Fruit, Nut Breads Good Food For Entertaining; Made Ahead

By Maxine Buren
 Statesman Woman's Editor

Fruity breads, which can be made a day or more ahead, are great aids to the hostess who is entertaining with the sort of affair where sandwiches are the main refreshment.

One or more kinds of bread, merely spread with butter, makes a satisfactory substitute for open faced sandwiches, are much simpler to prepare.

The family will like the leftovers, too.
 A plain nutbread is good:

NUTBREAD

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------------|
| 2 eggs | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 1 cup sugar | 1 cup milk |
| 4 cups flour | 1 cup nuts, chopped |
| 4 teaspoons baking powder | |

Beat eggs, add milk and sifted dry ingredients. Add nuts which have been moistened and floured, mix. This makes a stiff dough. Let stand half hour in two small loaf pans. When ready to bake, push up into corners, bake at 325 degrees for about an hour.
 Orange bread's usually a safe bet:

ORANGE BREAD

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 2 teaspoons baking powder | 1 cup milk |
| 2 cups flour | 1 cup nuts |
| 1/2 cup sugar | 1 cup fresh candied orange peel |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | |

Sift dry ingredients, add orange peel and nuts, then milk. Bake one hour starting at 325 and increasing heat to 350 last 15 minutes. Makes 1 loaf. This has no egg or shortening.

CRANBERRY NUT BREAD

- | | |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1 cup cranberries | 1/2 cup chopped walnuts |
| 1 cup sugar | grated rind 1 orange |
| 3 cups sifted flour | 1 egg |
| 4 teaspoons baking powder | 1 cup milk |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 2 tablespoons melted butter |

Chop cranberries and mix with 1/2 cup sugar. Sift remaining sugar with flour, baking powder and salt, and add nuts and orange rind. Beat egg slightly and combine with milk and melted butter; add to first mixture. Fold in cranberries. Bake in greased bread pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour.

Work on the lines on county roads is progressing rapidly and the job is expected to be completed late in January. This community has been without telephone service with the exception of the private line along the Valley and Siletz railroad since Camp Adair was established during World War II.

Prior to that time the line extended to the Pedee store. The first line to Kings Valley was built about 43 years ago with Airline as the central office. This service was discontinued in 1923.

Poultry Man Says 'A Hen Is a Lady' — Treat Her Gently

OMAHA (AP)—A hen is a lady and you'd better treat her like one, according to Clarence Fouts, Omaha poultry store manager. Knock before entering a lady chicken's quarters just as you would knock before entering any other lady's room, he recommends. Fouts said that's the way to avoid trouble when dealing with hens. His comment was in reply to a woman newspaper reader who complained in a letter to the "Omaha World-Herald" about the noisiness and bad behavior of her hens. As Fouts puts it: "If you were a lady and someone walked into your room without knocking, what would you do? You'd probably fly into the air, flap your arms and tell the intruder to leave."

Art Students Begin Studying At All Ages

WESTPORT, Conn. (INS) — There is no age limit on aspiring artists according to noted illustrator Albert Dorne, president of the Institute of Commercial Art.

Dorne, whose associates include such world famous artists as Norman Rockwell, Steve Dohanos, Jon Whitcomb, Fred Ludefens, Al Parker, Robert Fawcett and many others, said an eighty-four year old woman was among the school's first pupils.

Eighty-three per cent of the students are over 21 and over 40 per cent are women. Most of the pupils work in other jobs, such as office workers, factory hands, clerks and executives.

Dorne is a paradoxical exception to the old axiom that artists are supposed to be poor businessmen.

Dorne, born on New York's East Side, achieved success as a leading magazine illustrator by the sweat of his brow—and of his hands.

His career has been eventful, tumultuous, glided with highs and spotted with lows. Now on top, Dorne has long been aware how the proper aid to art talent may well spell the difference between accomplishment and failure for inept artists.

It was Dorne's idea to group together America's top illustrators into a faculty for a correspondence school. Over a period of years he has been besieged by requests from thousands of persons seeking advice, help and job in the field of art.

In the short year it has been in operation, hundreds of unsolicited testimonials have come into the Institute, especially as regards the methods of correcting the work of students.

Dorne, Rockwell, Dohanos and the other professors not only personally criticize advanced pupils' work but make many drawings to demonstrate how the pupil may improve himself.

'Tall Tales' in Alaska Dwarf Texas Stories

KODIAK, Alaska. (INS) — Texans who talk about their uncommon commonwealth are outclassed, outdistanced and outdone by Alaskans.

That, at least, is the conclusion of Capt. L. J. Dow, new commander of the naval air station at Kodiak.

Two years' service in Texas and two weeks in Alaska prompted him to say: "They tell in Texas of the Texan and the California who each had $10 to buy shoes.

"The Texan, they say, would buy a $10 pair of boots and brag about how good they were.

"The Californian would buy 10 $1 pairs of shoes and brag about how many shoes he had.

"But, in Alaska, a fellow with $10 would start beefing about having to bounce $10 more to buy the other shoe."

Captain Dow, former commanding officer of the naval air station at Dallas (a town in Texas), continued his contention that Alaska puts even Texas in the shade, saying:

"A Texan thinks his state's 262,396 square miles is a big piece of land. But Alaska has 585,400 square miles—more than twice as big with more than twice as much to talk about.

King-Sheed Bovine
 "Texas boasts about its bovines, claiming if all were rolled into one, the front feet of that one would be in the Gulf of Mexico; the hind feet in Hudson Bay, the horns in the moon and the tail swishing the Aurora Borealis.

"But, if that composite cow ever met up with the cub of a Kodiak bear, sordoughs would be prospecting for steaks all over Alaska."

Captain Dow says: "I want to become an Alaskan. I hope I can stay long enough to meet all the qualifications, one of which is telling off Texas."

And, to the stand taken by a Texas congressman against statehood for Alaska, Captain Dow says:

"This Texas congressman wants Alaska divided into four states. That's proof that at least one Texan knows Alaska will be the biggest state in the union."

On the great day Alaska gets statehood, says Captain Dow, all the tall tales in Texas won't buy a short snort in Sitka!
