

Driver Hurt, Truck Demolished at Crossing

RICKREALL—The entire front end of this truck was demolished in a collision at noon Thursday with a Southern Pacific logging train near Rickreall on the Salem-Dallas highway. The driver, Arley Francis Stanley, Sheridan, was partially pinned in the truck after the crash. He was removed and taken to Dallas hospital, where his condition was described as "good" last night despite a skull fracture, broken foot and face cuts. The train engine also was damaged. Hope Dims for Navy Hospital Reserve Unit

Salem is not slated for a reserve unit of the navy hospital corps, at least in the near future, the naval reserve training center was informed Thursday. Suggestion that such a unit might be formed was made recently in a service club talk here by a navy official from Seattle.

Comdr. D. N. Morey, jr., inspector-instructor for Salem reserve units, said the corrected information was received from Capt. G. F. Galpin, Seattle, 13th naval district director of naval reserve.

7 Candidates File with State Election Board

Seven more candidates filed Thursday with the state elections bureau for primary balloting next May.

Walter Norblad, republican serving his third term in congress, filed for re-election from the 1st Oregon district.

Walter A. Swanson, Springfield, filed for democratic nomination for representative in congress from the 4th district.

"If nominated and elected I will endeavor to meet the problems of the fourth district honestly and sensibly with a view to the continued development of Oregon's power resources and flood control projects," Swanson said.

Other filings Thursday included:

Howard F. Latourette, Portland democrat, for United States senator.

Harry F. Williams, Carlton republican, for state representative from the 9th district, Yamhill county.

E. H. Howell, Canyon City, for re-election as circuit judge of the 11th district.

Joseph M. Dyer, Astoria republican, for re-election as state representative from the 1st district, Clatsop county.

Ward H. Cook, Portland democrat, for state senator from the 13th district, Multnomah county.

Less than 70 candidates had filed with David O'Hara, elections bureau manager, when his office closed for business Thursday. Deadline for filing is March 10.

O'Hara said there would be a substantial reduction in filings for this year's election as compared with those at the presidential primary election two years ago.

3 Issues Stall Oregon Phone Negotiations

PORTLAND, Feb. 23 (AP)—The CIO Telephone Workers said today their Oregon negotiations are stalled on three major issues.

The union has been bargaining with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company since November 15. Sixty days still remain to reach a settlement before a nationwide strike deadline.

C. H. Wright, president of the union's Oregon division, said the most serious controversy is on the length of apprenticeship service. It now takes 7½ years here for a phone operator to reach the top scale of $51 weekly, he said.

He listed the other issues as wages and wage differentials between towns. The state is divided into five areas. The top area—Portland, Milwaukie, Oak Grove, Oregon City and Oswego—has a beginning scale of $36 and top of $51. Astoria and Salem have $35 to $48.

Albany, Ashland, Bend, Corvallis, Eugene, Grants Pass, Klamath Falls, Medford, Pendleton, St. Helens and The Dalles have $34 to $47. Baker, Cottage Grove, Madras, Milton, Roseburg, Tillamook, Newport, and Toledo have $33 to $45. Arlington, Dallas, Heppner, Hermiston, Independence, John Day, McMinnville, and Prinnville have $32 to $43.

Geology Club Elects Layport

Charles L. Layport was re-elected president of the Salem Geology club Thursday night. Carl F. Smith, treasurer, also was re-elected.
