Russia Adds To Albanian Military Staff

By Alex H. Singleton

BELGRADE, Nov. 20 -(AP)- Responsible non-Yugoslav sources here said today Russia has increased substantially the number of Soviet military men stationed in Albania.

While an exact figure of the number of Soviet forces in Albania is not obtainable, the best informed guess places the number between 12,000 and 15,000, or about twice as many as there were four months ago.

Apparently authentic reports reaching Belgrade said the new arrivals appeared to be technicians, officers skilled in guerrilla warfare and training experts.

This could be more of the saber rattling which has been going on in the Cominform neighbors around Yugoslavia as a part of the war of nerves against the Cominform outcast—Premier Marshal Tito.

For Guerrilla War

Or — much more dangerous to Balkan peace — it could be a hint that there are plans in the wind for guerrilla hit-and-run warfare against Tito, with Albania as a base.

Such a scheme might have for its motivation the desire to goad Tito into retaliation and thus provide Russia an excuse for open military aid to Albania, with which Russia has a friendship treaty.

Alone, Albania would be a pushover for Tito's highly trained troops, but there are many other factors involved.

One is the fact that Albania has given shelter to thousands of Greek guerrilla troops who were driven out of Greece. There are reports here, without any confirmation, that these troops are being re-equipped for possible action against Yugoslavia.

Might Draw Off Troops

Another is the prospect that any intensive guerrilla activity on the Albanian border might force Tito to draw off troops now guarding Yugoslavia's lengthy borders against other Cominform patrols, incursions, sabotage and espionage.

Third, Tito has guarded against providing Russia any excuses despite more than a score of provocations of one sort or another. There is every reason to believe he will follow the same policy with regard to Albania, should anything develop there.

BRIDGES' DEFENSE COSTLY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20-(AP)- The defense of CIO Longshore Leader Harry Bridges, on trial in federal court on a perjury charge, will cost some $200,000, a union spokesman estimated today. Morris Watson, public information officer for Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, said the money is being raised generally.

Union Owns Coal Baron's Home

This handsome mansion in West Virginia that once housed a coal baron and his family now is the main office of United Mine Workers of the state. The union purchased the home in 1948.

Former Mine Owner's Estate Now Houses Officials of UMW

By Walton M. Rock
AP Newsfeatures

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—A handsome, pillared mansion stands on fashionable Kanawha boulevard facing the Kanawha river here.

It looks like a fitting home for a coal baron, which in fact it was. Its lawn, flagstone walk, boxwood shrubbery and grounds all are scrupulously kept, as are those of surrounding, equally pretentious homes in the neighborhood.

Miners Take Over

Only an inconspicuous, gold-lettered sign over the doorway distinguishes the place from its neighbors. The sign reads:

"District 17, U.M.W. of A." (United Mine Workers).

The union bought the estate in 1947 and moved in February of 1948 because it needed more room for a staff expanded to administer

Cost Was $85,000

It cost $85,000, plus several thousand more for necessary alterations and renovations.

In a second-floor, bay-windowed room overlooking the boulevard and the river sits bluff, burly Bill Blizzard, president of District 17.

Charles C. Payne, another UMW veteran and district vice president, occupies a similar room on the other side of the house.

General offices for union operations occupy other rooms.

Stories Come Out

Both Blizzard and Payne are mellowed somewhat by the years, but with only a little prodding they'll lean back, look out over the river, and spiel tales of a different day when the operators and the union were locked in a deadly and frequently violent war which very nearly resulted in destruction for the union.

Blizzard likes to thumb through a volume of the history of the UMW, one chapter of which, describing the first convention of District 17 at Wheeling in 1891, showed total cash balance of $48.21 in the treasury as of that date.

That's just 21 cents more than an ordinary miner pays annually in dues now, and at present there are some 40,000 coal diggers in district 17, all dues-paying members.

Does Princess Elizabeth Smoke? Clue Discovered

NICE, France, Nov. 20-(AP)-Does Princess Elizabeth smoke?

Amateur detectives among the waiters at the airport restaurant here thought they had some clues today. They served luncheon to the princess and her party during a brief stopover on her journey to Malta to join her husband, Prince Philip, for a visit.

During the luncheon the waiters noticed a package of Players cigarets at the princess' plate. Later, when they cleared the table, they found a saucer with a half-smoked Players on it.

No one actually saw the princess puffing.

The question of whether she does or does not smoke was raised in Britain recently when a photograph of her desk showed an ashtray on it. Her younger sister, Princess Margaret, later was seen smoking in public.

Salem Man Buys Astoria Hudson Auto Agency

Purchase of the Kirk and Uhl automobile agency, Hudson dealers, at Astoria was announced Sunday by N. D. Clement, Salem, who will take possession December 1. Former owners were Curtis Uhl and William Kirk.

Clement has recently been associated with Shrock Motor company in Salem and has been in business here and in Eugene for more than 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement, who reside at 245 E. Wilson st., plan to move to Astoria soon. They have one married daughter and one attending Oregon State college.

Housing Gains Made in October

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20-(AP)- This year's housing boom made new gains in October, the federal housing administration said today.

It reported its records for the month "disclose an unprecedented continuation of the 1949 upsurge in home builging' throughout the nation.

Dwelling units started in October under FHA financing hit a record peak of 42,239. This was 9 per cent over the previous all-time high of 38,882, set in June of this year.

QUARTETS COMPETE

KIRKLAND, Wash., Nov. 20-(AP) -Four harmonizers from Enumclaw, who dubbed themselves the "Mountainaires," beat out 16 other barber shop quartets last night to win the championship of Washington, Oregon, western Montana, British Columbia, Hawaii and Guam. Second place went to the "Melody Men," Tacoma. The "House Brothers," Bonanza, Ore., won third.

Deer Establishes 'Toll Bridge' on Colorado Road

ECHO LAKE, Colo., (INS) — A four-point buck deer has set up a toll system on roads in the Echo Lake area.

The animal stops cars by blocking the road, then placing his feet on the body of each car and sticking his head in the window.

He refuses to budge until the motorist feeds him marshmallows or sweets.

Officials of the Colorado Game and Fish department explain that the deer was raised as a pet and acquired a sweet tooth.

Sale of Heirlooms Forced on Nobles

LONDON -(INS)- "We sell to live" should be the motto of many of the British nobility today.

During the past few months several "poor" earls, dukes, and other titled gentry have thrown open their castle gates and have charged inquisitive visitors half a dollar each to have a peep at their stately rooms and historic decorations.

Now Christies, the foremost auctioneers in Britain, have been detailed by members of Britain's noble class to dispose of such things as jewelry, furniture, pictures and historical belongings, because the "Labour Government's high taxation on the aristocracy" has made them almost penniless.

Portland Man In Radio Quiz Wins $26,515

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20-(AP)- Harry Campeau, 31, of Portland, Ore., is a jubilant man after winning a grand total of $26,515 in prizes today in the national broadcasting company's "Hollywood Calling" quiz contest.

Campeau, his wife and daughters Diane, nine, and Beatrice, seven, won an all expenses-paid trip to Italy, a trip to Hollywood, a 1949 four-door sedan, a $500 U. S. savings bond and a complete wardrobes among other things.

Master of ceremonies Jack McCoy reached Campeau by telephone after broadcasting the clue, "criminals are spawned on a dead-end street."

Campeau, who works for a paper manufacturing firm, correctly named "Dead End" as the motion picture and clue described. Then he shouted "boy, oh, boy!" as McCoy informed him that he had won.

In their Hollywood trip, the Campeaus will meet the film stars who appeared on the radio program, Maureen O'Hara and Dan Dailey.

Campeau's telephone number was one of several picked at random.

15,000 Persons Said Sought in East Zone Hunt

BERLIN, Nov. 20-(AP)-The west Berlin newspaper Anzeiger said today the east zone people's police has set in motion a huge manhunt for 15,000 persons accused in a "black book" of being Titoists and Trotskyites.

Some of those being rounded up, the newspaper said, are guilty of nothing more than resisting transfer of their property to people's-owned enterprises. Anzeiger said the Soviet secret police NKVD (now named MVD), are aiding in the roundup.

"Millions live in terror of secret agents of the SED (communist-dominated Socialist Unity party) and NKVD," said the paper.

It said thousands of Germans already are in concentration camps.
