Judge Brand Speaks at DAR Meet

Judge James T. Brand was the guest speaker at the February meeting of Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Sprague. Judge Brand related his experiences as a presiding judge at the Neunberg war crimes trials. He repeated one of the highlights "because of the thought and the influence it would have on our own future action." Out of the war trials had come a set of international rules to protect humanity's three alienable rights, racial, political and religious freedom. "The rules are there, but no means of enforcement, we must recognize and support a system of enforcement of these recognized laws," stated Judge Brand.

On the music program were songs by Corydon Elodgett, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Elodgett, Miss Ida Jo Henderson played a group of piano numbers. Mrs. Herbert J. Ostland, state chairman of the American Indian, reported on her Christmas eve visit to the Seilo Indian Chief and his wife. She took with her gifts to the tribe, which were contributed from various clubs and people in Salem, including a lot of frozen deer meat, fifteen pound box of beads, clothing and cash. Mrs. P. T. Bouffleur, chapter chairman of the DAR magazine, read an article on "The Life of England."

A delegate and alternate to the Continental Congress of DAR in Washington, D. C., this spring were elected including Mrs. C. E. Roblin and Mrs. James G. Helzel. Mrs. Ruth Herndon, regent, appointed Miss Lois Mulcahy as junior-membership chairman. Announcement was made of the change of committee for the March meeting. As listed in the year book the February committee will serve in March at the home of Mrs. David Wright, at which time the Good Citizen Girl Pilgrims will be guests. Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. Hall S. Lusk and Mrs. Eric Horlin. At the tea hour Mrs. W. E. Hanson poured at the decorated table which carried out the Valentine motif.

Smart Color and Style are Now Added To Kitchen Towels in New Ensembles

By Mrs. Genevieve Smith
In recognition of the trend toward the kitchen as an all-purpose room in the future or where at least preparing food and dining will be two of its important functions, smart color and style are being added to towels and dish cloths. This movement is to be launched by a towel line that has long been recognized as tops in quality and styling.

Mrs. Smith

The thought is that in the new type houses where much of the kitchen is exposed as an alcove or all of the living room area, you'll want to consider warm, pleasant - to - live - with color schemes for it. You'll apply the same decorating principles used as the decoration of the living room. Thus the new towel ensembles will come up with colors, selected after a survey of those most frequently used. Besides particularly good tones of red, green, blue and yellow new introductions include grey and nutmeg. The latter two are not only considered high fashion colors for decorative use, but they also harmonize well with stainless steel, chrome and copper. Undoubtedly you will also like the introduction of terry cloth into the ensembling—as a dish cloth and also as a hand or utility towel. Of course, many homemakers have long kept at least one terry towel in the kitchen perhaps two—one for the hands and the other for general utility. Terry cloth is especially good for such tasks as drying the sink and counter top as the final sparkling touch in the kitchen cleanup after a meal. But now you'll have both a dish cloth and a utility towel of substantial weave, designed as part of the ensemble. The conventional kitchen towels are in the dry-me-dry blend of cotton and rayon that is well known for its absorbent qualities.

The ensemble will include plaids, delicate stripes and plaids, and solid colors, selling from about $1 to $4. The individual items also will be sold separately. They will be on sale in department stores in early April.

Young Fried Chicken Year Around Among Advantages to Modern Living

By Maxine Bures
Statesman Woman's Editor
The family purchasing agent need not wait until spring to have fried chicken. Modern methods these days, provide a stock of excellent birds throughout the year. They may be frozen in your locker, or purchased from your dealer in frozen foods.

Commercially frozen chickens come in cartons that tell the best methods for thawing and cooking. Buying a well known brand will assure a good product. If the chicken is your own product, thaw and rinse in cold water. Cut in serving sized pieces. Dip in crumbs or flour that is put to a few pieces of chicken with seasoned flour in a paper bag and shake well. Heat butter or other shortening in a heavy skillet to make layer of 1/4 inch deep. Brown chicken well on both sides. Place one layer deep in shallow baking pan, sprinkle with a little thyme and some onion rings. Pour melted butter over the chicken and bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes to completely cook. Baste once with the melted butter.

Relish cheese spread with a dash of Worcestershire sauce makes an appetizer dip well liked. It's an easy one to make, too.

APPETIZER DIP
1 5-oz. jar relish cheese spread
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons milk
Blend the cheese spread, softened at room temperature, with the Worcestershire sauce, milk and salt to taste. Place this mixture in a small bowl in the center of a tray or chop plate and sprinkle the top with paprika. Place potato chips around the edge of the tray or chop plate.

SPICY RAISIN BRAN ICE CREAM
2 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
Scald milk. In top of double boiler, combine sugar, salt, cornstarch, spices, bran and raisins. Add milk and mix thoroughly. Cook 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool slightly. Pour slowly over eggs, stirring quickly. Cook over hot water 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool. Whip cream and fold into raisin mixture; fold in the remaining ingredients. Freeze. Serves 8.

Silverton — The annual Retarian ladies' night has been set for Tuesday, February 14, at 7 o'clock, a dinner at the Methodist church. Gus Herr is arranging the program for Monday noon, February 6.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it proper to thank waiters or waitresses in public restaurants?

A. Only for courtesies that seem "beyond the line of duty." You do not have to say "thank you" for proffering any dishes or even for assistance in being seated, but you do say "thank you" for picking up something you have dropped, or for helping you on with your coat when you leave.

Q. Is it correct for the bride and her attendants to arrive at the church about a half-hour before the ceremony is to begin?

A. No; they should arrive promptly on the moment set for the ceremony.

Q. If a friend calls on the telephone while you are eating dinner, is it rude to tell this friend that you are having dinner?

A. Not at all. Tell him in a gracious manner and ask him to phone you back in a little while.

The Designing Woman

By Elizabeth Hillyer

METAL CANVAS AND CORD

Does this look like outdoor furniture to you? It is, if you want it to be. Wrought iron, double thick army duck and fir planks take poth and patio weathering and wear in their stride. But a slim, light look plus easy care plus practical price equals an indoor idea to many young home planners, and this furniture wraps up the three good points in a smart new package. An important woman designer, Pip-san Saarinen-Swanson, planned several easy chairs, a sponge rubber luxurious day bed, a chaise, more occasional and coffee tables, a card table and benches to round out a comfortable living room as well as the dining group.

Pages of color schemes, ready to put to work, are only part of the color help you will find in Elizabeth Hillyer's book, COLOR SCHEMES FOR EVERY ROOM. The booklet tells you how to choose a color scheme and how to use it. Send 15 cents in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper, and we'll send your copy on its way.

New Uses for Wax Studied

RACINE, Wis.—(INS)—As far as wax is concerned, experts believe that the surface has merely been scratched in developing new uses for the stuff.

Used traditionally as a protective finish and polish for floors, furniture and autos, wax is now being used as a water repellent in rock wool insulation and as a protective coating for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Hundreds of other new uses are under study. The S. C. Johnson and Sons, Inc., firm has developed a microscopically thin wax emulsion to retard spoilage of fresh fruit.

J. B. Carse, manager of Johnson's industrial products division, said 35 new wax products are under development in his department among them a fabric wax that gives a new type home laundry finish and a wax material for abrasive paper used in buffing stainless steel.

Carse said the wax emulsion used to protect fruits and vegetables is made of carnauba, candellilla and sugar cane waxes and is aimed at reducing the millions of dollars in waste which plague growers, shippers and sellers of fresh produce.
