Arrive from Nation's Capital

By Jervine English
Statesman Society Editor
The many Salem friends of Mrs. Charles L. McNary and daughter, Charlotte, will be interested to learn that they have arrived in Oregon and will spend the remainder of the summer at their country place, "Fircone."

Valentines Together 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Valentine, 2645 South Summer street, are celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary this weekend. They were married in Baker on July 29, 1899.

Miss Kirkwood Is Married

AMITY — Tall baskets of white gladioluses, dahlias, lilies and asters with a white arch formed the altar for the marriage of Miss Aldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Aldridge, Sunday afternoon in the Christian church, with Reverend William F. Morse, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride entering on the arm of her father, wore a white nylon marquisette, over white satin, made with yoke and round neckline, fitted bodice with full skirt, which extended into a full length train. A pearl beaded and net halo held her fingered veil and she carried a white Bible, centered with gardenias and white carnations from which satin ribbons and sweet peas cascaded. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone bracelet, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Roy Kirkwood chose for her daughters wedding a silver grey crepe gown and Mrs. Sterling Aldridge, mother of the groom, chose a rose crepe dress. Their gossamer were in wine shades of gladioluses and baby dahlias.

Mrs. Pauline A. Fugate and daughter, Ruth Pauline, have returned from a week's trip to Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

Mrs. James A. Garson, the former Kathryn B. Raley, who was married on July 24 at the Rose City Methodist church in Portland. The bride is the daughter of the James L. Raleys of Walla Walla and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Garson of Salem. The couple will live in Portland where Dr. Garson is practicing dentistry. (Logan-Markham).

On Etiquette
By Roberta Lee
Q. Isn't it rude for two persons who speak a foreign language to carry on a conversation in a group, when the others do not understand?
A. Yes; this is the height of rudeness.
Q. Is it proper for the hostess to lead the way to the table when at a luncheon?
A. Yes.
Q. What is the proper way to pronounce "valet"?
A. The preferred pronunciation is val-et, as in at, e as in let, accent on first syllable.

Bed Making Made Better

Bedmaking has been reported such a tedious, time-consuming daily task by so many homemakers over the years that Marianne Muso of the Vermont experiment station made a special study of it among a group of homemakers in her state to learn how it might be made easier and more efficient.

She began by interviewing 183 experienced homemakers. More than three-fourths of them suggested saving time either by omitting some of the conventional but less essential parts of the job — such as putting on counterpanes every day, or by not making the beds every day. Some merely pulled up the covers instead of carefully smoothing and tucking in sheets and covers.

Seven of the women interviewed, however, has discovered that they could save time and still do a good job by making up one side of the bed completely and then making the other side. Several also suggested using one warm blanket instead of two lighter blankets to save handling, steps, and effort. Four women believed that bedmaking should be a two-person job.

When Miss Muso ran a series of careful tests, she found that for skillful workers the once-around-the-bed method could save considerable time and also do a good job. But some women disliked it because they found difficulty in tucking in the lower sheet smoothly and securely with all the covers on the bed at one time. They preferred to put on the lower sheet first and carefully tuck the corners before adding the rest of the covers.

Miss Muso believes there is no one best way for every woman to make beds. Much depends on the type of bed, the kind and amount of bedding, the skill and speed of the worker. But many women can do a more efficient job by studying it and trying out different methods.

Miss Barbara Nelson of Portland and Ronald Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hartley of Silverton, were wed Friday night at the First Congregational church with Dr. S. R. Huntington officiating at the 8:30 o'clock ceremony. Baskets of white and yellow centered gladioluses tied with blue ribbon formed the decoration at altar and the pews were marked with white gladioluses and the aisles closed with blue satin streamers. Tall white tapers cast a soft glow in the gothic sanctuary.

Dr. Luther T. Nelson, uncle of the bride, escorted his niece to the altar. Her gown was of white marquisette with insets of Chantilly lace and her fingertip veil was held with a headdress of illusion and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses.

Miss Janet Morgan of Portland was maid of honor. Her gown was of yellow marquisette, with a hat of matching material with which she carried Caricia roses with blue net. Bridesmaids were Miss Vera Jack of Portland and Miss Sara Warner of Renton, Wash. Their gowns were similar to the maid of honor in blue marquisette and their bouquets were Caricia roses with yellow net.

Tom Hartley was best man for his brother and ushers were Charles Patterson, Trygve Hanson, Robert Muhr, and Duane Bartsch.

At the Alpha Chi Omega house, the bridal party later received their guests. Miss Gwen Harper poured and Mrs. Luther T. Nelson, the bride's aunt, cut the cake. Assisting were Misses Gloria Nandie, Betty Lancaster, Mary Lynne Scott, Jackie Chute, Fern Ingram, Mrs. Donald Cole, Misses Ellen Reynolds, Dolores Spellbrink, Jackie Johnson and Margaret Powell.

After a trip to Mount Hood, the couple will make their home in Salem. The new Mrs. Hartley chose for her wedding trip a navy faille suit, with white and navy accessories and her corsage was of white orchids.

Miss Brunkel to Head Daughters
