MAKE SHELVES COUNT

A single wall shelf is sometimes a disappointment. It doesn't do as much decorating as you expect it to, even when it displays handsome objects. The reason, of course, is because a wall shelf is too big for a small wall area, but it isn't big enough for the wide wall space where it's usually hung. Try three wall shelves, side by side, and you have enough width and weight and importance there to balance any big piece of furniture, a sofa, a sideboard, a chest group. They needn't be the most expensive wall shelves in the store. Choose simple designs because they look best together and build up rather than complicate arrangements of objects. Or design an important wall group with a single wall shelf as the center and pictures around it, again to give the width and weight needed on a wide wall.

Pages of color schemes, ready to put to work, are only part of the color help you will find in Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet, COLOR SCHEMES FOR EVERY ROOM. The booklet tells how to choose a color scheme and how to use it. Send 15 cents in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper, and we'll send your copy on its way. Auto, 4 Trucks Ditched on Slippery Cutoff

Packed snow so slippery that even pedestrians found it difficult to maintain footing caused a traffic mix-up on the South 12th street cutoff just a quarter of a mile from highway 99E intersection Tuesday noon. Four trucks and one passenger auto came to skidding grief with all of them winding up in ditches on both sides of the highway. Top photo shows two of the trucks and the auto. Most damage was dented bodies and mangled fenders. No one was injured. (Statesman photos.)

Medics Testify No Pressure Used on Them

PORTLAND, Jan. 24 (AP)—Three upstate Oregon doctors told the government today that Oregon Medical societies, accused of trying to monopolize prepaid medical care in the state, never tried to influence them. The societies didn't need to, the doctors said, asserting they decided independently not to have dealings with any prepaid medical plans other than the doctor-owned Oregon Physicians' Service. The reason for this was that other plans had too much red tape and too often discounted fees, Dr. Frank E. Fowler of Astoria testified in the government's anti-trust suit against the medical societies. Dr. Thomas E. Griffith and Dr. Paul R. Vogt, both of The Dalles, offered similar testimony. Government attorneys countered with evidence intended to prove that the doctor-owned medical plan had as much red tape as privately owned medical plans. Earlier the government tried to prove that the medical societies brought pressure on doctors to keep them from dealing with any system other than the Oregon Physicians' Service. One of the physicians named co-defendant in the suit, Dr. Edward H. McLean, Oregon City, claimed he knew of no instance of coercion of physicians. It was the government's argument that the medical society had threatened to expel physicians who cooperated with commercial medical plans. Dr. McLean said under cross-examination that the Clackamas county Physicians Association for Prepaid Medicine was not affiliated with the Oregon Physicians' Service. He also denied ever "attempting to strain" hospital associations' relations with hospitals.

Eugene Man Named State First Citizen

PORTLAND, Jan. 24 (AP)—The state junior chamber of commerce today named David Knox, 30, Eugene, as Oregon's junior first citizen for 1949. Knox, president of the Eugene Junior chamber, was selected from 15 candidates. Hall S. Lusk, chief justice of the state supreme court; Carl Engdahl, state senator from Pendleton; and George H. Swift, Salem Episcopal church rector, were on the selecting committee.

Astoria Pupils Hurt as Bus Skids on Hill

ASTORIA, Jan. 24 (AP)—A bus loaded with high school students skidded a half-block backwards down a snowy hill here today, injuring three students and shaking up 23 others. The Astoria Transit company bus was on the steep 16th street hill when it began skidding. Driver Carl Lee Smart, 54, said the engine died when he tried to shift gears. The bus crashed into a retaining wall. A star Astoria high school basketball guard, Dick Windsor, 16, suffered a broken leg. Carol Erickson, 17, suffered leg bruises and Calvin Wong, 15, head cuts. All were hospitalized. The weather added other troubles for the area. Two more families were forced to evacuate their homes on Irving avenue, where a total of six houses have been twisted out of shape by sliding earth in the last two days. Highway traffic was moving through today, however, although there were two inches of snow on the ground.

Access Road Bid Goes to Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A $1,200,000 request to build access roads in Oregon and California reworked by railroad grant lands went before the house subcommittee on interior department appropriations today. The bureau of land management asked the fund, asserting that both the government and the timberlands would benefit. Marion Clawson, director of the bureau, said the government would be able to get better offers for the timber because smaller companies would be able to bid for it. Much over-mature timber on the lands cannot now be sold because of the lack of roads, Clawson said, adding that the roads would increase the value of the timber by at least the cost of the roads.

CLASS HAS PARTY

DALLAS — About 24 members and friends of the senior Presbyterian class met at the church for a party Saturday night. The evening was spent playing games and folk dancing. S. E. Whitworth, teacher, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hanson, chaperoned the group. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. "Jack (Fix) wouldn't fight back, and Al Koepfl kept hollering at him to fight back. But Jack wouldn't." "When Al would knock him down, Jack wouldn't get up, and Al would kick him. I helped Jack to his feet a few times and took him to the bathroom and washed his face off. Later, the gang took Jack upstairs and put him under the shower and cleaned him up." Another boy took him home an hour or so later. "The feud has been going on for some time over card losses," Cupp told police.

SNYDER ON LEAVE

IDANHA — Arnold R. Snyder who is with the army transport, aboard the Gen. H. B. Freeman, spent a three-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Snyder, returning to duty Monday.

The answers to everyday insurance problems ★
By Sid Boise

QUESTION: Some friends of ours had an accident with their car but their insurance company refused to pay their claim on the ground that the application for the policy did not correctly state how the car was to be used. Our friends had never actually signed any application so how could the company refuse to pay?

ANSWER: It isn't necessary for the insured to actually sign the application to become responsible for the statements made therein. His acceptance of the policy when it is issued shows his endorsement of statements made in the application.

★ If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
