

Percherons Highlight Fair Horse Show

By Maxine Buren
Staff Writer, The Statesman

Local fairgoers Salem Day brought a good horse to the fairgrounds stadium Wednesday to view the horse show and rodeo. Special event of the evening was the exhibition driving of the six-in-hand Percherons hitched to heavy wagons from the Meadow Land Dairy, Portland.

A Hayward, Calif. horse, owned and ridden by Janice Kenyon won first ribbon in the opening event of the show, the handy hunters which includes performance in jumping, as well as conformation and quality.

Mary Lellan of Seattle placed first in the fine harness class with the McLellan Stables, Kalamazoo, Mich. Horses are suitable for and driven by a woman.

Little Dream Girl took first of the harness ponies and Shetlands. She is owned and driven by Carl Zimmerman of Portland.

Mares Win First Place

Sir Laurel Guy, owned, and driven by Sen. Wayne Morse of Eugene won first place for the third night in the roadsters to bike class.

Another harness event was that of the combination three-gaited horses, driven at first to the buggy and later shown under the saddle. Jeanne de Laittre of Oswego took the first ribbon in this event with Maple Cricket. A Salem horse, Linda, owned and handled by Charlen Woods placed fourth.

Salem horses also made a showing in the Palomino class. Cobb's King Gold, owned and ridden by Lyle Cobb won first place, with Sun Kiss Serenade owned by Ar-Sun Franke ar, of Salem, ridden by Rose Mae Franke taking the second ribbon. Show Boy, owned by A. N. Minden of Salem, with Don Hanson up, awarded third; fourth place going to Bourbon's Golden Treasure owned by Rose Mae Franke of Salem and Golden Zipper ridden by Pat Zosel and owned by Walter Zosel of Salem in fifth place.

Goes to Arizanal

The judge gave first ribbon to Olwen Beach of Phoenix, Ariz., riding Joy Sue in the class for riders under 18 years of age. The audience's choice, however, was Little Terry Neal Taylor of Tacoma, riding Barbara Admirer. Terry Neal, the seven-year old rider who has competed with adults throughout the show, has consistently won the plaudits of the audience.

A fine class was the five-gaited saddle horse group which was won by Ester Stonewall from McLellan Stables ridden, by Bert Corby.

Glenn Tyler of Modesto, Calif., made a new bulldogging record for the Oregon State fair with time on 4.5 seconds.

Record Heat In California

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7-(AP)—The thermometer reached a new heat record today as southern California sizzled under a blazing sun.

Los Angeles' reading was 103 at 1 p. m., but in nearby Glendale it was 108, an all-time record. A reading of 107 was set in 1944.

At least two persons succumbed to the heat.

Indio, in the desert, had a reading of 102 degrees; Needles, 102; El Centro, 102; Yuma, 101, all in the desert area.

Other readings included Pasadena, 101, North Hollywood, 103; Riverside, 101; Bakersfield, 90.

German Parliament Sessions Convene

BONN, Germany, Sept. 7-(AP)—A free German parliament took its place among parliaments of the world today after a 16-year interlude of rule by Hitler and occupying powers.

The bundstag and bundstag, upper and lower houses of the west German federal republic, convened for the first time in the hastily modernized capitol in this old university town.

Prune Picker Call Issued

A call for prune pickers in the Dallas area came Wednesday from the Salem office of the state employment service.

"At least 50 families are needed to harvest one of the biggest crops in recent years," said William Baillie, manager of the Salem office. The picking is "just getting underway."

Top pickers—campers and drive-outs—are also needed in the Independence district, said Baillie. Information on both prune and hop picking may be obtained at the employment service office, 710 Ferry st.

'Rose' Starts Own Story at Treason Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7-(AP)—The voice of Tokyo Rose spoke up for the first time in federal court today.

It was calm and clear, and quite husky.

The small, dark haired Japanese-American, charged with treason, began her story almost eagerly.

Iva Toguri D'Aquino, 33, had waited through 9 1/2 weeks of a tedious trial for this chance.

The tiny defendant told the jury: She never had any intention of staying in Japan. She tried to get out early in December, 1941. But Japanese red tape fouled her plans. Then war came.

She attended a Japanese language school three months before going to Japan July 5, 1941.

"I was a very poor student in the Japanese language," she said. She spoke it poorly, she said, and never learned to read or write it to any extent.

She said her mother's only living sister was very sick and wanted to see her. But Mrs. Toguri, bedridden a year, asked Iva to go to Japan in her place.

It was such a rush trip, Iva didn't even apply for a passport. She got a certificate of identification. On Dec. 1, her father, Toguri, cabled his daughter to get aboard the Tatsu Maru—which proved to be the last ship out of Japan before hostilities began. Clearance from the Japanese finance ministry was delayed—then it was too late.

Mrs. D'Aquino testified: She wasn't sure for two days whether war had broken out or she couldn't understand the radio or the newspaper.

In a few days police arrived. She needed an interpreter to understand them. "I asked them to intern me," but they answered, "we don't go that far. After all you are only a woman. We will let you stay out a little bit."

Then they asked her to change her citizenship from American to Japanese but she refused.

"I told them I could never become a Japanese."

Mrs. D'Aquino then said she worked at Domei, a Japanese news agency as a typist-monitor until December, 1943, and then moved over to the Danish ministry as a clerical worker from January, 1944, until May of 1945 when the ministry was closed. She will resume her story tomorrow.

U.S. Steel to Manufacture $6,300 Home

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Sept. 7-(AP)—A four-room house to sell for $350 down and about $37 a month, including insurance and taxes, was announced tonight by United States Steel Corp.

The house is of plywood construction, 28 by 24 feet in overall dimension, and has two bedrooms. Its total cost including land is expected to be under $6,300.

The announcement did not specify the terms of the mortgage, including the length of time for which it might run.

"Big steel's" entry into the low-cost mass housing market will be made through its home fabricating subsidiary, Gunnison Homes, Inc.

The house has no basement and no garage (although Gunnison produces a separate garage unit). Its equipment does not include range and refrigerator. But it does have a streamlined kitchen with double compartment sink and wall cabinets, bath with built-in linen closet, a utility room with an oil or gas-fired burner supplying heat for the forced-air heating system, and an automatic hot water heater.

Granges Oppose 'Purge' Plans for State Legislators

GRANTS PASS, Sept. 7-(AP)—The Rogue river valley grange contended that the purge of congressmen and state legislators lead in protesting the "purge" of Oregon state legislators.

The grange convention had voted to work for the defeat of 22 state representatives who supported a bill imposing restrictions on the initiative and referendum. The bill did not pass.

The Rogue river valley grange contended that the purge "is contrary to the principles of the grange and promotes pressure politics of the worst type." The resolution said it did not approve the 22 representatives' action on that particular question, but thought no man should be judged on a single issue.

Boy is Killer's Latest Victim

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 7—Ten-year old John Wilson died today, the 13th victim to die from the blazing pistol of Howard Unruh, 28, a crazed war veteran who shot men, women and children on a wild rampage. The boy is shown with his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Matlack, 60, who also died along with her daughter, the boy's mother, as the three waited in a car at a traffic light. (AP Wirephoto to The Statesman.)

Camden Deaths Raised to 13; Probes Start

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 7-(AP)—Why 28-year-old Howard Unruh slaughtered 13 persons and exactly how he did it were the subjects of two separate investigations today.

Thirteen murder warrants—one for each of his victims—were issued today against the former artilleryman and sharpshooter. All charge Unruh killed "wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and with malice afore-thought."

Psychiatrists sought to learn: Was Unruh insane or did he know what he was doing.

If the hollow-cheeked killer is proved sane he faces the maximum penalty of death in New Jersey's electric chair, says Prosecutor Mitchell Cohen.

Collected Guns

Unruh, the Bible reading war veteran who collected guns as a hobby, went berserk yesterday. He stalked his victims in a usually-quiet East Camden neighborhood, killing 12 instantly with bullets at close range from his German luger pistol. The 13th—10-year-old John Wilson—died early today in Cooper hospital. Three others were wounded.

Unruh, who also has been in the hospital with a bullet in his hip, was removed suddenly this afternoon. County detectives told newsmen of the transfer after it was made.

Prosecutor Cohen said Unruh had been taken to the New Jersey state hospital for insane at Trenton where he'll be under observation for at least two weeks.

Mother Prostrated

Unruh's mother, Mrs. Freda Unruh, about 50, was prostrated in her grief over the tragedy. She is seriously ill at the home of a sister. The family says the mother has not been told the full extent of her son's crime.

New Annex to House Stayton Switchboard

STAYTON, Sept. 7-(Special)—A $15,000 addition is being built to the building of the Stayton Mutual Switchboard association on First street, with Gus Kirsch as builder.

The addition is expected to be completed in about three weeks. The space is being added to house the new $12,000 three-position switchboard which is on order from the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company at Chicago, with delivery scheduled for about three months away.

The addition will be of frame construction with a stepped-down concrete floor. Besides the switchboard, it will also house the telephone booth for public use.

The added space is being built on a temporary program as the company is retaining its lot at First and Marion streets, where a modern building will be built in the future. At that time the new board will be placed in the permanent building, according to E. J. Bell, secretary.

Salem Stores Close for Fair

Salem downtown streets have a semi-deserted look Wednesday afternoon as residents and store employees took off for Salem Day at the Oregon State fair.

Nearly all stores, except taverns, restaurants and a few smaller shops, closed up for the half-day holiday.

They frisked him for jail-breaking weapons and found a pancake turner.

Crawford Had Varied Career Along Coast

William H. Crawford, who died Wednesday at his residence at 972 Parrish st., was born at Philadelphia, Pa., March 11, 1877. After attending the University of Pennsylvania he spent two years in Japan representing an export firm.

He returned to start a machinery brokerage in San Francisco and sold the first air brakes ever on street cars in that city. In 1908 he moved to Portland where he became state sales manager for the engineering firm of Charles C. Moore and Co. Later he helped P. G. Simmen, an inventor, promote the use of a train control which eventually became standard equipment on railroads.

In the early 20's Crawford traversed the nation to attract industries to the then-new town of Longview, Wash. After a position with the California-Oregon Power company in southern Oregon he returned to San Francisco where he took a Chamber of Commerce post as a promoter of new industries.

He came to Salem from that city.

Teen-Agers Said Responsible for Robeson Rioting

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 7-(AP)—Teen-agers were responsible for most of the violence that occurred after Paul Robeson's concert near Peekskill Sunday, the Westchester county district attorney said today.

In a preliminary report to Governor Dewey on the post-concert disorders, Prosecutor George M. Fanelli said his investigation indicated that 70 persons were injured and that "most of the damage and trouble came from teen-agers who had no connection with veteran groups."

Fanelli told the governor that state and Westchester police had "accomplished an insuperable job of preventing fatalities."

Unions Level Strike Threats At 3 Railroads

By The Associated Press

Strike threats were leveled Wednesday at three railroads by independent brotherhoods.

While 30,000 workers on the Missouri Pacific railroad made ready to go through with their strike at 3 p. m. (EST) Friday two more strikes were ordered on inter-plant connecting railroads in the Pittsburgh district.

The strikes in the Pittsburgh district could seriously affect steelmaking operations and idle upwards of 100,000 workers in a few days.

Wages are not involved in the disputes. A spokesman for the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, engine men and firemen, and railroad trainmen said they have 282 unsettled claims involving about $3,000,000 in the Missouri Pacific dispute. The order of railway conductors is expected to follow the lead of the other three brotherhoods.

The strike call on the Pittsburgh district inter-connecting railroads results from disputes about working rules.

W. P. Kennedy, president of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen, ordered 1200 brakemen and conductors on the Union railroad to strike at 6:30 a. m. (EST) Tuesday, Sept. 13. At the same time he ordered a strike on the Monongahela connecting railroad for 3 p. m. Saturday, September 10.

Sonja Henie to Wed Socialite

NEW YORK, Sept. 7-(AP)—Skating star Sonja Henie will be married next week to Winthrop Gardner, jr., socialite, aviation executive and former test pilot.

The announcement, issued through a public relations firm, said the wedding would take place Sept. 15, but did not say where it would be held.

It will be the second marriage for Miss Henie and the fourth for Gardner. Her marriage to Daniel Reid Topping, tin plate heir and partner of the New York Yankees, ended in divorce. Gardner formerly was married to Mildred Shay, Bethany Ann (Babs) Beckwith of Miami, and Frances Lattimer. All three marriages ended in divorce.

Cottage Grove to Fete Finish of Dorena Dam

EUGENE, Sept. 7-(AP)—The completion of the $14,000,000 Dorena dam will be celebrated at Cottage Grove October 23.

High Oregon officials have been invited to the ceremony, planned by the chamber of commerce. The dam is now nearly finished, and the pool may begin to fill by the end of this month.

Mid-Valley Towns Slate Time Changes

McMINNVILLE, Sept. 7-(AP)—McMinnville, Dayton and Carlton will all revert to standard time at 2 a. m., September 12.

Three other Yamhill county towns—Newberg, Willamina, and Sheridan—will wait until September 25, when Portland resumes standard time, to make the shift.

Salem Clubs Granted Master Locker Permits

Sen. Connally Claims Chiang Turned Thief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7-(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) told the senate today that Chiang Kai-shek deserted his people and "abandoned" to Formosa with $138,000,000 in gold.

The Texan turned bitter criticism on the generalissimo in opposing any U. S. military aid for non-communist China.

"Chiang Kai-shek deserted his people to go to Formosa," Connally shouted, adding that he fled with $138,000,000 rightfully belonging to the Nationalist government.

Chiang is no longer leader of the Nationalist government, Connally said, and no one can say who are the responsible leaders in non-communist China who should be given aid.

Connally is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and the Truman administration's chief spokesman on foreign affairs.

The Texan engaged in a caustic exchange with Senator Knowland (R-Calif) when Knowland demanded that Secretary of Defense Johnson order the joint chiefs of staff to proceed to the far east to confer with Gen. MacArthur on the China situation.

The joint chiefs are now in Alaska, where they are inspecting U. S. defense outposts.

The clash was a prelude to the "main show" fight over military aid to China which is certain to break out later this month when the $1,450,000,000 global arms program comes up.

Knowland has offered an amendment to provide China with military help at the discretion of President Truman.

Mystery Fall Kills Deb in Mid-Atlantic

BOSTON, Sept. 7-(AP)—The liner Excalibur anchored in Boston harbor tonight, its Atlantic voyage marred by a stairway fall which cost the life of a Texas debutante and caused serious injury to a young man companion.

A coast guard cutter met the American export liner as it arrived with the body of Adrienne Atwell, 20, of Dallas, Robert M. Willard, 21, of 4209 Arcady, Dallas, was carried aboard the cutter on a stretcher and later taken to Peter Bent Brigham hospital.

Miss Atwell and Willard suffered head injuries in a fall down a nine-foot stairway between the boat and promenade decks last Saturday. The cause of the fall was not known.

The girl, granddaughter of Federal Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, was returning from a Mediterranean cruise with her parents, Atty. and Mrs. Webster Atwell, and a party of college friends. She died early yesterday despite the efforts of three doctors.

Two doctors, each representing the steamship line, and five company officials, boarded the Excalibur after she anchored.

One official, Allison Graham, who identified himself as public relations manager, told newsmen that Capt. Samuel N. Groves of Brooklyn, N. Y., gave him this account of the stairway fall:

About 0620, Greenwich time, last Saturday (120 a. m. EST) morning, Miss Atwell and Willard were ascending the stairway between decks. Witness reported they were walking up the two and a half-foot-wide stairs nearly side by side.

When about halfway up, they fell backward and landed on the promenade deck.

Capt. Groves said the sea was fairly calm at the time of the couple's fall.

Miss Atwell's father said the accident was "most inexplicable" since the sea was only moderately rough and the stairs were those generally used by all the passengers.
