Oregon's Turkey Astounds Turks; The Bird Spared Axe

ANKARA, Nov. 24 -(P)- No American turkey ever spent a finer Thanksgiving day than did "Unity" on this fine day in Turkey. He arrived from Oregon in a blaze of glory and was handed over

President Ismet Inonu, who promptly spared Unity's head. Unity came as a gift to Inonu from a Pacific coast turkey exhibit. He arrived at Istanbul early today via a Pan American clipper in a special cage and well fed on con-

New Republic to Establish Consulates, But Not Armies

BONN, Germany, Friday, Nov. 25-(AP)-West Germany's parliament indicated its approval today of the allied-German agreement easing restrictions on German industry, foreign trade and merchant shipping.

After 12 hours of furious debate, during which the deputies nearly came to blows, the opposition socialist leader, Dr. Kurt Schumacher, was excluded from the parliament for the next 20 sessions for calling Adenauer "chancellor of the allies" during the hectic debate.

By George Boultwood

BONN, Germany, Nov. 24 -(AP)- The west German republic started on the long road toward becoming a power in world affairs through an agreement today with the United States, Britain and France easing restrictions imposed on German industry, foreign trade and merchant shipping.

Its pledges of cooperation, in return, included a declaration of determination "to maintain the demilitarization of the federal territory and to endeavor by all means in its power to prevent the reaction of armed forces of any kind."

The agreement, made between German Chancellor Donrad Adenauer and the western high commissioners, is binding on the republic, but the social democratic opposition to Adenauer's conservative government demanded that it be submitted to parliament for ratification. They contended Adenauer had exceeded his constitutional powers. The government forces, however, have a parliamentary majority should the issue be forced to a vote.

Dismantling of Berlin Plants to Halt

The western powers agreed that west Germany may: 1-Retain 18 large synthetic oil, rubber and steel plants that had been marked for dismantling. Among them is the August Thyssen Steel works, one of the largest in Germany. All dismantling in divid-

2-Establish consular and commercial relations "with those countries where such relations appear advantageous." 3-Rebuild a merchant fleet for high seas trade.

The western powers also agreed to promote German membership "all those international organizations through which German experience and support can contribute to the general welfare." The west German government in return agreed to participate wholeheartedly in the international authority for the industrial Ruhr, which the Germans previously have boycotted

To Keep German War Potential Low

It also agreed to cooperate with the Big Three high commissions in the work of the military security board, which has the task of keeping German war potential to a minimum. Similar German pledges were given to eradicate nazism and continue allied steps against German cartels and monopolies. These were the main points of a joint communique by the high commissioners and west German government announced after 10 days As outlined by FAO Director of negotiation. It was the first time the west German government had General N. E. Dodd, the plan call-had the opportunity of direct major negotiation with the west over of negotiation. It was the first time the west German government had disputed questions. Up to now the allies, as occupying powers, had dictated German actions, sometimes with German advice.

As such, the negotiations marked the beginning of a new era in German affairs. The Germans now will have a direct voice in their
