Nine Indicted By Special Grand Jury

Seven men and two juveniles were indicted at a special session of the Marion county grand jury Wednesday.

Earl Knothe and Richard Baller, both of Silverton, were indicted on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minor girls. The charges involved Knothe on June 5 and Baller on June 20.

A true bill was returned against Albert J. Wilson, 160 Union st., on a charge of larceny of an auto September 13 from Estella E. Pomeroy in Salem.

Everett Ward, Stayton, was indicted on a charge of promoting a lottery at his tavern. Ward was arrested July 13 by the sheriff's office and three punchboards were confiscated at that time.

Two Silverton men, Robert McCully, 20 and Larry Fields, 21, were indicted on charges of giving alcoholic liquor to a minor boy September 14.

Indictment on a charge of attempting to pass a bad $40 check at Vince's Electric, 157 S. Liberty st., September 21 was returned against Roy Clifford Bruuas, a transient from Baltic, S. D. He was arrested last week by city police and charged with attempting to obtain money under false pretenses.

Two Salem juveniles were indicted on charges of assault with intent to commit rape against a Salem woman July 28.

No parents of delinquent children were indicted at the session. Such action had been considered by District Attorney E. O. Stadter, Jr., as a measure to attempt to slow juvenile crime which has been heavy in this area recently.

Ohio Educator To Survey State Schools

Oregon's public schools will be surveyed by an Ohio educator, the state board of education decided here Wednesday.

Dr. Thomas A. Holy of Ohio State university will make the survey of effectiveness and administration of schools, as authorized by the state legislature's interim committee to investigate schools.

In another action, the education board instructed Rex Putnam, state educational department head, to determine whether Lewis and Clark college, University of Portland and Pacific university are qualified to offer elementary teacher training programs. Besides checking these for undergraduate courses Putnam will see if University of Oregon may conduct graduate level education schooling.

The board named Mannette Schmuki a vocational rehabilitation counselor for the state tuberculosis hospital here and gave three months' leave to Elmer Sullivan, farm training program supervisor, to enable him to take part in army maneuvers at Hawaii, as a reserve officer.

Another board action reduced from $25 to $10 the out-of-state resident's tuition fee per term at Oregon Technical institute, Klamath Falls. That school also was authorized to seek a federal license to operate a radio station.
