

Bruin-Indian Clash to Feature PCC Action

By Russ Newland
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6-(AP) Coast conference title hopes of Stanford and the University of California at Los Angeles go on the block in their vital football game at Palo Alto, Saturday.
 At Los Angeles, the Southern California Trojans have responsibility for helping add to coast prestige in the meeting with high scoring Ohio State.
 Washington, a league contender, makes its conference bow against Oregon State. Oregon, once beaten, hopes to get back into contention in its engagement with Washington State.
 Top conference interest focuses on the UCLA-Stanford clash. The UCLA Bruins have done everything asked thus far, behind the sound coaching of Henry "Red" Sanders. They've vaulted from the status of "sleeper" to solid contender. Victories over Oregon State and favored Oregon, in the eyes, and over Iowa in an inter-sectional, were impressive.

 Pre-game favoritism goes to UCLA. Stanford stock fell off after last week's thrubbing by a superior Michigan team. Stanford supporters still string with their club, nevertheless, in the belief its speed and passing attack will function more effectively this time.
 Southern California failed to show much in bowling over Washington State 35-7 in its first conference contest. The game with Ohio State however, is expected to produce a good line on Coach Jeff Cravath's stable squad. Southern California's wealth of material, plus the advantage of playing on its home field, affords a slight edge over Ohio State.

 The same small marginal chance goes to UCLA, although Coach Marchie Schwartz of Stanford considers the outcome a toss-up.
 Oregon figures over Washington State and Washington rates the nod over Oregon State.
 California, also a formidable challenger for conference honors, is favored to give coast football a boost at Madison where the Bears meet Wisconsin.

Red Hots for the Weekend: (Or, Pairs, Pigskin Prognostications)

By Al (Swami) Lightner
 More Friday foolish frolicking, or, a sucker's serenade!
COLLEGE
 Oregon over WSC—the Ducks will be in a nasty mood after last week. OSC over Washington—this is their week to be "on." College of Idaho over Willamette—all good things must come to an end. UCLA over Stanford—the Bruins are bustin'. California over Wisconsin—so are the Bears. Santa Clara over Portland—the men vs. the boys again. Ohio State over USC—more Big Ten supremacy over PCC. Monmouth "U" over Pacific college—they'll need an adding machine to tally the OCE points. Pacific U over Linfield—the PU's are still the threat. Michigan over Army, Oklahoma over Texas, Vanderbilt over Mississippi, Minnesota over Northwestern, Notre Dame over Purdue, Georgia over Kentucky, Illinois over Iowa, Villanova over St. Mary's, Cornell over Harvard, North Carolina over South Carolina, Texas Christian over Indiana, Nebraska over Kansas State, Utah over Brigham Young, Alabama over quesse, Duke over Navy.
HIGH SCHOOL
 Salem over Bend—Viks like the taste of victory. Sandy over Dallas—this isn't a Dragon year. Albany over Ashland—still be a toughie. Eugene over Cottage Grove—four straight. Corvallis over Milwaukie—narrow. St. Paul over Aumsville—ditto. Mill City over Jefferson. Sublimity over Chemawa. Gervais over Turner. Ketchikan over all.
 (Battling average to date: College—43 right, 11 wrong for .796. High school—11 right, 11 wrong for .500. Next week, "East Linn.")

Dodgers Pull Even in Series

 Robinson opened the way for the Dodger victory when he led off the second with a solid smack into left and tore into second base stalling up. The fleet Negro then put on a sliding piece of base running when, on Gene Hermanski's high foul some 30 feet back of first base, he took for third after the catch and slid in without even drawing a throw.
 After snaring the foul, Jerry Coleman, Yank second baseman, slipped on the damp grass and fell. By the time he picked himself up it was much too late to head off Robinson.
 As it happened, the play didn't prove of importance, as Hodges' ensuing clout into left would just as easily have scored Robinson from second. But the dash served warning on the Yankees that their speedy National league rivals had on their cunning clothes.
 The only other time the Brooks threatened Rasch seriously was in the fourth, when Hermanski lined a hit into right center and raced to third as the ball took a freak hop past Joe DiMaggio and rolled to the fence before Hank Bauer could run it down.
 When Rackley, the next hitter, swung and sent a slow roller to the right of the mound, Hermanski barreled for home and went in with spikes flying. But Coleman made a neat, running pick-up of the ball and fired it to Catcher-Charlie Silvera just ahead of the runner. Hermanski beefed violently at Umpire Beans Reardon's decision, but he remained out.

'Gorgeous George' to Appear On Armory Mat Tuesday Night

"Gorgeous George," the perfumed and marcelled character who for the past couple of years has been the No. 1 wrestling attraction in the country, will invade the armory arena for an appearance next Tuesday night, the headline attraction on Matchmaker Elton Owen's weekly mat card.
 The "Gorgeous One," who years ago got his start in the mat game as plain George Wagner and did much of his bicepiping in Salem and other Oregon points, is one of the top nasties in the squirm fraternity along with his ability as A-1 showman. Matchmaker Owen has been months in attempting to lure the fabulous goat to this area and finally has succeeded.
 Wagner will clash with Al Szasz, the popular and capable Hungarian hero who has won many followers at the armory. Their main event will be supported by prelim to be announced later this week by Owen.
 "George" will be fully equipped with his valet, silvery hair-do, perfume, plush carpet, gaudy robes, etc. There will be no advance in the ticket prices, in keeping with Owen's policy of bringing in the best mat talent possible at popular prices.

Yanks Remain Slim Favorite

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6-(AP)—New York still is the favorite to win the World Series, but the odds were trimmed sharply by betting commissioner James J. Carroll after Brooklyn's triumph today.
 The odds on the Yankees were 3 to 4, on the Dodgers 11 to 10. A better would have to put up $4 to win $3 on the Yankees winning the championship, but a $10 bet would win $11 in the event of a Dodger victory.

Youthful Hunter Bags Deer via Bulldogging

EUGENE, Oct. 6-(AP)—Arthur Cofer, Wendling high school student who went deer hunting last week end, had to turn cowpoke to bring the animal down.
 The three-point buck Arthur shot turned and charged him. The boy was planned to a tree. Remembering how cowboys bulldog steers to the ground, Arthur grabbed the animal's nose with one hand, an antler, with the other, and twisted. He was holding the deer safely when his father and an uncle ran up and delivered the final shot.

SBC to Hear Grid Tooters

The Salem Breakfast clubbers and their guests will this morning at 7:30 o'clock sit in on a special program at Nohlgren's restaurant designed to educate the football fan in the matter of the new college and high school grid rules and interpretations. President John Koib of the Salem Officials association will handle the rules explanations and clarifications, and will have members of his group present for demonstration, according to SBC Prexy Al Loucks.
 Club members are urged to attend in full, and to bring along a guest or two. Some special announcements are to be made by Loucks concerning future club meetings.

Foxes Battle Molalla Team

SILVERTON, Oct. 6-(Special) Coach Muri Anderson's Silverton Silver Foxes, still in unknown quality this season and boasting neither win nor defeat after two games, take on the Molalla Indians in the opening football game of the season here Friday night on McGinnis field. Game time is eight o'clock.
 The surprising Foxes first played Beaverton to a 7-7 tie and then last week battled Woodburn to a 13-13 deadlock. Since Molalla was picked as one of the top clubs in the WVI, this season, Anderson is anticipating a tough struggle in the local mix. The Indians were upset by Sandy last week, a warning that they will be anxious to regain the win column, according to the Foxes coach.

Dallas Slates Sandy Eleven

DALLAS, Oct. 6-(Special)—The Dallas Dragons Friday night tangle with the Sandy Pioneers here in a Willamette Valley league football game on Kresion field at eight o'clock. The Pioneers will be favored over Coach Ken Jacobsen's light and green locals as last week the Sandy team was upsetting Molalla in an opening game while Dallas was being defeated by Canby.
 Jacobsen has been working his team hard all week in an effort to strengthen it after the Canby game, and the Dragons will be shooting for an upset victory.

Some Shootin'

FOUR CORNERS, Oct. 6—Seventeen year old Donald Brant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brant, 4050 Beck ave., has a good start on a hunting record. Last year he went hunting for the first time and got his first deer with the first shot fired. This year he went hunting again and again he got a deer with the first shot. Donald is a junior in high school.

EFFORTS MAN VICTOR

SPOKANE, Oct. 6-(AP)—Jockey Bob Breckenridge rode Efforts Man to an easy three-length victory in the feature race at Playfair today.

UKE STAR BETTER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7-(AP)—Right End Roy Vujovich showed rapid improvement today from a groin injury and definitely will be able to perform for UCLA against Stanford at Palo Alto this week. Fullback Cliff Schroeder and Tackle Roy Jensen were in uniform but still troubled by knee injuries.
