20-40 Club Hears Poling At Dallas

By Harold Norberg
DALLAS — Civilization is now in one of its most challenging ages, Dr. Dan Poling told members and guests of the Polk county 20-40 club.
Dr. Poling, dean of men at Oregon State college, was featured speaker at the club's third annual banquet last week, which was attended by 150 persons at Rickreall grange.
Development of the atom bomb by Russia in an already troubled world has hastened this challenge, the dean declared. Physical science has gone far beyond political science and sociology, making understanding between nations vitally important.
The 20-40 club consists of persons between those ages who are interested in farming. Virgil Trick, president, acted as toastmaster for the annual banquet, and Dean Poling was introduced by N. John Hansen, Polk county agent.
Special guests included Walter Leth, former county agent; C. E. Hayes, county judge, and Claude Holsington, head of the Polk agricultural conservation association.
The musical program included vocal solos by Mrs. Curtis Lamb of Monmouth and J. P. Smart of Salem. Folk dancing under the direction of John Black of Monmouth followed in the grange ballroom.
