After a short business meeting the girls were entertained by Father Carl Mai, who gave a vivid description of his recent trip to Germany. The evening concluded with Bernard Lulay showing home movies. Refreshments were served by those on the committee.

Gardening Today

By Lillie L. Madsen

Fall-time is bulb planting time in the Willamette valley. Some bulbs should be planted almost at once. Others, like some of the hardy garden lilies cannot be had until November or early December. Garden lilies should be planted as soon as possible after they are received.

Each year we have a bit of difficulty in the narcissus and daffodil world. Someone writes in and wants to know "which is which." In a general way, daffodil and narcissus mean the same thing. Daffodil is really the common name for some varieties of the narcissus family. Common usage among garden makers in this country has applied the term daffodil to the large trumpet varieties, while the smaller or medium trumpet, as well as the cluster-flowered and poet's types are referred to as narcissus.

Botanically, these smaller or medium trumpet daffodils are the barri, incomparabilis, leedsii, poeticus, poetaz, polyanthus and miniature types. The true jonquils and campernelles are small-flowered and sweet-scented.

Bulbs should be planted 4 to 8 inches deep and 6 to 10 inches apart depending on the size of the bulb and the nature of the soil. Do not put animal fertilizer near any of the bulbs. A little bonemeal mixed with soil, if it is depleted, is beneficial. Some well-decayed barnyard fertilizer mixed well with the soil which covers the bulb, if it does not come in contact with the bulb itself, is also good. Last early February I scattered some complete fertilizer over the top of the soil where the bulb plants were coming through the ground and had excellent results. Experts will tell you that too much fertilizer shortens the life of many bulbs.

Tulips should not be planted in soil in which they have been grown during the past two seasons. Select a new location in a sunny position. Be sure the soil is well drained. Plant bulbs 5 to 6 inches deep and 6 to 8 inches apart. Crocus should be planted 3 to 4 inches apart and about 2 inches deep. Avoid formal arrangement when planting these in the lawn. They are lovely in the spring beneath trees where they get a bit of shade. They will not thrive in wet, poorly drained, heavy soil. They like a rather dry and fairly rich soil.

Among the lesser bulbs you might be interested in are the Mariposa tulip or lily. These, frequently called Cat's ears in the Willamette valley, come in a variety of colors. Bulbs should be planted from 2 1/2 inches to 3 inches deep and 3 to 6 inches apart in full sun or only partial shade. Those who have gardened long, have their own preferences as to varieties in the different types of bulb. The newcomer to the Willamette garden—or to gardening at all—may enjoy having the names of a few reliable varieties.

It is for the latter group I attach these lists. The varieties are not necessarily new. They are chosen because they are generally light and rather reliable as to culture. Mariposa tulips—Splendens, a clear, unspotted lavender. Clavatus, one of the larger varieties, in deep golden yellow without markings.

Daffodils—this list is very difficult to limit) white: Beersheba, Pearl Harbor, Polar Sea. Deep yellow: Crocus, Galway, Goldigger, Warwick. With bright cups—Fortune's Sun, Bahram, Campfire, Damson, Firetail, Kimba, Scarlet Leader. Then there are such special ones as Actaea, Dian Kasner, Daisy Schaffer, Silver Chimes (one of my favorites), Hera (a white with a faint lemon edge on the cup, and another one of my favorites), Thalia, Whiteley Gem.

Questions and Answers
S. D. asks if she should put a layer of fertilizer over her bearded iris this fall.
Ans. No. Bearded irises do not want too rich a soil. Perhaps a little bonemeal dug into the soil this fall if the soil is very poor. Animal fertilizers should not be used with bearded irises.

F. G. asks how early this fall she can set out camellias.
Ans. Any time. Camellias really can be transplanted at any time of the year if they are properly balled. If planted during the summer, they naturally will take quite a bit of water. Even if planted this late they may yet need some watering before the real winter rains set in.

P. C. asks if Abutilon is hardy here. Says she has seen some growing outdoors.
Ans. No. The Abutilon usually winter kills here, if left out doors. Cuttings may be made now and grown indoors during the winter and set out again in spring.
