BALAAM

Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book, "In Our Image.")

And the children of Israel pitched in the plains of Moab. And Balak king of the Moabites sent messengers unto Balaam to call him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt: they cover the face of the earth, and abide over against me: Come now therefore, curse me this people; that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou blessest is blessed, and he whom thou cursest is cursed.

And Balaam said unto them, Lodge here this night, and I will bring you word again, as the Lord shall speak unto me. And God came unto Balaam and said, Thou shall not go, thou shalt not curse the people: for they are blessed. And Balaam said unto the princes of Balak, the Lord refuseth to give me leave to go

Balak sent yet again princes, more, and more honorable. And they came to Balaam, and said, Thus saith Balak, I will promote thee unto very great honor, and I will do whatsoever thou sayest, come, I pray thee, curse me this people. And God came unto Balaam, and said, go with them; but yet the word which I shall say unto thee, do. And Balaam went with the princes of Balaam said unto Balak: the word that God putteth in my mouth, that shall I speak . . . And on the morrow Balak took Balaam up into the high places of Baal, that he might see the

And Balaam said: Build me here seven altars. And Balak and Balaam offered on every altar bullock and a ram. Balaam went to an high place. And God met Balaam and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak. And he returned and said, The king of Moab hath brought me from the mountains of the east, saying, Come, curse me Jacob, and come, defy Israel. How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy whom the Lord hath not defied? Lo, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations. Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!

And Balak said, What hast thou done? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and, behold, thou hast blessed them. And he answered, Must I not speak that which the Lord hath put in my

And Balak said, Come unto another place from whence thou shalt not see them all: peradventure it will please God that thou mayest curse me them from thence. And Balak brought Balaam to the top of Peor.

And Balaam lifted up his eyes, and saw Israel abiding in his tents; and the spirit of God came upon him, and he said. How goodly are thy tents, O Israel, they tabernacles, O Jacob. God brought him forth out of Egypt; he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn: he shall eat up his enemies, and pierce them though with his arrows. Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee.

And Balak's anger was kindled, and he said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and, behold, thou hast altogether blessed them. Therefore now flee unto thy place: I thought to promote thee unto great honor; but, lo, the Lord hath kept thee back from honor

And Balaam said unto Balak, If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the Lord.

And he took up his parable, and said: I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not nigh: there shall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Sceptre shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite the corners of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth.
