Fall Opening Plans Set At Lebanon

LEBANON, Aug. 24 — All the preparations for Lebanon's Fall Opening Bargain Days Friday and Saturday are completed, it was announced by the merchants' committee members of the chamber of commerce this week. Highlight of the two day event will be the mystery window contest Friday night.

A preview of the two day affair occurred Wednesday night when city merchants presented their fall fashion preview of clothing on the stake of the Park theater. The review was part of the regular evening show beginning at 7 o'clock. The style program is sponsored by the Presbyterian guild.

Friday night city merchants are participating in the mystery window contest. In each store window an article of merchandise that is not sold in that store, but which has been borrowed from another store, will be displayed.

The person turning in the first complete list of misplaced items in all store windows will receive the grand prize; other prizes will be awarded following winners.

Judging will be handled by staff members of the local newspaper, and results will be announced over station KWIL immediately after judging is completed.
