

New 1950 Dodges Now on Display

DETROIT, Jan. 5 — New body lines, larger rear window and fresh front end styling identify the new Dodge Coronet four-door sedan. The new Dodge line consists of ten body styles on two wheelbases. Coronet models, on a 123 1/2-inch wheelbase, are available with Gyro-Matic transmission, which frees the driver from shifting. Fluid drive is standard equipment on all Dodge cars.

Latest Models Feature Room, Convenience

DETROIT, Jan. 5 — Dodge dealers are displaying the new Dodge line of automobiles in their showrooms this week, including Stan Baker Motors of Salem, Ore.

The new models are longer and lower in appearance as a result of styling modifications. Rear fenders are larger and longer and the rear tread is two inches wider.

The rear window area in Coronet and Meadowbrook models is increased one-third. New parallel bar-type grille, of separate piece construction to minimize repair and replacement cost; new larger bumper guards, new exterior chrome trim, a restyled instrument panel, new dash and cowl insulation and new tail lights are cited among the improvements.

Available in ten body styles and on two standard wheelbases, the new Dodge cars retain the generous head room, shoulder room, leg room, seat height and wide door openings of preceding models, which established an all-time Dodge high in retail sales, officials said.

"The public has voted overwhelmingly in favor of the roominess, convenience and riding comfort that Dodge offers," Dodge Vice President L. L. Colbert said. "Our new models have those advantages in full measure."

All models are powered by the Dodge "get-away" engine with a compression ratio of 7 to 1. Despite their new, longer appearance and wider rear tread, the new Dodge cars are substantially unchanged in their exterior dimensions, thus retaining the "bigger inside, smaller outside" feature of preceding models, Colbert said.
