NEW YORK, Nov. 10—Tanks, field guns, bulldozers and fully loaded trucks can be driven up this loading ramp into the Air Force's new troop and cargo transport, the Douglas C-124 "Globemaster II." The clam-shell doors provide this loading hatch in the nose of the air force's largest production transport which was built at the Douglas plant at Long Beach, Calif. Loading of static cargo is facilitated by an electrically operated elevator which can be lowered from the center of the cargo section. (AP wirephoto from department of defense to The Statesman.)

PIPELINE CONFERENCE—Things are quite crowded in this Berlin sewer pipe as a trio of youngsters hold an after-school "jam session" on arithmetic problems.

Naval Airman Dies In Parachute Leap

CONDON, Ore., Nov. 10 (AP)—A parachuting naval airman died in a north central Oregon wheat-field last night. His body was found at dawn today. Six others aboard the faltering four-engine plane survived unhurt. Two leaped and four rode the plane down in the darkness to its crash landing 18 miles north of here.

Two of those who parachuted landed safely and made their way to a ranch house. Search was started for the missing 'chutist and at dawn a sheriff's party found his body. He was 20-year-old Donovan H. Earhart of Pipestone, Minn.

Judge Finds 'Write Way' to Slow Down Speeding Drivers

SUFFOLK, Va. (INS)—Trial Justice Marshall Bowden thinks he has found the "write way" to impress speeders and reckless drivers.

He sentenced Lewis Belote, 20, of Accomac, and George Salmon, 25, of Lynchburg to make two longhand copies each of the article "Danger—Teen-Age Killers At The Wheel," in the Reader's Digest.

The two youths agreed their slight case of writer's cramp might be a good cure for speeder's foot.

Veteran Bellboy Recalls Biggest Tip—An Automobile

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Twenty-six years ago John Pruden found work that suited him. He's been "hopping bells" ever since. "Some men go through life and never find the job they enjoy," says Pruden. "I may be a professional parasite—but I love it. I've been offered other positions, but when a man finds the job he's happy doing he should hang on to it."

John is bell captain at the Lafayette Hotel, and he'll have you know that there's a difference between a bell hop and a bell man. "Any hick from the sticks," as he puts it, can grab a suitcase and be a bell boy. You become a bell man when you realize the important thing is to keep the guest happy.

His biggest tip? An automobile from a guest (whom he won't name) who had to leave town suddenly and liked Johnny's service.

College Class Features Hot Jazz Artists

CLEVELAND, (INS)—Every Thursday evening the music that set two generations of Americans on their ear drifts from the hallowed halls of Cleveland college—and the strange part of it is that there's a class going on.

On those nights, newspaperman and former musician Julian Krawcheck lectures night students on music. But his music is the music that creeps along the spine, raises the temperature of the blood and brings tears to the eyes.

His music is jazz, beloved alike by those who make it along the dingy New Orleans waterfront, and by those who pack Carnegie Hall to listen to the best.

Krawcheck brings in as guest lecturers such artists as Bobby Hackett, a man born with a trumpet! Cow-Cow Davenport, pianist and blues composer, and the Dixie Dandies, termed by Downbeat the best Dixie-land band in the country.

Krawcheck and his rabid following trace jazz through the years and through the country, stopping off at Memphis, Whitman, Chicago, Fats Waller, New York, Krupa, speakeasies, Satchmo Armstrong and Carnegie Hall.

Wife Blames Comic Books for Divorce

SALT LAKE CITY, (INS)—A divorce petition filed in a Salt Lake district court charged the husband "frequently purchased comic books for the dozen and sat and read them all day and refused to take care of the baby or work around the house."

The petitioning wife charged the comic books caused her young husband to "fail and refuse" to accept the responsibility of being the head of the family.

British Plan Long Parachute Jumps

LONDON (AP)—Do you want to know how it feels to fall more than 30,000 feet? Four 23-year-old British youths hope to have the answer next year by attempting delayed parachute jumps from above 35,000 feet.

Among them the four have chalked up more than 300 training jumps from low and medium altitudes. For their big attempt—in which they plan to drop from 35,000 feet to below 3,000 before opening their special parachutes—they will use oxygen masks and carry various recording instruments.

This jump, they say, should contribute valuable information on the medical aspects of free falls from high altitudes. It should also give them a claim to an unofficial world record for delayed drops.

U.S. Gives Venetian Blinds to Venice

VENICE (INS)—The Mayor of Venice, in a brief ceremony received a "special gift" from the United States in tribute to Marco Polo.

The gift? American-made Venetian blinds.

Marco Polo never was sure just who first had the idea of tilting slats so that a viewer could look outside while entirely unobserved.

But six hundred and fifty years ago he brought home to the "City of Canals" a beautiful gold-encrusted gift which had magic strings.

When these strings were pulled, this thing opened golden pieces of wood and permitted the light to come through.

At another pull of the cord, the narrow gold pieces came together again.

As an attraction to stop passers-by, Marco and his brothers hung it in the window of their fabulous shop.

They called it a "Venetian Blind."

Loosened Hold On Germany Big 3 Agenda

PARIS, Friday, Nov. 11 (AP)—The foreign ministers of the United States, France and Britain announced today they had taken steps to support and foster the "progressive integration of the German people into the European community."

A communique issued after two days of meeting here said the ministers had taken this decision the expectation that the west German government "would give further evidence of its pacific intentions and its sincere desire to associate itself with those nations devoted to the cause of democracy and justice under law and peace."

The communique said the ministers had decided to give their high commissioners for western Germany "certain instructions and powers which will permit them to achieve the aims indicated above."

The communique did not say what specific powers had been given the high commissioners, but it was reliably reported earlier that the ministers had whittled out a new plan to give western Germany its freest hand since the war.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman had worked out details of the plan and submitted it to the foreign ministers of the Benelux nations—Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Benelux ministers were reported to have given it their okay.

English Munch Fried Seaweed

LONDON (INS)—Food experts in Britain are tangleing with the latest breakfast food—fried seaweed.

The new dish is already a staple breakfast item in many Welsh homes and increasing supplies are coming in from Scotland and Ireland.

It is the type of seaweed that trails long, cream-colored mane-like lengths on the shallow rocky pools along the coasts.

Leverbread, as it is known after processing, is being collected in large quantities, particularly along the coasts of the Welsh counties of Carmarthenshire and Pembrokeshire, and sent to factories in Swansea and Cardiff for distribution throughout Britain.

After straining, the weed is boiled and pressed. Usual method of preparing leverbread is dipping it in oatmeal and frying it. Its phosphorous and iodine content give it a high food value—according to experts.

Airline Prohibits Smoking of Pipe For Good Reason

LONDON, (INS)—Pakistanian clothing merchant Ibrahim Lahore arrived in London by air a very unhappy man. He was not allowed to smoke his beloved pipe on the journey.

Smoking aboard the aircraft was permissible, but when Ibrahim brought out his pipe both passengers and crew sternly objected.

Ibrahim's pipe was a hookah, weighing twelve pounds, with a large glass tobacco bowl connected by a twenty-four inch stem to an oil jar.

To smoke it he drew out three feet of rubber tubing and two pint bottles of oil for lubrication. "They said it was dangerous," said Ibrahim sadly when he landed at London airport.
