Bus Problems Aired at Committee Luncheon

Salem city and suburban bus service problems were discussed by this group Wednesday noon at the Marion hotel. In the left foreground are R. E. Covert (nearest camera) and J. H. Gordon. At the head table, left to right, are shown Fred Gahlsdorf, Chairman M. B. Rudd, Edwin Schroeder and David Cameron. In right foreground are Mrs. Mona Yoder (nearest camera), Mrs. Ralph Moody, J. L. Fransen and Dr. A. I. Frantz. All but Gordon, Covert and Frantz are members of the mayor's committee. (Statesman photo.)

Seven Daughters, Son to Help Mrs. Whitney Celebrate 100th Birthday February 9 in Salem

Seven daughters and a son—eight of her 12 children—are expected to be in Salem February 9 to help celebrate the 100th birthday of Mrs. Sarah M. Whitney.
Of the Whitney's 12 children, nine daughters and one son are living. The children are Mrs. W. J. Hagedorn, Salem; Mrs. Nellie Bunn and Mrs. Fred Lupton, Portland; Mrs. A. H. Stivers, Alta, Iowa; Mrs. James Ennis, Hartley, Iowa; Mrs. Charles Becker, Portland; Mrs. Lake Price, Cook, Wash.; Mrs. Thomas Magers, Portland; Mrs. Stacey Reeves, Cook, Wash.; Pleasant Whitney, Brownsville, Ore.

All are coming except those in Iowa. One daughter, Mrs. William Bunn, died in 1926, and a son, Orrin Whitney, in 1943.
There are also 25 grandchildren, 44 great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.
Mrs. Whitney was born in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, near Newport, the daughter of George B. and Mary Ann Goodman Warner. The oldest of a family of 10, she is today the only living member of the family.

She lived in Ohio during the Civil war, in log houses heated only by stone fireplaces. As the oldest, she helped both her father on the farm and her mother in the home—cradling grain, shearing sheep, spinning yarn and knitting it into stockings, spinning fine wool thread for "linsey" cloth to make the women's nicer dresses. Since sewing machines were just invented and not yet in general use, she taught herself to cut and sew by hand the clothing for herself and her brothers and sisters.

She recalls that the home was the center of the "social" life, and free evenings were spent in knitting or sewing by the light of tall candles. Young Sarah Warner went to school in a log building with hand hewn backless benches.
In 1856, her father purchased 165 acres of land in Iowa but continued to reside in Ohio for 12 years before venturing so far west on the prairie. In 1869, the family moved to Winthrop county, Iowa, where the oldest daughter met and married Charles E. Whitney on Oct. 25, 1868. Whitney was with a prominent Iowa stock company, but in 1876 the couple moved to an O'Brien county, Iowa, farm. Their first year brought a scourge of grasshoppers which totally destroys crops, followed by a cholera epidemic that killed the hogs. A farm in Cherokee county, Iowa, proved more prosperous, and there they remained until moving in 1901 to the Big Bend country near Wilson Creek, Wash.

In 1906 the Whitney's came to Salem. For many years they owned a farm near Turner, and later he engaged in the real estate business here.
Together they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1918, and had been married nearly 61 years when Mr. Whitney died in August, 1929.
Now, nearing the time-honored milestone in age, Mrs. Whitney looks brightly back over a century of change, and forward to residing again in Salem, which she calls home, with her daughter.

Mrs. Clark Stone, Former Resident of City, Dies in South

Word was received here Wednesday of the death of a former Salem resident, Mrs. Clark R. Stone (Billie Cupper), in Santa Ana, Calif., early Wednesday morning. She had been ill the past six months.
Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later.
Mrs. Stone is survived by her husband, manager of the clothing department at the J. C. Penney store in Santa Ana; her mother, Mrs. Percy R. Cupper of Salem, who has been in the south with her daughter since September, and a sister, Mrs. John Minto of Salem.
She is a graduate of Salem schools and Oregon state college. She was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and has been living in Santa Ana since her marriage nearly five years ago.

Bus Service Dissatisfaction Aired at Meet

Dissatisfaction with City Transit Lines bus service in the suburban area east of Salem was expressed Wednesday at a public hearing.

Only three persons representing the public attended the hearing called by M. B. Rudd, chairman of Mayor R. L. Elfstrom's bus transportation committee. "From the number of complaints received concerning bus service," said Rudd, "I thought many more than this would attend."

J. H. Gordon, representing a citizens committee in the area east of Salem, estimated that over 800 potential bus riders lived in that area. He said, "our main concern is to get at least five trips a day out there. Now we have four and some days less."

"We have no complaint against bus drivers nor are we attempting to judge the bus company's policies. A survey of residents there show they are dissatisfied with existing schedules and timing of runs."

Gordon indicated he was speaking in terms of a six-day schedule. "We can work out a Sunday schedule later." The area he represented, he said, was bounded roughly by the east Salem city limits, Four Corners, Silverton road and Turner road east of Lancaster drive.

D. A. I. Frantz, only other representative to speak, protested a recent change in bus schedules which by-passed the area around the intersection of Broadway with North High and North Liberty streets.

Frantz, who has a naturopath office at 990 Broadway, said that buses pass no closer than two blocks from that area, which he stated contains a good sized, business district and large apartment house.

Robert E. Covert, operator of the West Salem Bus company, attended only "to listen," he said. Others present consisted of members of the committee.

Chairman Rudd told Gordon and Frantz that a committee member would visit both their districts soon. He said that his committee expected to hold several more meetings and to report to Mayor Elfstrom in about a month.

School Districts Law Clarified by Neuner's Ruling

Oregon law does not require that a city school district be established when the school population of a city within a county school district reaches 1,000, Attorney General George Neuner held Wednesday. The opinion was asked by Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction.

Neuner ruled, however, that an election is necessary on a proposal to establish a city school district with a majority vote in both the city and county units required. In event of failure to receive a majority vote in both units the city school district remains a part of the county school district.

Polio Fund Drive Far Below Goal as Final Week Begins

Marion county's weather-plagued 1950 March of Dimes campaign limped into the final stretch Wednesday with collections critically short of anticipated needs this year.

Chairman Howard Ragan pointed out the $8,000 collected to date is only one-half the $16,000 contributed in 1949 when funds failed to meet the cost of new and old polio cases.

"A tremendous effort is necessary if we are to do our part to help this year's infantile paralysis victims," Ragan said Wednesday. "Weather has forced cancellation of many scheduled benefits, and we are asking the cooperation of every citizen before the drive ends February 11."

Heading Wednesday's collections was $42 in dimes collected from city parking meters. All dimes placed in the meters until February 11 will go to the polio fund.

Meanwhile, plans are being completed to hold five benefit shows in Marion county cities. The March of Dimes traveling entertainment show will appear in St. Mary's auditorium in Mt. Angel Monday night, February 6; in the Woodburn American Legion hall Tuesday, February 7; in Mill City Wednesday, February 8, and in Eugene grade school at Silverton Friday, February 10.

Salem's final contribution to the drive will be the March of Dimes ball to be held at the Crystal Gardens ballroom Tuesday night, February 7. The event is sponsored by the Salem Elks club, whose members are in charge of ticket sales.

Stromboli Movie Due for Release

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1 (AP)—"Stromboli," the new Ingrid Bergman movie, will be released to the nation's movie screens in the middle of this month.

RKO studio today scheduled a twin press preview for Feb. 14. Normally there is only one press showing, but interest is so high in this one that the film will be run twice that evening.

The picture is directed by Roberto Rossellini, Italian with whom Miss Bergman fell in love.
