

Noted Traveler BPW Speaker

Carol Lane, nationally known travel authority and lecturer, will address members of the Salem Business and Professional Woman's club on Tuesday evening, February 28, at their regular dinner meeting at the Senator hotel. According to Miss Alberta Shoemaker, program chairman, Miss Lane will come to Salem from New York City, where she is women's travel director of the Shell Oil Touring Service. In her talk, "You've Earned a Trip," the touring director will present personally tested ideas for getting maximum benefit and pleasure out of traveling.

While in Salem, Miss Lane will make an extensive research to check local sightseeing goals, accommodations and restaurants. Her report will be used to aid motorists who request trip routings and travel advice. Through the service, more than 170,000 families planned their vacations last year and, in addition, Miss Lane has personally helped thousands of women throughout the country to increase their travel know-how.

At the Business and Professional Woman's club meeting the tourist expert will stress the basic factors in good traveling, including new budgeting techniques, wardrobe selection and money-saving tips. She will point out the 43 items every woman needs for a vacation in a visual suitcase packing demonstration.

Although her department's services to the 15,000,000 licensed women motorists in the U. S. have increased steadily, Miss Lane still finds time to test personally the advice she gives others. Mileage on her research trips averages more than 50,000 miles annually. On a recent investigating tour, the travel director took three city youngsters on a 10-day motor trip along the eastern seaboard to test their reactions to auto travel and historical sightseeing goals.

Carol Lane stresses touring by car, but she also is an experienced pilot — holding two "firsts" for women aviators. In 1941 she was the first woman to make a round trip flight to Alaska in a two-seat plane and three years later she was the first to fly a small airplane over the mountains into Mexico City.

Utilizing her journalistic experience, the travel expert writes a weekly syndicated newspaper column, "Tips on Touring," and a weekly radio feature, "Travel tips." In July, she was named one of the four outstanding women journalists in the country by Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity for women.

Miss Lane is a member of the New York League of Business and Professional Women, the AAUW, the American Association for the United Nations, the "99's" Licensed Women Pilots association, and Theta Sigma Phi. She is a journalism graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Women's Guild of the First Congregational church will meet on Wednesday at 2 o'clock. "The Fair Employment Practices Act" will be interpreted by its educational director, the Rev. William S. Van Meter. Miss Elizabeth Russum will preside during the discussion period. An executive board meeting will precede at 1:15 p. m.
