HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PACKING ALL the features of a larger home into small dimensions, this economy house covers only 768 square feet. It can be built with or without a basement, the utility room providing adequate space for cellar stairs. If a fireplace can be afforded, it can be included as suggested on the plan. A detail sketch of the entrance is shown in the inset. This is Design No. 4R-44 by Elmer Gylleck, architect, 1207 1/2 So. Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. He estimates that on the basis of 9,200 cubic feet of construction, this house may be built for about $8,000 in many localities. He suggests an exterior of wood siding painted white with green shutters and a roof of colored asphalt or plain wood shingles.
