Cadet Invites Millions to June Wedding

NEW YORK, Aug. 21-(AP)—What shows are wonderful, but what do you do with a thousand wedding guests?
That was today's problem for West Point Cadet Ralph Stephenson and his 24-year-old fiancée, Miss June McFarland of Yonkers. They stepped up to the microphone Friday on ABC's "Break the Brick" program and won $4,610.

Overcome by a rash impulse of delight, Cadet Stephenson invited the audience—all several millions of it—to his wedding next June in the cadet chapel. Stephenson, a hospitable southerner, comes from Jena, La.
The chapel holds 1,500, and by noon today 1,000 had wired or phoned their acceptances. Ralph and June are shuddering now—waiting for Monday's mail.

"Are we in a spot?" giggled the happy Miss McFarland. "I hope some of them have short memories."
Even so, Miss McFarland thinks quiz shows are just wonderful—even if the federal communications commission has banned them effective October 1.

GIs Injured in Japan Wreck

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 21-(AP)—Two Japanese were killed and three U. S. enlisted men were injured today in a train-truck collision which derailed four cars and a locomotive.
A special eight-car train was taking 160 Americans from Yokohama on an excursion to Nikko, a scenic city of temples and tombs 75 miles north of Tokyo. The train hit the truck, driven by the two Japanese, about 25 miles from Nikko.

The Americans' injuries were slight. Their names and home addresses were not available immediately.

Four Senators Denounce U.S. China Policy

By Oliver M. DeWolf
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21-(AP)—Four ranking senators bitterly denounced today the state department's white paper on China as a "white wash of a wishful, do-nothing policy."

They demanded "immediate and adequate military aid" for the Chinese government which the white paper assailed.

The four, Senators Bridges (R-NH), McCarran (D-Nev), Wherry (R-Nebr) and Knowland (R-Calif.), said in a joint statement that "instead of facing facts in China and admitting its error, the state department still buries its head in the sand and issues a white paper."

They directed strong personal criticism at Secretary of State Acheson.

"China still has not succumbed," the four senators declared, adding:
"The Chinese government still holds a greater area of the country than it did after the first year of war with Japan. What the Chinese army lacks more than anything else are the weapons which the state department dangerously advises be withheld from its armies."

"Against the government troops, deprived of arms and equipment by this shortsighted state department policy, the communists fight with a wealth of weapons.

Diverted from Lend-Lease
"Most of these—as the white paper points out—were surrendered by the Japanese to the Russians. What the white paper has neglected to state, however, is that reports indicate that some of the communists' U. S.-manufactured weapons have been diverted to them out of the United States' wartime $11,000,000,000 lend-lease to Soviet Russia. For propaganda purposes, communists have claimed to have captured it all from the nationalist government."

The protesting senators also said that "the white paper says China lost huge quantities of munitions sent from the United States.

Suffered from Embargo
"Whatever it does not say," they commented, "is that China has suffered from an embargo on United States military aid."

The joint statement criticized Acheson for "vacillating when the situation cries aloud for decisive forthright action to retrieve losses already sustained." The statement added:
"There is no publicly revealed evidence that Secretary Acheson is making any forthright efforts for unifying China's neighbors against the oncoming red armies."

"His efforts to make Chiang Kai-shek a scapegoat for the blunders of present and past administrations in Washington is shallow. It has been rejected by every competent observer of the tragic record of betrayal of China running back years."

Housekeeper Said 'Brains' In Theft Ring

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 21-(AP)—A widowed rooming house keeper was charged today with being the mastermind behind a wave of burglaries with loot worth thousands of dollars.
Two young boarders at her house said she was so keen she would figure out burglaries they engineered without her knowledge from newspaper accounts. Then she'd put out her palm to them an demand her cut, they said.

The graying woman said it wasn't so.
"I absolutely did not know the boys were doing anything like that," said Mrs. Frances E. McCall, 59, as she was arraigned before City Judge Al Blase, jr. "I had nothing to do with it."

She furnished bail of $2,000 on burglary charges.

Paid $50 for 5-Minute Job

SEATTLE, Aug. 21-(AP)—Tommy Murphy got $50 for about five minutes of painting Saturday—but figured he was underpaid.

He painted the flagpole atop the 42-story Smith tower. The pole extends beyond a glass "ball" atop Seattle's tallest building.

"The climb up the glass ball scared me more than getting out on the pole," the 28-year-old fatalist commented. "I wouldn't have taken the job if times weren't getting tough."

Investigator Queries Ailing Freezer Donor

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21-(AP)—Boring into the motive for the gift of home freezers to Washington higher-ups, senate investigators today studied new information obtained from the head of the perfume firm which footed the bill.

The special senate subcommittee conducting the inquiry sent a man to Chicago, it was learned, to question ailing David Bennett, wealthy president of the Albert Verley Co.

The questioning of Bennett, a committee source said, took place last week, a few days after the senate probes quizzed Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man, behind closed doors in Washington. The investigators declined to discuss what Bennett had to say.

Named as Donors
Bennett and Hoffman have been named as the donors of the freezers by Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's army aide. Vaughan said they gave the units to him in 1945 out of friendship, and that he in turn had them sent to prominent Washington whites. One went to the summer White House in Independence, Mo.

Hoffman whose firm handles the Verley advertising, said he obtained the freezers for Bennett's company. The committee expects to conclude this week its public inquiry into whether improper influence has figured in the handling of government business. Hearings will be resumed Tuesday.

Beside Vaughan, who is expected to testify Wednesday or Thursday, the committee plans to call: Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, suspended quartermaster general of the army.

To Summon Maragon
John Maragon, fast-talking former shoeshiner who once had a pass to the White House. And, to health permitting, James V. Hunt, Washington management counselor who collects big fees for help in getting government contracts for others. Hunt is unable to take the stand, he probably will submit an affidavit, committee members said.

Other witnesses have testified that Hunt boasted of an inside track to the White House through friendship with Vaughan.

Tourist Loses Wife, Daughter

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 21-(AP)—A bewildered Scottish tourist who "lost" his wife and daughter on a trip here from scenic, Wash., has gone to Bradner, B. C., to find them.

David Mathieson, of Ayre, was given the address after he was unable to trace James Watson here. Watson was the man with whom his family left the top of a mountain at scenic when Mathieson said he was afraid to descend by automobile.

He followed by train, was to meet them here Saturday, but could not find the man. Police told him Mathieson lives in Bradner.

Yugoslavia Tells of Soviet 'Doublecross'

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Aug. 21-(AP)—Yugoslavia renewed the word battle with her big Russian antagonist today despite the threats of Moscow.

Marshall Tito's government published a note replying to the Soviet note of August 11 which declared Yugoslavia's regime is now considered an enemy of the Soviet Union. The new Yugoslav note said Russia is a doublecrosser because she abandoned on the sly the support of Yugoslavia claims against Austria.

Tito had not yet replied to the note, even more bitter in tone, broadcast from Moscow Saturday night. This called his regime Fascist and threatened "more effective measures" for protection of Soviet citizens from alleged mistreatment in Yugoslavia.

Sought Big 4 Concessions
Belgrade's latest note, broadcast by the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, charged that the Kremlin sold out Yugoslavia (south-eastern Austria) to assure "agreement on its own claims to German assets in Austria" from other members of the Big Four.

It bristled with such terms as "lies and slanders," "distortions of the truth" and "unworthy insinuations" in replying to Moscow's charges.

Today's note was the sixth in an increasingly bitter exchange which seemed to foreshadow some showdown, diplomatic or otherwise.

Saturday night, the Moscow radio broadcast the text of a note which was even stronger. It compared Tito's government to that of Generalissimo Franco of Spain and the "Monarcho-Fascists" of Greece in its alleged forfeiture of Soviet citizens in Yugoslavia.

The Moscow note defended the Cominform resolution of June, 1948, which urged the Yugoslav communist party to "renovate" its leadership, as entirely constitutional and legal. But Moscow denied the Cominform urged an overthrow of the Yugoslav government by force.

Nevertheless Marshall Tito has been reported shifting his troops in Macedonia—between two Cominform allies, Bulgaria and Albania—and he has publicly warned that his army was prepared to fight any invader.

On the menu list tomorrow is fresh corn on the cob. Harry wants to prove to his family he really can chew away after weeks of intravenous feeding.

GOP Senator Sees Politics in Farm Bill Tiff

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21-(AP)—A republican senator, Young of North Dakota, today jumped into a boiling senate argument about next year's farm program with a charge that democrats are playing politics.

"I deplore the inaction of the democratic administration on the farm price-support legislation," Young told a reporter. "It is due entirely to politics."

Pointing out that democrats won control of congress last year, Young said "they promised farmers a better price-support bill and it is up to them to deliver."

Promises Cooperation
"Democrats have an 8 to 5 ratio on the senate agriculture committee and they still lack any agreement on the program," he said. "I will cooperate with them even as far as reporting a bill to the senate though I may not agree with all of it."

Young is a member of a subcommittee under Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture which worked out a compromise farm measure. It would keep price props for major crops at about present levels next year and permit declines later if surpluses arose.

Builds Opposition
Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) of the senate agriculture committee has been building up opposition to the Anderson compromise, and advocating the house-approved plan for another year's extension of rigid, high-level government farm price props.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, who succeeded Anderson as the Truman farm cabinet member, has been criticizing both the Anderson compromise and the house-approved price supports. At the same time he continued to plan for the Brannan farm subsidy plan rejected so far by congress.

A showdown between Chairman Thomas and Senator Anderson on their conflicting ideas may come Monday afternoon.

Thomas called the 13-member committee into closed session to their report from Anderson on the 7-member subcommittee that drafted the compromise bill.
