The Oregon Statesman

"No Favor Sways Us, No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING COMPANY CHARLES A SPRAGUE, Editor and Publisher

Entered at the postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as second class matter under act of congress March 3, 1879.

Published every morning. Susiness office 215 S. Commercial, Salem, Oregon. Telephone 2-2441.

Here Again, the State Fair

Yes, the state fair is on, in all its glory blue ribbon Jerseys, woolly Romneys, grunting Duroc Jerseys; and bedquilts and angel food cakes and 4-H club dresses; and horse races; and the midway; and a big military display; and flowers; and hot dog stands . . . and people.

Blessed with fair weather for the opening day, and big crowds the fair is off to a good start, with prospect of a very successful show-

The state fair is a "must" for young and old. It is such an institution that for many the year's climax is when the state fair rolls round. It's the same thing year after year - only it isn't . the same thing; there is always something new. The crowds are always different, and the exhibits are the freshest products of farm and home and workshop.

So don't fool yourself by saying you're not going to the fair because you've seen it all before. You haven't seen the 1949 fair. There has never been one just like it; there never will be one identical again; for each year's fair is a show in itself.

"Heigh-ho, be off to the fair."

A New Labor Party?

Organization of a new national labor party is a prospect before next/Labor day, Columnist Marquis Childs writes. The imminent showdown in the current steel dispute may shake labor's belief in collective bargaining and upand-coming leaders like Walter and Victor Reuther will argue that labor can't gain its ends without organized political action, he says.

Independent political party action was rejected by Samuel Gompers when he organized the American Federation of Labor in 1886. He believed in lobbying and held that "deliverable" blocs of voters were more powerful than a minority separatist party. Labor's gains in the past two decades would indicate that Gomper's prediction was accurate; the early 19th century labor parties stirred up more anti-labor feeling than recognition for labor's rights.

The first of a long line was the labor reform party of 1869, an outgrowth of the national labor union (1866-72). It advocated the protective, tariff and paper currency; nominated a presidential candidate in 1872 and six years later merged with the greenback, labor party which put up a losing fiat-money ticket in 1880.

Another party which grew out of one of the nation's earliest labor unions was the social democratic party established in 1874 by Marxists had infiltrated into the secret order of the Knights of Labor. The left-wing socialist labor party replaced it in 1877 but today its dreams of class war and revolutions have been watered down by its dedication to constitutional means.

In 1886, two groups sprang up, the united labor party which was an independent movement supporting the single tax and public ownership of land, and the union labor party, a successor to the greenbacks. The latter group nominated a national ticket in 1884 with a platform for free silver coinage, paper currency, state ownership of transportation, woman suffrage, graduated income tax and arbitration (in- as they get a good price guarantee?

stead of use of injunction and the militia) in labor disputes.

Members of the union labor party, ex-greenbacks and farmers combined to form the populist party in 1891, haping to get an expansion of currency. This movement expired in 1908.

Right-wing members of the socialist labor party and social democrats joined in 1900 to form the socialist party under Eugene V. Debs. who ran for the White Heuse five times - unsuccessfully. Advocating initiative, referendum and recall and public ownership of utilities and basic industries, this group is now under the capable, middle-of-the-road hands of Norman Thomas, perennial presidential candidate.

The radical industrial workers of the world (IWW) was organized in 1904 under William D. Haywood as a revolutionary party bent on using strikes and sabotage until the capitalists capitulated. The capitalists are still going

And so is labor. But labor is still restive and an attemtp to set up another third party, a labor party, is certainly possible. The probamlity is however that is will continue its effort to control the democratic party.

Truman Speeches Are 1950 Preliminary

In speeches at Pittsburgh and Des Moines President Truman yesterday rode a Roman race, with one foot on the labor vote and the other on the farm vote. He was attempting to repeat the feat of 1948 when he succeeded in staying aboard both horses through the election. Now he and his political advisers are trying to coment the alliance of farmers and workers for the 1950 elections.

The president was in 1948 mood. Instead of branding the 81st congress as the second or third worst, he praised it although it has made scant progress toward writing into law his fair deal program. The civil rights program is dead without a struggle. The repeal of the Taft-Hartley law failed, and now will be made an issue in 1950. The housing bill has been enacted, and a 75-cent minimum wage bill has passed both houses though its coverage was

The campaign of 1950 will be a repeater of 1948, with the president insisting on his program of legislation which for the most part the congress of his own party has so far failed to adopt. Once again the reactionaries will get the whip and the fair deal will be proclaimed as the essence of Virtue.

Yugoslavia discounts talk about soviet troops massing at its frontiers. There may be some sabre-rattling along the borders but that is doubtful. Russia, which has passed a bid many times in postwar pressure game, when its hand really was strong, is not likely to initiate action now over Yugoslavia, painful as the situation there is. Other means of blotting out the offensive Tito will be employed first.

Another billion bushel wheat crop is forecast for next year. How can the government expect farmers to slacken wheat raising so long democrats in the same way they hope to defeat Taft. This campaign is also being meticulously prepared; and Anderson of the brotherhoods has just returned from a survey of the southern scene with the report that there is "a very good chance" of beating a good many of the more extreme southern conservatives. In short, the labor groups are out to re-make the democratic party to suit themselves, while they simultaneously attack the more

This is a major political process, of the first importance. It will not bear fruit overnight.

Perhaps thhe efforts of the combined CIO, AFL, and railway brotherhoods may be frustrated in the 1950 election, just as it is possible that Lincoln may not make the Ohio race. But the importance of the process will not be greatly diminished by early failures. The labor effort in politics will now continue, no matter what reverses may be met with at first. And this is something for the sponsors of the Taft-Hartley act, who started the whole process, to consider carefully and perhaps a little Copyright, 1949.

New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Better English

By D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "He gave the book to

2. What is the correct pronun-

3. Which one of these words

4. What does the word 'lacon-

5. What is a word beginning with ve that means "acting with you and me." 2. Pronounce a-kli-mate, first a as in at, i as in lie, second a as in ate, and accent second syllable, not the first.

ANSWERS

3. Calcimine. 4. Expressing much in few words; brief and pithy.

"His sense was strong and his style laconic."—Welwood. 5 Ve-

1. Say, "He gave the book to is misspelled? Calisthenics, cal-ciation of "acclimate"?

great force; ardent"?

ruefully.

you and I."

somine, calorie, ic" mean?

hostile wing of the republicans.

Labor Now in Politics with Both Feet followed other, similarly inspired requests by administration leaders, like Secretary of Agriculture

Brannan. And the aforementioned test that will come in a few days will take the form of Murray Lincoln's final decision, to make the race against Taft, or to reject the opportunity that has Nothing could have been better planned, or more efficiently organized, than the campaign to make Lincoln a candidate. The fact that Lincoln still is hesitating hints at labor's chief political weakness. For Lincoln has been slow to throw his hat in the ring because he has not been sure of the support of the Ohio democratic organization. And the divergence between the democratic organizations and the political branches of the labor groups has been, and is, a main cause of

On the other hand, it is already very clear that the democratic party needs the labor groups more than the labor groups need

Such wise leaders as Jack

Arvey in Chicago and Ed Flynn of New York have already acknowledged the fact. And this is not surprising, since the republicans, with their Taft-Hartley act, have accomplished a miracle that Franklin Delano Roosevelt longed for in vain. The Taft-Hartley act has absolutely united the labor movement on the political level. It has also driven the labor movement to organize politically, for the first time in history, in a serious, professional

. . . .

Kroll, the AFL League for Political Education under Keenan, and the brotherhood's league under Anderson are not only closely and effectively allied with one another. They are also working with all the independent unions except John L. Lewis's mine workers. Furthermore, their work is real. It gets down to the county and the precinct level. As it continues, it will inevitably become the dominant factor in the northern industrial states. And the democratic party has got to carry the northern industrial

For good measure, the labor organizations are already invading the south, with the purpose of defeating anti-labor southern states in order to win.

The CIO-PAC under Jack

the democrats.

trouble for the labor strategists.

been offered him.

Moon-Burns

my life have I been to a world capital (and this makes my 51st) where there is such a difference between 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 2 o'clock in the morn-could shoot a machine-gung down the principal thoroughfare, the Gran

Via, and stand a chance

Via, or any of the narrow, winding streets and be almost certain to wing half a hundred men, women, children,

The thing that amazes an American visitor is that it is at in the morning when all the excitement goes on. It is then that the cafes are going full blast, the streets are packed with strollers, the parks alive with little; children playing and dogs barking and cats meowing in Span-

The owl is a great stayer-upper, but he can't beat the Span-This is a perfect country for anyone suffering from insomnia; he'll have company all night long.

We flew into Madrid from Lisbon, arriving about 1:30 in the morning. As we drove in from the airport we were under the impression that either another civil war had broken out or that some great fiesta was being celebrated. The town was as wide awake and bustling as Times Square is at 8 in the evening. We asked the hotel concierge what was going on, and he said didn't we in America close our place of business and sleep most of the afternoon so that we could stay up at night when it was gayer and one wasn't bothered by

After a few days we settled had to, because there is no choice. There is no such thing as having breakfast before 10 o'clock. The 11 is a better time than 10, being lunch between 3 and 4 in the afternoon. No one ever thinks of

On our second night here we ran into two American friends. Dorothy and Dick Kollmar, also new arrivals to Madrid. All four us were starving to death, and at 11 o'clock tore into the dining room. It had just opened, and we were the only diners. The waiters and the captain looked at us as if we were out of our minds for jumping the gun, so to speak. You seldom see a sun-burned Spaniard, but you see plenty of moon-burned ones. The only reason that the people of Madrid go home and to bed at 4 in the morning is that the severe drought, the worst in 100 years,

Your Health Dr. Herman N. Parents sometimes are upset

BLESSED EVENT?

will get along as well as his speaking and writing. It is suggested that the leftslant to his writing.

Two factirs influence handedness; environment and heredity. In other words, left-handedness may run in families.

The effect of the surroundings on left-handedness is shown by the fact that today more than nine out of ten adults use the right hand, yet in early civilization, half of all weapons were made for left-handed persons. Furthermore, two out of ten kindergarten children prefer the left hand. In other words, the fact that equipment, tools and instruments are made for right-by the discovery that their child is left-handed. This is useless worry because, other things being equal, the left-handed child right-handed playmates. Since, however, this is a right-handed world, he may suffer a little inconvenience as he grows older.

suggest that all children should be taught to use the right hand for writing when first entering school. However, if the child objects or shows signs of nervous strain, one of which may be stuttering, efforts to have him use

For this reason, some doctors

The fact that left-handedness persists may be due to a number of things, such as temporary disablement of the right hand or the child's imitation of a lefthanded sister or brother or parent. The child may have a negative attitude, that is, he al-ways says "no" to his parent's efforts to teach him to use his right hand. Faulty training may be a factor. For example, the parents may misinterpret the use of both hands by the child as preference for the left hand, or the parents may always hand an object to the child's left hand.

Disturbances in the speech, such as stuttering, and trouble in reading, are not likely to deleft-handed. They are more likely to occur in a person who is ambidextrous, that is, a person who uses both hands equally

Written by

Changing the writing habits of an older child from right-to purpose dams in the west are left-handedness may, in rare instances, be of help, if he is and will return to the United strongly left-handed in his other | States treasury many times their activities and has trouble in original cost.

handed writer should be taught in the beginning to use the paper slanted downward to the right and to use a slightly backward QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Answer: The cause of pyor- gram. rhea has not been determined. The best treatment is frequent by plane last Tuesday and will rebrushing and massaging of the turn there on the night of Sepgums with an astringent or mouth wash. Surgical treatment is often helpful. The dentest should be consulted concerning of uniform size, varying not more the best treatment in your case, than five pounds one from the (Copyright, 1949, King Features) other.

Of House Fire justments can be justified," he continued, "but I believe taking the country as a whole, it is better to permit a leveling off of DALLAS, Sept. 5 - (Special) prices now than to increase in-The future was looking a little flation at this time with any brighter today for the George across-the-board-nation wage in-Chaney and Joel Miller families. crease pattern being adopted. Pur-Contributions were coming in chasing power of all of us is determined to a large extent by

Labor Should Not Ask for More,

But Hold Tight, Says Sen. Morse

Labor should try to hold the place it has and not be asking for increases at the moment, in the opinion of U. S. Sen. Wayne L. Morse, who has been having fun Monday mixing politics and horses in this, at this time is to hold the economic gains it has made and theremic gains it has made and theremic gains it has made and there-assistance of a fourth round of increase of wages is an enormous Dallas Victims mistake.

His statement was in answer to the question as to what he thought his 27th year of showing at Oregon's state fair.

"Labor should recognize its most important economic problem assistance of a fourth round of "I recognize that there are some low wage industries in which ad-what the individual dollar will buy and if the dollar will not buy very much a further increase in wages will only cheapen the dol-

"We all know that when a depression threatens, people will look to the government, and rightly so, to take whatever steps necessary to check it. As free men and women, we should recognize before it is too late that whenever the government has to step in and exercise broad controls over economy, we lose a certain degree of our economic freedom. I believe

Many people are buying beyond ger many merchants may find that on credit to people who will not have the ability to pay for them.

Especially if any further increase is made in the inflationary spiral.

It is my opinion that businessmen, farmers and workers have a common interest in checking further increase in prices including wages.

This means exercise of restraint by all groups in making demands that will create a more serious inflationary problem than we have The senator said there are still a few eastern senators who do not shoestring, has become a local institution. This July 10 ft started its ninth year. The only night it missed, aside from two-to four-week vacations every was during a wartime blackout.

theatre two weeks after it opened, has given around 2,350 she's an English lass who sings of her progress from housemaid half-clad in flowery calico, she singing of her Frangipani Tree.

sistently sold out from one to three weeks in advance, really started more than 20 years ago at the University of Michigan.

Harry Burnett and Forman

Brown, students, put on puppet shows in hotels and clubs to support themselves. Burnett went on to Yale and joined up with Richard Brandon, a student there, as the "Yale Puppeteers." fling at teaching English. They Angeles quaintly Mexican Ol-180-seat theatre plays to more than 50,000 person and grosses

Burnett fashions the puppets,

States.

The unique attraction, con-

Developments Aid Defense the capitalistic system is capable

Flays "Group Interest" group interest '

now

tember 12.

Hollywood On Parade

of the request for a fourth round of wage increases.

from fellow workers, neighbors and various organizations to aid the families who were left homeless by fire that destroyed their residence early Saturday morning. Clothing, groceries, money and housing have been donated. Condition of the five persons hospitalized by burns and injuries was reported considerably better Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Miller. severely burned while rescuing their two children from the burning home, have improved steadily but will be confined several more days. Both of the their children, Linda, 7 months, and John, 20 months also were burned but will be released Wednesday. George Chaney, sr., father of of preventing a depression if Mrs. Miller also was hospitalized businessman, workers and farmers and other producers of wealth with a broken ankle. will put public interest above

The first organization to render assistance to the homeless families was the Associated Women's club their means, Senator Morse said, of the Pioneer district, head by adding that "I think there is dan- Mrs. Frank Dornhecker. The Dallas Apostolic Faith church, the much of the goods have been sold Polk county public welfare commission and the Red Cross also have given aid.

Contributions from Miller's fellow employes at an F. B. Miller Construction company of Salem project in Dallas were donated to the growing aid fund. Many individual contributions have been reported, including a check from bean-picking employer to cover loss of bean tickets in the fire.

Mrs. Chaney and her five children have been housed in an empty residence on route 2 owned by R. E. Smith, a neighbor.

realize that the great multiple Family Keeps planned on a self-liquidating basis Vigil to Halt Development of the electric Mystery Fires power resources of the streams in the country provides one of its most effective defense weapons,

The Keith Remington family "I think Russia recognizes this was maintaining a 24-hour vigil because this development is so at their residence south of Salem closely linked to the rapid pro- Mouday to prevent another outss of our atomic energy pro- break in the fires that began Friday and con-Senator Morse left Washington tinued through Sunday.

No new fires were reported to state police or the Marion county sheriff's office Mr. and Mrs. Remington, their eight children, and Tuna in a school usually are Mrs. Remington's mother alternated in keeping watch, they re-

Latest fire was reported Sunday afternoon. It burned about one-fourth acre of grass on a hill 100 yards behind the house. It was controlled by neighbors. Other fires, the first of which started at noon Friday, have damouts" and an old morality play aged the house, chicken house and called "The Drunkard," the orchard. Turnabout, started on a financial State police and sheriff's deputies still were investigating the blazes Monday and will continue the study today.

The sheriff's office reported a distinctive feature of the fires has January for the whole company, been that only one was set at night. The others broke out at Miss Lancaster, who joined the times during the day when any person setting them would most likely be seen by one of the famperformances. In drab clothes ily.

to wife of a fine gentleman. Or half-clad in flowery called the prances about as Fiji Fanny, Goal of City OMAK, Wash., Sept. 5 -(AP)demand for a grand jury investigation of gambling here may come out of a "good government rally" Tuesday night, sponsors of the meeting said today.

On the other side of the fence were those who said a fight would be made at the meeting against against a grand jury call.

Prosecutor John Hancock pro-Brown rejoined them after a mptly asserted that the sheriff should leave enforcement of gamoperated a puppet theatre on Los bling laws to city officials.

and New England. They pooled Vaccine Co-Finder vera street, later in New York their resources-$1,000-to open at their present location. The Dies in Montana HAMILTON, Mont., Sept. 5-(AP)around $100,000 a year. It's said Dr. Ralph R. Parker, co-discoverer to be the only permanently loca- of a vaccine for Rocky Mountain ted puppet theatre in the United spotted fever, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 61.

Parker, director of the national about 500 of which hang back- institute of health's Rocky Mounstage for the weekly changes of tain laboratory, had been ill only

Hank's Find In Madrid

By Henry McLemore MADRID, Sept. 5 - Never in

HE LOOKS

LIKE HIS UNCLE

HERMAN TO ME!

At one of the 2 o'clocks you not hitting a At the other 2 o'clock you could shoot a bow and arrow down the Gran dogs and cats.

Three-quarters of the stores are open and filled with customers who see nothing strange in going in and having baby fitted for a pair of shoes not long before the sun comes up.

the sun?

down to Madrid's routine. We restaurants just don't open, and as the waiters are more awake by then. Most people here have starting a cocktail party before 9:30, and the proper hour for dinner is roughly around midnight.

has forced a rationing of electricity and all lights go off at that time.

ributed by McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

handed persons causes the great majority of individuals to use their right hand for work and other procedures.

HOLLYWOOD - Every night but Monday, in a little theatre whose spectators occupy streetcar seats, several hunks of molded plastic wood come to remarkable life. Musicians play, and South Sea Island girls dancepuppets all of them, weighing three pounds on an average and standing 18 inches high. Black silk or nylon lines support them and control their lifelike move-

By Gene Handsaker

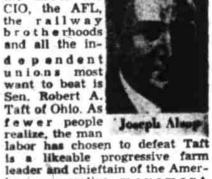

After an hour of this entertainment, the spectators get up and shift the backs of their seats forward, like a streetcar motorman at the end of the line. The customers face the other way now-hence the name, the Turnabout Theater-and those who were in back are now in front. They face another stage, where Elsa Lancaster and others put on a sprightly hour of live performvelop in a child who is strongly

Like Ken Murray's "Blacknothing was going on — that GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

Well, Kids! . . .

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop WASHINGTON, Sept 5 — If anyone wants to think about serious subjects on Labor Day, or the day after, a pretty good subject is labor's new politics be-political effectiveness will re-

Before long, American labor's fore all is said and done.

celve a pre-election test. As everyone knows the man the is a likeable progressive farm leader and chieftain of the Amer-Ican cooperative movement, Murray D. Lincoln, who has been the biggest influence in the Ohio Farm Bureau federation for many years. It has already been described in this space how the united political arms of the otherwise warring labor groups selected Lincoln as their candidate after carefully reviewing the whole field, and how they announced their Stewart Alanp in early July. More recently, the labor strategists have also enlisted the aid of the administration in order to get Lincoln to run.

Democratic National Chairman William Boyle, who is wiser than some of his subordinates, promptly agreed to go along when asked to do so by Jack Kroll of the CIO, Joseph Keenan of the AFL, and C. T. Anderson of railway labor's political league. "Ohio is your baby," was the way Boyle put it. Kroll, Keenan and Anderson asked Boyle to get the help of President Truman, and by Boyle's request, the president telephoned Murray Lincoln and asked him to make the senatorial fight.

The president's telephone call