On each place sliced turkey and ham with salads and relishes and centering each table several decorated planked Chinook salmon. . . . The speaker's table raised on a platform and colorful bouquets of gladioluses and carnations . . . the other tables marked with gladiolus blossoms at each place . . . and for the early feminine arrivals beginning . . . the place-cards were an all Oregon folder with a colored picture of the state capitol building on the cover. . . . The committee tried to obtain all china plates and cups and saucers, but as one knows there aren't that many in Salem . . . even though they used paper plates they did manage to get 800 cups and saucers, which means another banquet for the committee.

Miss Hathaway Is a Bride

At a church wedding Saturday July 30 at 2 o'clock, Miss Delores Hathaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hathaway of Champees, became the bride of William W. Tremaine son of Mrs. Estella Tremaine and the late V. W. Tremaine of Woodburn, at an impressive double ring ceremony in the St. Luke Church in Woodburn with Rev. France Hanley officiating.

Mrs. Marie Donnelly played the organ music and Bernard Smith sang.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white satin gown with train, a sweetheart neckline with beaded pearls and a finger tip veil trimmed with lace which was arranged from a pearl beaded coronet. She carried a bouquet centered with a purple and white orchid, white gladiolus, rosebuds and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Miss Betty Johnson who wore a pastel yellow taffets gown with a matching net picture hat with yellow ribbon trim. The best man was William Chase.

Bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Tremaine, sister of the groom, and Miss Wanda Hathaway, cousin of the bride, wore pink and green pastel taffets gowns.

Miss Bonnie Hathaway, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore a pastel blue taffeta gown. All wore matching net picture hats and carried nosegays of gladioluses centered with summer chrysanthemums. Alex Adam-skie, Ray Leighty and Carl Weathers were the ushers.

Phil Junior Hathaway, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. Mrs. Hathaway wore for her daughters wedding copper satin dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias with tailmen rosebuds. Mrs. Tremaine wore a blue satin two piece dress with black accessories and her corsage was gardenias and rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the St. Lukes hall.

Serving the bride's cake were Miss Norma Moshberger and Mrs. E. A. Dickson. At the punch bowl were Mrs. Wilfred Weathers and Miss Lorraine Hainsuke. Fouring were Mrs. Homer Harrison and Miss Rita Halter. Assisting were Mrs. Elmer Rierson, Mrs. George Lathrop, Mrs. Fritz Moshenberger, Mrs. L. D. Johnson, Miss Yvonne Williams, Mrs. Clayton Baker and Mrs. Al Berg.

The bride wore for traveling a grey tailored suit with navy hat and purse and white shoes and gloves.

The couple left for a short honeymoon at Seaside and parts of Washington. They are now at home at 4737 N. E. Going, Portland. The bride and groom are both graduates of Woodburn high school and the bride is employed by the state in the Veterans Affairs in Portland, and Mrs. Tremaine having an honorable discharge from the U. S. Coast Guard is attending Stenotype School in Portland.

Delegates Have Long Busy Day

By Maxine Bures
Statesman Woman's Editor

If delegates and officers to the American Legion auxiliary convention look a bit on the haggard side this morning, it's because they led a complete and varied day yesterday, the opening one of the state convention, beginning with a morning session and ending with a really early breakfast at 1 a.m.

The afternoon session was one of formalities, with martial music, marching of the color guard, and introduction of Mrs. Laura Poling Goode, national president of the auxiliary and other distinguished guests in the senate chambers.

After the stormy morning session at the Elsinore theater, a few hours of formality were not doubt welcomed.

Probably the largest crowd ever to gather for a meal in Salem, attended the formal banquet in the Armory last night. John C. Kerrick, chairman of the convention commission was toastmaster and Mrs. Goode was honor guest.

A short musical program, and presentation of the special guests concluded formalities of the banquet.

To add to the variety of scene for the opening day, women in long skirts over to Sweetland field for a grandstand or bleacher seat to view the drum corps contest. They returned to the armory for the grand ball.

Concluding the long day for auxiliary officers was the 1 a.m. breakfast "The Malamute Saloon" for secretaries and treasurers at the Chamber of commerce. With Dangerous Dan and his erstwhile sweetheart Lou furnishing much of the merriment, and guests dining on a definitely rugged menu of creaked jerky, fruit squeezin's and "java."

Today's big social event is the tea given from 4 to 6 in the Homer Smith gardens in honor of the Gold Star mothers.

Business sessions will occupy the remainder of the day.

Christening At St. Paul's

Scott Angus McLeod, six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton J. McLeod, will be christened at services on Sunday afternoon at one o'clock in the chapel of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The Rev. George H. Swift will officiate before members of the immediate family.

Godparents for the little boy will be Mrs. Eugene Reed (Patricia Otten) of Eugene and Russell Renner. His grandmothers are Mrs. Frank H. Spears and Mrs. Lester C. McLeod, and Mrs. Russell Catlin is the great grandmother. Also here for the occasion will be his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George McLeod of Berkeley, Calif.

After the service a small reception will be held at the McLeod home on North 13th street.
