

Some of 'Em Got Deer, but...

Thousands of Oregon hunters hit the woods for deer last week end, and many downed their bucks. But few, if any had the experience of Fred B. McKinney, 535 Locust street, Salem, pictured above with a 150-pound black bear. McKinney was deer hunting alone, near Grande Ronde. He came upon Mr. Bruin, however, who wouldn't stay down after a first shot in the charging bear's mouth, ended with the gun barrel practically in the charging bear's mouth, ended the issue. McKinney says he would rather not see any more bear for awhile.

Rollin' Along

by Jerry Stone

After long delay looks like the Frankie Evans - Sammy Steinbock match-game bowling duel is at last on tap for the near future. The pair tentatively have set Sunday, Oct. 16 for the start of their duel which will net the winner a $500 pot. They'll wheel 10 games on the Capitol lanes and then will finish up with 10 more on the following Sunday. . . . Sammy has the rep of being one of the very best matchmakers in the Rose City, but he'll have to be at his peak to better our Frankie who has amassed some startling pin totals heretofore in the last six months . . . .

Links Contrast

You won't find much greater contrast in golfing styles than that offered Sunday when Jack Russell and Leo Estey tee off for the Salem Golf club crown. Russell boasts one of the smoothest

LEO ESTEY
Not Stylist But—

swings in the valley is aptly termed a stylist—while rival Leo is just about as unorthodox a linkster as you'll find around. Leo's form doesn't follow the book but he's perennially a threat in local tournaments. The pair, incidentally, met once before in an agreement—namely, that Gordy Sloan scored Salem high's touchdown against Albany Friday night and Burt Harp booted the conversion. But now the revelation! It was, in reality, Jim Rock who registered all seven points. Hafza blame it on the peculiar position of the Waters park press box. The scribes and radio men were only a good 125 yards away from the scene at the time. . . . If television was the vogue in this vicinity we'd certainly pack a video set up in the coop next time. . . .

Mistaken Identity

The spotters thought so, we thought so and guess just about everybody else in the press was in agreement—namely, that Gordy Sloan scored Salem high's touchdown against Albany Friday night and Burt Harp booted the conversion. But now the revelation! It was, in reality, Jim Rock who registered all seven points. Hafza blame it on the peculiar position of the Waters park press box. The scribes and radio men were only a good 125 yards away from the scene at the time. . . . If television was the vogue in this vicinity we'd certainly pack a video set up in the coop next time. . . .

This One's Better

Speaking of press perches, hands off to WU for the new box and to 'Cat Facility Chief Travis Cross in particular for trying to make all the scribes as happy as the glass-front Bearcat coop was a bit on the tordid side in Saturday's summy weather but she'll be a beaut when the south wind howls and the rains come tumbling down. . . .

Lace Bowl Asked for UW, 'Frog

ORANGE, Tex., Oct. 4.—(AP)—And now the ultimate inoposeason football games -- the Lace Bowl. Members of Orange's Screwball club, affected perhaps by the strain of waiting out a hurricane which didn't quite make the city, proposed the game today. The prospective opponents: Texas Christian and the University of Washington. In a post-hurricane meeting over their coffee cups this morning, the Screwball club members voted to consider promoting this struggle.

Said a spokesman for the Screwballs: "T. C. U. is claiming that Arkansas played too rough last week and the University of Washington is howling over the fact that Notre Dame was overly rugged. We think this suggests a post-season meeting of the Frogs and Huskies because they both seem to prefer a mild brand of football. "Suitable lace-trimmed uniforms will be provided if we can arrange the game and tea will be served at each time out. "We propose to call it the Lace Bowl and attendance will be limited to ladies."

Viks Continue Bend Drills

Locals to Go After 2nd Loop Win Friday

Salem high's grid Vikings, one Big Six league win under their respective belts in one loop outing, will be after their second circuit victory in a row Friday night as they play host to Bend's Lava Bears at Waters park.

BIG SIX STANDINGS

W L Pct.	W L Pct.
Corvallis 10 1,000	Albany 6 2,000
Eugene 10 1,000	Bend 0 2,000
Salem 10 1,000	Springfield 0 2,000

This week's game: Bend at Salem; Albany at Ashland; Springfield at Klamath Falls; Cottage Grove at Eugene; Corvallis at Milwaukie.

cuit victory in a row Friday night as they play host to Bend's Lava Bears at Waters park. If the Viks can notch a decision over the Bend bunch they'll go into a top-place tie with Eugene and Corvallis which play non-league foes this weekend.

The Viks, spirits high, romped through a scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon in the wet weather, and afterward Coach Loren Mort said his gang showed definite improvement in their fundamentals work and also looked like they had overcome some of the defensive weaknesses which were apparent in the Albany tussle last Friday eve. The improved work of 205-pound Frank Parker likely will earn him a starting berth at right guard against the Bends and another end who seems likely to break into the starting eleven is Dick Schweitz, senior halfback. Another who has moved to the fore is Burt Harp, a probable starter at fullback Friday night. Captain Jim Rock will switch back to left half post. Mort plans more scrimmages for this afternoon, with tapering drills set for Thursday.

Clubmen Book Grid Tooters

The Salem Breakfast club's third meeting of the season, Friday morning, 7:30 o'clock at Noblgen's, should prove indeed interesting to those who haven't yet been able to decipher the arm-waving signals on the striped-shirt officials on the gridiron. President Al Loucks has obtained the services of Johnny Kolb, president of the Salem Officials association, and some of his whistle and horn tooters to demonstrate many of the new rules interpretations and signals which are in effect for the first time this season. Loucks urges a full turnout of members and guests.

Kiser, Weaver Mash to Draw

Buck (The Bad Man) Weaver may still hold the Coast light-heavy mat title belt today, but he has a companion who has just as much claim to it as he has. That would be Tiger Jack Kiser, the pugna who last night pinned a tie with Weaver in their title scrap at the armory. Referee Harry Elliott was almost as much a part of the torrid clash as were Kiser and Weaver, and it was Harry's decision at the finish which gave Kiser the tie. Both gladiators had nabbed a fall—Weaver the first with his reverse jumping head twister and Kiser with a full crab after battering Weaver with flying butts. It was the climax of this second fall that brought about eventual proceedings.

Vancouver Ball Park Gets Okay

VANCOUVER, Oct. 4.—(AP)—City council today approved in principle a proposal by Sicks' Capilano Breweries to build a $300,000 baseball stadium on the 13-acre little mountain site. Sicks' proposed calls for a 5,000-seat, unroofed stadium, financed by a $300,000 bond issue at three per cent taken up in full by the company. The new ballpark will house the Vancouver Capilanos of the Western International league.

Padres Defeat Stars, Opener

Linde Pitches 6-1 Win, PCL Playoffs

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Lyman Linde, San Diego right-hander, pitched four-hit ball tonight as the Padres defeated Hollywood, 6 to 1, in the first game of the final Pacific Coast league Governors Cup playoffs.

Linde had a one-bitter going into the seventh inning. Herb Gorman led off the second with a home run to give the Stars a brief lead. The Padres came back in their half to score three tallies. Dain Clay, Dee Moore and Why Wietelmann singled in order for the first score. Linde sacrificed. Then Bobby Wilson singled to left to score Moore and Wietelmann. In the fifth, Max West doubled and came home when Gene Handley threw the ball into the dugout on Harvey Storey's single. West slammed his 50th home run of the year and his second in the playoffs in the seventh. Buster Adams, who had walked, scored ahead of him. Hollywood --010 000 000--1 4 1 San Diego --030 010 20*--6 11 1 Maltzberger, Oliver (2), Roy (6) and Sandock; Linde and Moore.

He said they pointed their rifles at him, and one of them fired a bullet into the dead animal's hind-quarters. Then the strangers announced that the carcass had one of their bullets in it and was theirs. At gunpoint, they ordered Thomas to go away.

Aiken hinted at several changes in the starting lineup, stemming from the Ducks' sad showing against UCLA.

BUYS

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—If we were Casey Stengel we would have hung a lantern out at second base at Yankee stadium Sunday night, tethered Yogi Berra at home plate with a couple of bushels of baseball, and told him to throw at that lantern until he toppled over. Casey might even have hired a small boy to toss firecrackers at Yogi, just to give him a taste of what to expect in the world series when things start popping around him.

Those Dodgers are liable to drive Yogi crazy when they get on the bases, and unless he can hit second base through force of habit he's liable to spray the ball all over the centerfield bleachers. In other words, we think it's going to be a running series, and we have an idea the Dodgers will outrun the Yanks. Maybe about four games to three. The Yankees have one great baserunner — two when Joe Dimaggio is in the best form. The one guy is Phil Rizuto, who is a Dodger in his style of play. He can give a pitcher and a catcher the heebie-jeebies because he just won't stay put. In contrast, however, the Dodgers have Jackie Robinson, and Peeewe Reese, and Carl Furillo, and Duke Snider, and Eddie Miksis — all of whom can run like thieves.

That's really the only reason we like the Dodgers in the series — their base running. We think the clubs are about equal in power and fielding ability, and we give the Yankees the edge in pitching. That edge we think might be offset by the case of nerves the Brooklyn speed boys will give them once they start

Irish, UW Talk More Amiable

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The storm blown by four white-tooters in the Notre Dame-Washington football game Saturday faded to a gentle breeze today. Notre Dame which won the game at Seattle, 27-7, but hollered at the officiating, said there was nothing personal as far as the University of Washington was concerned.

Officiating Storm Dies to Soft Breeze

Washington, in turn, also scoffed the idea that the episode meant the two schools would never tussle on the grid anymore. At a Chicago football writers meeting, Irish athletic director Edward (Moose) Krause explained: 1. Notre Dame coach Frank Leahy acted "merely as a coach defending against dirty football interference" when he blasted officiating which inflicted 135 yards in penalties on the Irish. 2. Right after the game, he (Krause) discussed possible future games with athletic director Marvey Cassill of Washington. (Saturday's tilt ended a two-year series between Notre Dame and Washington). 3. Movies of Saturday's game showed that instances of Notre Dame holding as interpreted by the officials were wrongly called. At Seattle, Joseph Drumheller, president of the University of Washington board of regents, declared: "Through one or two members of the board may consider that the huskies were on the receiving end of unnecessarily rough play by Notre Dame. I don't think there is any concerted feeling we should condemn Notre Dame or let Saturday's game have an effect on our future relationship with the Irish."

Gordon Beats 'Baby Dutch'

PORTLAND, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Big-rugged Hardrock Gordon, 184-pound slugger from Roseburg, Ore., won a ten-round decision over Baby Dutch Culbertson, 176, Los Angeles, in their featured boxing bout here tonight. Culbertson was slowed some in the first three rounds after the Oregon fighter had cut up one of the Californian's eyebrows in the initial round. In the semifinal, Don Rogers, 136, Portland, won by a technical knockout at the end of the seventh round over Mickey Gemmill, 138, Redding, Calif. Gemmill had a bad cut over one eye and was unable to answer the bell for the eighth of their scheduled ten round bout. In the preliminaries: Joe Pete, 132, Salem, won a four-round decision over Larry Reagan, 128, Hermiston. Johnny Jennings, 171, Boise, Idaho, won a four-round decision over Ken Kaas, 173, Roseburg. Chuck Maxwell, 185, Corvallis, knocked out Keller Wagner, 192, Salem, in the third round of their scheduled four-rounder.

Classic Faces Rain Threat

Reynolds to Oppose Roe or Don Newcomb

By Ted Smith
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Threat of rain cast a gray shadow tonight over the golden world series

Salem radio station KSLM, hooked up with the Mutual system will hit the air daily during the world series at 9:45 a. m. station official Earle Heardrick has announced. Fifteen minutes of
