

Overhaul but continue state operation of all but one of the industries nationalized by the laborites.

Restore parts of the nationalized road transport industry to private or municipal ownership.

Halt the rest of the labor party's nationalization program.

Keep the tax-supported national health scheme, but make it more efficient and less costly.

Resist the expansion of communism.

Give priority treatment to British Commonwealth nations in trade, investment and immigration though, in relations between Britain and the United States "it will be conservative policy to encourage ever-increasing cooperation and intimacy between our two countries, whether it be economic or cultural affairs."

ECA Fund Use Starts Debate

WASHINGTON, July 22-(AP)—The senate broke out in a wrangle today over a proposal to force the economic cooperation administration to earmark an estimated $1,500,000 of its funds from American surplus farm products.

Senator Robertson (D-Va.), opening debate on a bill to pay for the second year of the European recovery program, said the proposal would have "most serious consequences."

It was set forth in an amendment by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) and voted into the bill by the senate appropriations committee. It provides that ECA must buy farm surpluses of the kind and amount listed in ECA's estimates three months ago of what the recovery program would need. The money could be spent for nothing else.

Robertson contended that the surplus estimates were only tentative and that the amendment would force the purchase of cotton and other farm products whether or not they now are needed by the European nations.

Other senate officers elected Friday night were: Senior vice-commander, Verne Ostrander; junior vice-commander Bernard F. Kenny; finance officer and adjutant, Arthur G. Ring; chaplain, Kenneth Ballweber; historian, Wilfred Miller; judge advocate, Lyle Blackman; and sergeant-at-arms, Arthur Arnold.

Pvt. Rodger Young Given Final Rite
CLYDE O., July 22-(AP)—Private Rodger Young, hero of every foot-slogging soldier of World War II, was laid to final rest here today. The shy Ohioan won the congressional medal of honor in the steaming jungle of New Georgia in the Solomons. He was buried with full military rites in a grave on the edge of circular McPherson cemetery.

Englewood School Enlarges

Englewood school in the northeast section of Salem is being completely remodeled and enlarged with a 54 by 65 foot addition. The addition of concrete brick veneer construction will be fireproof and is at right foreground above. Other work includes tearing down old roof overhang, building brick firewall around top, remodeling interior of old section, installation of complete new oil-fired heating system and lavatories. The work being done by Viesko and Post, general contractors, will make 20 classrooms available and will cost $178,000. (Statesman photo.)

Salem Order of Purple Heart Club Organized

William Exline was elected commander of Salem chapter 305, Military order of the Purple Heart, at an organizational meeting here Friday night.

Re-established by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1932, the first order of the Purple Heart was commissioned by George Washington in 1782.

Current aim of the new Salem chapter is to bring in all of the estimated 200 Marion county veterans who were awarded the Purple Heart medal for wounds received in action. It was the first medal authorized for enlisted men.

Gov. Douglas McKay, currently a member of the order at Portland, plans to transfer his membership here, it was announced Friday.

Two Portland men commissioned the Salem chapter. They are Ray Davis, past national commander, and Lester Hawkins, state commander. The local chapter already is receiving consideration for the 1950 state convention, it was reported.

Other Salem officers elected Friday night were: Senior vice-commander, Verne Ostrander; junior vice-commander Bernard F. Kenny; finance officer and adjutant, Arthur G. Ring; chaplain, Kenneth Ballweber; historian, Wilfred Miller; judge advocate, Lyle Blackman; and sergeant-at-arms, Arthur Arnold.

Twelve Infants Die In Dysentery Seige

MATTAWA, Ont., July 22-(AP)—An epidemic of dysentery has killed 12 infants, sent six to hospitals and stricken 40 to 50 others in their homes, public and private medical authorities reported today.

Dr. J. A. Bergson, Mattawa's medical health officer, said the outbreak has developed steadily since mid-June. He urged parents to boil all water before use and keep food for infants away from flies.

Ten Millions Estimated in Russ Bondage

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 22-(AP)—The British government expressed belief today that 10,000,000 persons, a tenth of Russia's working population, are in Soviet forced labor camps, and said it had documentary proof that forced labor is the approved legal policy of the Soviet Union.

The British delegate to the United Nations economic and social council made public a set of documents which he described as Soviet laws and regulations covering the forced labor policy. In an accompanying statement he said the persons exiled to camps, often in remote, desolate areas of Russia, are believed by the British to represent "upward of 10 per cent of the working population of the Soviet Union."

Suspect Red Eludes Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22-(AP)—Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz, accused of communist activities by the house un-American activities committee, sat atop a 110 foot water tower in 100-degree temperatures today to avoid talking with newsmen.

The un-American activities committee has charged Lomanitz, now 28, was the principal communist party organizer among a group of young scientists working on part of the atom bomb project at Berkeley, Calif., in the early 1940s.

Lomanitz now is working as a $1.20 an hour laborer at the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company's Mustang power plant being built northwest of here. When fellow workers told him this afternoon that a reporter and a photographer wanted to talk with him, Lomanitz scaled the steel girders of the water tank and remained perched atop it until they left 1½ hours later.

Home Repair Costs High in County Towns

Repairs to homes in Salem and other Marion county cities will total $1,884,000 during 1949, according to an estimate released Friday by the Tile Company of America.

And J. Harold Davis, Salem's city engineer, thought the figure was "about right." Big as it sounds, though, he said that building permit totals here are running well behind last year, and pulled out a sheaf of statistics to prove it.

Dwelling unit permits for the first six months of this year totaled but 132, compared with 244 for the same period last year. In these figures a duplex is considered two units, and each apartment in a multiple dwelling adds to the total.

Big construction followed the same trend, Davis noted, with 15 permits of $25,000 or more issued during the first half of last year, and 13 up to June 30 this year.

Davis thought there was less speculative building here this year, while many people, he said, seem to be waiting, uncertain just what to do.

The tile council survey indicated 30 per cent of the money spent on home repairs here would be for heating equipment, with painting and redecorating accounting for 24 per cent and roofing about 18 per cent. A check on these figures is not possible at the engineer's office since totals are not broken down in this manner.

Plumbing and tiling of bathrooms will amount for $7 of every $100 spent for repairs and replacements, the survey continued, with carpenters getting $5. Home repairs throughout the United States are expected to total $2,500,000 to $3,100,000.

Gorilla Killed in Fight with Panther

SPOKANE, July 22-(AP)—A black panther and a 300-pound gorilla locked on a bloody two-hour fight tonight after the cat slipped under the gate of an adjoining cage at a traveling wild animal show.

The gorilla was finally shot and killed after attendants made vain attempts to get the animals apart. They fought in a heavy 6x8 foot cage at nearby Liberty lake.
