Tea Meeting To Fete New Members

The Salem branch of the American Association of University Women will honor new and prospective members at a meeting and tea on Saturday, October 15, at 2 o'clock at Baxter hall on the Willamette university campus.

A program is being arranged by Miss Mildred Christenson and the speaker will be announced later. Miss Mabel Robertson, chairman of the membership committee, and her committee members, Miss Marjorie Chester and Mrs. John R. Goldsmith, will introduce new members of the association.

Chairmen of the AAUW study groups will outline their programs at the meeting. The association sponsors study groups in international relations, literature, child study, social studies and travel and also a recent graduate social group. A new gardening study group is being organized for the first time this year. The association may also sponsor groups in interior decoration, art, French and Spanish. Membership in several of these groups is open to women in the Salem area who desire to participate in the education program of the association but are not eligible for membership.

Miss Elise Schroeder, president, has announced that all women in the community who are interested in membership in the association are invited to attend. Women with approved degrees from AAUW approved institutions are eligible to national membership. Women not currently registered as undergraduates who have completed, as regularly matriculated students in any college or university as approved, at least two full years of non-professional work are eligible for associate membership in the Salem branch.

Following the meeting, tea will be served. Mrs. Custer E. Ross and Mrs. George Rossman will pour. Hostesses, appointed by Mrs. Gordon Carl, hospitality chairman, include Miss Ida Mae Smith, Miss Mary Ann Foley, Miss Jessica Kinsey, and Mesdames C. E. Gray, Maynard Nelson, Gordon O. Leonard, Howard I. Sargent, T. W. Churchhill, Wilbur S. Ankney and Norman W. Frees.

Mrs. W. O. Mills, decorations chairman for the branch, has appointed Mrs. George E. Allen as chairman of decorations for the tea with Mrs. Ellen A. Fisher assisting.

Spinsters will be entertained Monday night at the Market street home of Mrs. Carl G. Collins with Mrs. James H. Nicholson, Jr., and Miss Esther Baird assisting. Miss Betty Jean Manoles will preside at the meeting, at which plans will be made for the fall and winter activities of the philanthropic group.

Miss Julia Johnson, who is on the faculty at Lewis and Clark college, Portland, is spending the weekend in Salem with her mother, Leona Johnson.

Chadwick chapter, OSS social afternoon club will be entertained at 1:15 Sunday afternoon and evening party Tuesday at the Masonic temple. The hostess committee includes Mesdames F. A. Wheatley, Severin, Frank J. Jirak, J. E. England, F. E. Wilhelm, Clarence M. Bower, Jasper Barritt, F. C. Rock, Juliet Pincus, Core Smith, Edith Lushby, A. Oehler, Edith Kelly and R. G. Severin.
