Two of the more destitute (just ask 'em) coaches in the prep whirl this time are Gene Barrett at Mt. Angel and Lee Ragsdale at Medford. Gene is operating sans 15 lettermen of 1948, nine of which were regulars. Ragsdale is even worse off, as he has but three of his first 18 players of last season, and not a one of the three is a member of the feather-footed corps that was classed as one of the fastest prep teams in the state a year ago . . . But then the boys have company in the wails department. You should ask Harold Hauk at the Vik Villa about his prospects for 1949-50 basketball if you want to hear some screaming . . . C. Stockhouse and his Bearcats may not make much of a dent in the Idaho Vandals Saturday, and cannot be expected to even though they'll be trying to the hilt. But we'll betcha a few of the Idaho ends will know they've been in a rough ball game. The flanker in Stackhouse's Model-T often comes sweeping in at full steam to ram a block on the opposing end as he comes across the scrimmage line, and when timed just right it's murder on Mr. Wingman.

If he doesn't see that flanker coming he'll think he got in the way of the Westbound Limited . . . A "Salem Senator Fans" group in the Liberty area asks that we give full comparison of the seasons played by second-sackers Wayne Peterson and Al Spaeter. Apparently the gang wants to know just how the two finished up, inasmuch as Peterson wound up with Spaeter's job after Al was traded off to Tacoma. The figures for the entire season (fielding marks unavailable until next month): Peterson-Games 149, At Bat 633, Runs 95, Hits 163, Total Bases 220, Doubles 22, Triples 4, Home Runs 9 Runs Batted In 57 and Percentage .258. Spaeter-Games 142, At Bat 563, Runs 71, Hits 148, Total bases 183, Doubles 27, Triples 4, Home Runs 0, Runs Batted in 63 and Percentage .263 . . . Clint Cameron's .378 batting mark to take the 1949 WIL individual title doesn't amount to a league record, but it is the second best total to be compiled in loop history at that. Record holder is Earl Kuper the Tacoma catcher who biffed .389 in 1947. Then comes Cameron's .378 of this year, Smead Jolley's .373 for Spokane in 1940 and Archie Wilson's .369 for Victoria in '48. About the only major records established this year were the 180 double plays by Vancouver and the 43 home runs by Jim Warner of Wenatchee. The Caps bettered the 177 notched by Tacoma last season, and Warner lowered the mark of 40 round trippers rapped by Bill Barisoff of Bremerton in 1946 . .

Kyne 'Put on the Dawg' at Bay Meadows Opener

Before it goes any farther-and it has gone much too far alreadyplease let it be known that despite how much we would like to see the Senators purchased and operated as a home-owned club, we are in no way, shape or form angling for any job connected with the club. Not even so much as selling peanuts, for which we believe we might be best qualified. We are quite satisfied where we are and, to be right truthful, would rather take to the lunch bucket and time clock than tangle with any part of a baseball managerial niche. Gad, that's as eight hits. He was aided by two bad as being a coach. And we're not immune to ulcers . . . Hoss rac-Ing maestro Bill Kyne had himself quite an opening day at Bay Meadows (San Mateo, Cal.) Tuesday. First were the races of course. But just before they got under way Kyne had 25 professional and society models decked out in the latest fashions and promenading about the place. After the sixth race Kyne mounted a special platform at the finish line and, along with Ezzard Charles, Joe Louis and Pat Valening maestro Bill Kyne had himself quite an opening day at Bay Meafinish line and, along with Ezzard Charles, Joe Louis and Pat Valentino signed the papers for the upcoming Charles-Valentino title fight in San Francisco's Cow Palace. As a gesture of good measure, Kyne had 5000 orchids flown from Hawaii which were presented to the femme fans. Promotion? One could learn a major lesson from Mr. K. . . . (P.S. The quiniella payoffs for the Tuesday races were steenko.)

WVL Grid Grads Land on College Teams

At least five of last fall's more outstanding Willamette Valley league footballing flock have landed in colleges, and may be heard from within the next two or three seasons. Silverton's hard-hitting Ray Myers and Woodburn's rugged lineman Jim Gay have turned out at Willamette. Mt. Angel's Gale Buccheit is at Oregon State, and the two Penner twins, Dean and Doug, who also played for the Preps last fall are said to be doing right well at Portland U . . . Viking Grad Cub Houck isn't among the more prominently mentioned Beavers as they wade into their opener Friday night at UCLA, but remember he's but a sophomore. We still think the rugged lad will work into Kip Taylor's plans later on, even if not this season . . .

Matchmaker Elton Owen of the matadors had hoped to have former world heavy champ Ray Steele in tow for much of the referring chores at the armory this winter, but the 49-year-old Steele who was officiating here not long ago died of a heart attack in Boise Sunday . . . Vancouver News-Herald baseball writer Clancy Loranger's pick for the 1949 WIL All-Star team manager wasn't Joe Orengo, or Bill Brenner, but Bill Beard . . . The Bearcats will have two offensive formations to contend with Saturday at Moscow, for Dixie Howell's self-styled "Maybe-T" system calls for some plays to be run from T-formation and other from the Notre Dame box, after a shift from the T . . .
