

Hillsboro Unit, LaGrande Drum Corps Win Final Legion Parade

By Conrad G. Prange
Staff Writer, The Statesman

While thousands lined the route the American Legion convention grand parade, one of the largest seen in Salem in recent years, filed through downtown streets Friday night. (Pictures on page one).

LaGrande's drum and bugle corps, crowned state champions Thursday, won new honors in the Friday parade as best musical unit, followed by Astoria, second, and Ashland. Marching winner was the Hillsboro auxiliary drill team, followed by Coquille's unit, second, and the Yamhill majorettes.

Election of Officers
Today the state conventioners wind up Legion affairs with election of officers and final business. Sam Bove of Grants Pass is favored for state commander.

Following the grand parade last night a lavish entertainment show drew several thousands to the state fairgrounds.

In the parade one feature which attracted all eyes along the downtown parade route was the U. S. army's showing of musicians, troops, vehicles, and weapons of the 2nd infantry band and over 300 troops of the 4th infantry regimental combat team.

Weapon Carriers
The troops including weapon carriers, mounted jeeps and larger guns, were under the command of Capt. James E. Marks. The 75-piece band was conducted by WO (jg) Earl C. Anderson. The band also included a bagpipe unit, the only one of its kind in the army. The 45-minute line of march was headed by Grand Marshall Brig.

Milk Bottle Cap Regulation to Take Effect on Sept. 1

The pouring lip of all milk bottles will have to be covered with caps after September 1. The state department of agriculture pointed out Friday the regulation was adopted last September 1 but distributors were given one year to make the change. Trucks hauling milk for bottling must also be completely closed after the first of next month.

New Judgeship Reveals Rift in Demo Ranks

PORTLAND, Aug. 5-(P)—Appointment of Circuit Judge Earl C. Latourette of Oregon City as the state's third federal judge was supported today by Walter J. Pearson, democratic state treasurer. At the same time he said that support of Gus J. Solomon, Portland attorney, for the post by democratic national committeeman Monroe Sweetland threatens to split the democratic party. Pearson added that he tried to get Sweetland to withdraw Solomon's name.

Taft May Face GOP Opponent

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5-(P)—Murray D. Lincoln, a farm leader with labor support, said today he might oppose U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft in the republican primary next year. The announcement startled Ohio republican leaders. They had figured Taft would win renomination with little trouble before taking on an as-yet-unnamed democratic opponent in a bitter fight. Organized labor has marked the republican congressional quarter-back as its No. 1 target in 1950. Lincoln, 57-year-old president of the farm bureau insurance firm, previously has been mentioned as a potential candidate for the democratic nomination for U. S. senator. It would be his first bid for political office.

Dewey Rejects Senate Race

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 5-(P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey turned a deaf ear today to a demand that he "make good" for the republican party in New York state by running for the U. S. senate. Dewey was silent on a sharply-worded letter from Rep. W. Kingsland Macy (R-NY), but authoritative sources said flatly that Dewey simply would not run for the senate next fall. The same well-placed sources indicated that John Foster Dulles, now sitting in the senate by interim appointment from Dewey, was being considered seriously as a possible nominee for election November 8.

Socialism Debate Blocks Final Vote On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5-(P)—The big foreign recovery bill was delayed again today — this time by a senate fight over an amendment designed to halt socialism in Britain. Leaders had thought the $5,647,724,000 measure, which includes funds to carry on the Marshall plan of European recovery, was on the point of passage. But just as a final vote appeared imminent Senator Kem (R-Mo.) introduced an amendment to deny aid to any nation which nationalizes in the future any of its basic industries. Debate on this was in progress when the senate quit until Monday.

Rent Decontrol Proposal Draws Lebanon Fire; Hearing Tuesday

LEBANON — Opposition to decontrol of rent in Lebanon was fast gaining momentum this week with next Tuesday's discussion at the city hall expected to attract a record number of persons for a town meeting in this city. Definitely favoring the move were landlords, while opposing the measure are both union groups, IWA-CIO and the Plywood and Veneer workers local of the AFL. Real estate dealers went on record as being neutral. Also against it are representatives from the Lebanon veterans organizations.

Groups opposing the decontrol of rents maintain that at the present time there is definitely not a surplus of rental units, and therefore, rent controls should be maintained in Lebanon, it was stated by the AFL headquarters. Real estate dealers acting as representatives of landlords, petitioned the council several weeks ago to remove rents and the council approved unanimously at that time. Final action by the governor, however, was withheld until a public meeting had been called and views of citizens heard and sent back to the state official. The meeting Tuesday will be held at 8 o'clock in the upstairs auditorium. Mayor Peter Tweed will act as monitor for the discussion and will allow all parties ample opportunity to voice their views.

Approval Given To West Salem Bus Rate Rise

A proposed increase in West Salem bus fares was given final approval Friday by Public Utilities Commissioner George Flagg. The increase ranges from 16 to 25 per cent. Increases authorized are from 8 to 10 cents for single fares and from 30 to 35 cents for purchases of four tokens. Children's fare remains at 5 cents. The authorization follows a state PUC public hearing and approval by the West Salem city council. No opposition was expressed before either body. The increase will take effect as soon as Proprietor Robert Covert of the bus company completes formal filing procedure with the PUC, probably early next week.

Plan Revived For Champog Memorial Road

Plans to establish a Champog Memorial highway, first discussed about 13 years ago, were revived Friday by the Marion county court but no immediate action is contemplated. The court, on studying an old survey of the proposed route, found the county in 1936 paid $31,000 for a right of way for the highway. The road, to be a hard surfaced highway, would extend from Champog park to Buteville where it would join a present county road to the Wilsonville cut-off of the state highway department.

Hop Harvest Starts in Valley

The hop harvest is under way in the Willamette valley with picking of early fuggles in the St. Paul-Aurora district. The labor supply is adequate until the harvest of clusters begins about September 1, Paul Rowell, manager of the U. S. hop growers association, reported. Early reports indicate a light yield of fuggles, he said. But the entire crop is expected to be better than last year's low average. Acreage, however, is down this year.

China General Joins Comms

CANTON, China, Aug. 5-(P)—Nationalist China's deputy commander on the all-important front north of Canton changed over to the communists and handed them the fortress of Changsha last night. This defection, with part of his army, is expected greatly to accelerate the red advance on this provisional capital. The communist are now only 215 miles from Canton at one point, and the turncoat general, Chen Ming-jen, knows the troop dispositions and plans of the defense.

Woman Parade Watcher Collapses

The Salem first aid car was called to the scene of the American Legion grand parade just before it started at 7 p.m. Friday when Mary Yakesh, 42, 103 Marion st., collapsed in the 200 block of North Commercial street. She was taken to Salem Memorial hospital where attendants later reported her "much improved" following a heart attack.

UAL Fights to Retain South Oregon Base

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5-(P)—United Airlines today challenged the power of the government to grant a request to a competitor that would wipe out UAL feeder lines to five California cities and Klamath Falls, Ore. The California cities involved are Eureka, Red Bluff, Monterey, Santa Barbara and Salinas. Southwest airways, whose permits to serve four of these cities expires, asks a five year renewal, the addition of the other two and an order suspending UAL com-

W. A. Patterson, president of United, told a civil aeronautics board hearing that granting Southwest airways extended permits was CAB business. But, he declared, the board had no right to cancel out UAL. He said that any arrangement should be worked out by the airlines themselves.
