This 'n that about this 'n that: Bill Bevens may not take his comeback whirl with Sacramento after all. He's thinking seriously of joining a pal in the operation of beer and skittles establishment in the Hollywood district. Which is a post-career sojourn Bill has been thinking of for years. . . . Not only is George Emigh interested in Tacoma's Glen Stetter as an outfielder on next summer's Salem nine; but Stetter himself looks upon such possibility with favor. He'd like to play for the Solons. Fact is, his real home is in Salem as his mother fives at 1080 Madison st. . . . Dallas high's Wes Ediger, six-foot, the top touchdowners in the Willamette Valley loop last fall as an end. Now he's one of the best cagers for Gordy Kunke's Dragons as a forward, and his ability to pot points from almost any angle has im comfortably in front of the league's individual scoring derby. Of the other four left, Aiken says Salem's Jim Rock definitely is one of 'em. The Webfoot boss didn't name the other three, but our guess is that Medford's Jack Morris, another backfielder, lessens the list to two. . . Not only is Bob Abel president of the Western International league, but he's ditto for the Tacoma Golf and Country club. The WI prexy loves his golf. . . . Turk Edwards, the ex-WSC'er who for many years operated with the professional footballers has now quit it all for a berth in Bill Hatch's Sporting Goods business in Spokane. #### Owens Wants 'Gus' in Battle Royal Next Time

Billy Fox's wrestling bear "Gorgeous Gus" turned out to be all that was advertised of him last week at the armory - the best dang rasslin' bear in the business. The 400-pound bruin, much larger than "Ginger," who appeared here some months before, is a good 10 times better equipped for crowd-pleasing ring action than was his predecessor. Fox has done an almost unbe-lievable job of teaching his pet how to wrestle a human being.

Because the Tuesday appearance of "Gus" was so good, Matchmaker Elton Owen has a plan that should easily meet the approval of his armory customers. He's angling to get "Gus" back again and put him in a battle royal with half a dozen regular biceppers. And that, friends, chould be something to behold. Especially when (and if) the six matadors attempt to gang up on him! . . .

Guisness Red Hot at Free Throw Line

Having been up in the Godforsaken palouse hills country of eastern Washington and Idaho the past couple of days, where they've even put skis on the mule trains, we don't know (as this is written at least) just how Washington's sophomore Frank Guisness made out with his free-throw shooting in the OSC ser-les at Corvallis. But what a fine record he took into that series. In his four straight games against Oregon the former Vancouver prep merely hit 26 of the gifters out of 27 attempts. Which

The all-time northern division record for number of free throws made in a season is held by another Washington player, Jack Nichols. He hemped 77 in his senior year, Guisness had 41 going into the Oregon State games. . . .

Pioneer Loop Has Six New Managers

Only three new managers in the WIL for 1950, Ad Liska at Salem, Marty Krug, Sr., at Victoria and Rupe Thompson at We-natchee. The neighboring Pioneer loop goes us double, however, by having six newcomers. Ford Mullen moves in at Boise, Wally Berger at Twin Falls, Lillio Marcucci at Idaho Falls, Earl Bolyard at Salt Lake (he handled Victoria part of last season), Larry Barton at Pocatello and Cecil (Butch) Scheffel at Ogden, Only standbys are Joe Bowman at Great Falls and Larry Shepard at Billings. Eugene baseball bugs — and there are plenty of 'em in the Lane county seat — thought they had Mullen collared for the managerial berth on the city's brand new franchise in the Far West circuit. But he took the Boise post instead, probably for more money than he was offered at Eugene. The Eugene job, incidentally, has Jack Wilson more than mildly interested, and he's made the initial contact. . . .

Ballantyne Best Driver Since Palmberg—Gill

Ohio State continues to be the biggest wheel in the Big Ten basketball race, with hix wins and one loss. At last look Minnesota had lost more than it won and Indiana was even with the board. . . . Add for they-never-give-up dept: Jim Londos and Primo Carnera collided in a match in Chicago the other night. . . . Slats Gill says his Baker blond, Dick Ballantyne is the hardest driving guard he has had since Wally Palmberg, the all-time Beaver great of the 1934-35-36 elub. Oddly enough, Ballantyne is a southpaw, as was Palmberg. . .

Swiss Bobsledmen Lead Amerk Entry

CORTINA D'AMPHEZZO, Italy, Feb. 4 -(P)- Switzerland's fourman bobsled team, captained by the daring internationalist Fritz Feierabend, cracked the course record today to take the lead at the halfway mark over the United States quartet, defending titleholders in the world championships.

The United States sled, led by Stan Benham, Lake Placid, N. Y., fire chief, had to take second place after the two opening runs down the treacherous 16-curve course. It was the renewal of a tense rivalry between Benham and Feierabend, who battled for the title last February at Lake Placid, with the Americans coming out on top. Then, Benham captained the No. 2 U.S. sled, while Feierabend had to take third place. Only one U.S. team is here.

This time, however, with three new crewmen riding behind him down the icy, treacherous slopes, the Swiss pilot steered his sled across the finish line in record time on the second run. The time was one minute, 21.64 seconds.

It gave Feierabend and his mates a total time of 2:44.64 for the double run down Cortina's twisting course, considered one of the best, but most hazardous in But right behind them, and still with a chance to hold the title which America won at St. Moritz at the 1948 Olympics and since has held, was the Benham sled. The time for the Americans was 2:45.91, and the final two runs tomorrow will tell the tale.

A. track meet crowd tonight at the Boston Garden. Finland's Viljo Heino was lapped by Stone and two others while making his American debut.

Fuchs made his terrific heave with his sixth and last throw. It erased the generally repted indoor record of 56-6 set by the late Al Blozis of Georgetown.

Fuchs' sensational performance was made with a brass 16-pound shot from a boarded ring. Generally indoor shot putting is completed on dirt surfaces. It is likely that Fuchs' best indoor throw will be denied official recognition because the current record books do not include such a category.

WSC Gridders Favored 'Ev'; He Took Job When Munn Stayed

SEATTLE, Feb. 4-(AP)-It isn't very often that the working stiffs get to vote on the new boss, even informally. But the football toilers at Washington State college, the kids who will wear the pads and lug the leather, favored Forest Evashevski over the other candidates for the coaching job. They didn't have a representative present when the selection was made, but there's no doubt the athletes' approval carried a lot of weight with the athletic coun-

It was the youngsters, too, who clinched the frosh coaching job for Dan Stavely. He was foster father to the freshmen, coaching football a couple of hours a day and spending the other 22 as guide, adviser and friend. The Stavely home at Pullman was always open to the kids. Mrs. Stavely helped several bumped into trouble with their classwork.

When the blowup came Stavely's freshmen rallied 'round their coach and it was almost a cinch that he would weather the storm.

There's no mystery about Evashevski's action in turning down the Oregon State offer one year and grabbing the W. S. C. job the next. When the O. S. C. chance came up, the ex-Miehigan star knew he was in line to succeed Biggie Munn at Michigan State as head man. Biggie failed to step aside as expected and when the W. S. C. opening came up, Evashevski was willin' . . .

Ray Flaherty's application was not received until just before the selection was made. With an earlier start, the ex-Gonzaga redhead might have given Evashevski a rough rassle for the job . . . This is a great year for sopho-

Tennis Star Frankie Parker swears Seattle is 2,000 feet above sea level, at least. "I know the altitude is supposed to be zero, Neither Sandy Sandberg nor Babe Hollingberry applied for but I also know how a tennis ball bounces. In our play here the ball had as much zing as it does up in the mountain cities." Must be the crisp weather, Frankie . . . Parker was stationed at Paine field for a time during the war and met buddles by the bushel when he returned with the tennisers . . .

The main reason the northwest missed out on the Harmsworth trophy race this summer was transport. The famous international speedboat race is sandwiched between the gold cup and silver cup events, both set for Detroit. Lugging those delicate speedboats twice across the country on a tight schedule would have had the owners squawking. Lake Washington made a hit with the race officials however, and should get a major race in the next few years.
