Final Exams Completed at Willamette U.

Relaxation was the general order on Willamette university campus this week end, as fall semester final examinations were completed Saturday. Classes will resume Monday.

The university has set Thursday as Founders' and Benefactors' day to honor those who began the institution 108 years ago and those who have sustained it since. First organizational meeting for an educational program here was called by the Methodist missionaries on Feb. 1, 1842.

Thursday at 10 a.m. in First Methodist church will be an academic convocation, with the public invited, to honor Jason Lee, pioneer missionary, and the late E. S. Collins, former member of the board of trustees and donor of Collins hall. Each succeeding year another founder and benefactor will be honored.

Speaking at the chapel will be another Jason Lee, administrative assistant to the state tax commission, whose family were early Oregon pioneers. He is a distant relative of Willamette's founder. His grandfather, Joseph Daniel Lee, was long a leader in First Methodist church of Salem when superintendent of the penitentiary.

Jack Berkley Gunn, Monmouth, who holds the Mary L. Collins scholarship at Willamette, and Russell Tripp, Albany, student body president, will participate in the program as will President G. Herbert Smith and the university cappella choir, directed by Dean Melvin H. Geist.

Washington's Swine Growers Elect Whidhelm

Oregon swine breeders received word at their sale Saturday at the state fairgrounds that W. S. Whidhelm of Rasalia, Wash., was re-elected to serve his 11th term as president of the Washington State Swine Breeders association.

Other officers elected at the group's annual meeting are Ray Beench of Valleyford, vice president, and Blaine Hinderer of Pullman, sales manager.

Dairy Breeders Manager to Talk at Polk Meetings

Ben Simonson, manager of the Oregon Dairy Breeders association, will discuss the breeding problem at a group of dairy meetings in Polk county starting Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at Buell hall.

The second meeting will be held at Monmouth city hall Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Thursday the afternoon meeting will be at Dallas city hall and the evening meeting at Lincoln school.

The county-wide annual DHIA meeting will be Wednesday at Rickreall Grange hall at 10:30 a.m. with a no-host dinner at noon. Tom Ohleson will speak at the DHIA meeting.

Pacific Poultry Co-op Refund Authorized

The board of directors of the Pacific Cooperative Poultry Producers has authorized a patronage refund of $432,000 payable to its member producers in association capital certificates. This sum covers the additional amount due to shippers who marketed their eggs through the association in 1949 plus a refund on feed purchased during the year. It exceeds last year's settlement by $26,000.

Directors also authorized retirement at par plus accrued interest on March 1, $200,000 of the oldest outstanding capital certificates which were issued in 1946. Membership for January, 1950, was listed at 4,200. Gross volume of business handled by the association for 1949 was $7,000,000, the annual report shows.

Lewis G. Clark, poultryman of Eugene is president of the cooperative. Other officers are Lawrence Luy, Medford, and Ewald Ek, West Linn, vice presidents; A. C. Berntzen, Eugene, secretary-treasurer, and Harry R. Rohe, Portland general manager.

Dental Health Day Programs Set at Schools

Development of expanded community health programs and of a long-range child dental program will be stressed Monday as counties in this area participate in observance of National Children's Dental Health day.

"By posters and in school programs we are stressing a continuing project to make dental health education and care available to all children," said Dr. L. B. Schmidt of Salem, director of the Marion county dental health committee.

Pointing out that tooth decay is the most commonly-found illness among American children today, Dr. Schmidt said the dental program is based on a three-fold method of aid—research, service by dentists and education of the children.

As part of this county's "continuing program" of dental health, Dr. Schmidt cited examinations by volunteer dentists of school children and talks with parents and patient-teacher groups. He said Marion county's program was "very good."

Dr. Schmidt reminded that a program of examining teeth of pre-school children and first and second graders in this county would be launched in late February.

"By posters and in school programs we are stressing a continuing project to make dental health education and care available to all children," said Dr. L. B. Schmidt of Salem, director of the Marion county dental health committee.

Generators with capacity of 424,000 kilowatts were installed by the U. S. bureau of reclamation in 1949.
