Hundreds of anglers hit for the stream the following weekend, and the same number called us the following Monday to tell us what a louse we were. BOB HEDINGTON every one still possessing the tell-tale sea lice. But alas, we're a louse again. It seems some 400 boats, most of them Salem owned, were on the river over the weekend, but only one single blueback was caught, a resounding inning in which and he an old moth-eaten thing that looked as if he had been lost in the river since the season before . . . That nasty booing Third-baseman Hedington got from the fans Sunday night after his error had helped four Bremerton runs across in the nightcap was ill-directed. It was the first time we know of that a Salem player has been criticized so raucously, and believe us Hedington doesn't deserve it. Ever since the farce of Thursday night, July 21, when the three infielders were fined, Hedington (not one of the three) has been the victim of most of night, worse luck, and consequently was convicted by the fans of being as lackadaisical as were those who actually were the guilty ones. Cardinals, Dodgers Grab Wins Twinks Even Bevo

NEW YORK, July 27-(P)-The rampaging St. Louis Cardinals held their game and a half lead in the National league tonight with their seventh straight victory, 7-3, over the Philadelphia Phils at St. Louis. Brooklyn 'inally pulled out of its longest losing streak of the season, after dropping four straight, to wallop the last-place Chicago Cubs,

Five walks and a three-run double by Stan Musial helped account for six runs in the first two innings for the Cards. For Brooklyn Don Newcombe whiff-ed 10 Cubs but needed relief help from Erv Palica when he wobbled in the ninth. Palica-saved Newcombe's eighth victory after the big negro righthander gave up a homer to Herm Reich. The New York Giants saved fifth place by defeating Pittsburgh, 8-3, on the brilliant relief pitching of Kirby Higbe, an ex-Pirate. The Boston Braves came from behind to score three in the ninth and finally topped Cincinnati in 13 innings, 9-7, on Mary Rickert's two-run homer off Bud Lively. Bob Elliott accounted for four earlier runs with a pair of homers.

The big American league action at the Yankee stadium was washed out with Cleveland and New York locked in a 4-4 tie at the end of four innings. As a result of the postponement, following a 1 hour, 57-minute wait, the Yanks' first place margin over the Indians remained at three games. Bobby Feller was routed in the first inning when the Yanks scored all four runs. Tommy Henrich, playing despite a fractured toe, hit a homer with two out. Lefty Mel Parnell shut out Chicago with three hits, 6-0, winning his 14th game for the Boston Red Sox. It was his fourth straight victory and his losing streak with a 7-6 victory over Detroit in the first game of a twilight-night twin bill, but dropped the second game, 11-0. Freddie Hutchinson allowed only four hits in pitching the shutout

Philadelphia's Athletics won a twilight-night doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns at Shibe park, 7-3 and 8-6. In the nightcap the A's overcame a five run first inning by the Browns and won the game with a pair of runs in the eighth. Lou Brissie and Carl Scheib were the Stout pitching by Jim Rock, a lapse in the enemy defense and clutch hitting produced three big Waters field to send the Salem Capital Posters one stride nearer a State Legion tournament berth at Albany. The C-P's combined the ingredients for a 5-3 victory over a big Hillsboro gang in the Windsor and Bill Hanauska . . . Salem picked up two runs in the second on a pair of walks, two stolen bases, a bad throw into left field by Catcher Malcolm ed from the Tigard team, dished out the two walks. A basketball scoring whiz in the winter, Lewis was Rock's opponent and cut down the Salems with three hits all told.

in the three-run Salem fifth, however, and coupled with two more walks and a hit batsman by the erratic southpaw, they by the erratic southpaw, they brought ruin to Coach Jim Anderson's visitors.

In the sixth Bill Johnson batted for Jack Largent with one out Jim Stewart and Ward Jacobsen. Up came Gordy Sloan, one of the C-P's top hitters and he lined a single to center, scoring Johnson and Stewart. Jacobsen then romped in when Gene Jones flew out to center field.

A walk by Rock in the seventh, an error with two out and Ron McKichan's bloop single got a run across for Hillsboro, but then Jim forced Nierman to ground out to end the game with two runners stranded.

Other than for the two bobbles, Rock's support was sharp. Particularly that given him by Second-sacker Ward Jacobsen on a handful of hard-hit ground balls.

SAR Uses $6500 Bait for Locke

SPOKANE, July 27-(AP)-The Spokane Athletic Round Table got a nibble from Bobby Locke today on its $6500 bait for a three-man 'world championship" golf match here next month.

The club of Spokane sports enthusiasts offered to put on a tournament that would match Locke, Sammy Snead and Carey Middlecoff-golf's top 1949 title holders. The Round Table hasn't heard from either Snead or Middlecoff.

Locke, recently banned from all tournaments sponsored in the United States by the Profesional Golfers' association, replied to his invitation from Belfast, Ireland, where he is playing. He didn't say he would or would not compete. He just wanted

ATHLETIC PARK, Victoria. July 27 -(Special)- The Victoria Athletics routed the Salem Senators 14 to 1 tonight to take the odd game of their WIL series. Lefty Jim Propst, classed as the ace southpaw of the circuit, handcuffed the Salems with five hits. The Athletics, in dumping the Senators back into seventh place in the standings, lambasted 22 hits off three pitchers, Bob Drilling, Bill Osborn and Bob Hedington, in that order. Hedington is the regular third baseman. Every player in the Athletics lineup got at least one hit, and was mad because he didn't make it three or four in the picnic. The sinking Senators helped matters along by making six errors. Salem came close to having three runs at that. In the third with one run and Bob Cherry on base, Mel Wasley hit a drive against the screen in center field. It was at first believed a home run, but when the ball was found stuck in the screen, Wasley was held to a double. Both he and Cherry were left stranded on base. Marty Krug drove in the only Salem run. Salem now swings into Vancouver for the balance of the week. And the way the Caps cleaned up on the leading Yakima Bears ator followers shuddering.
