LEXINGTON, Ky. -(INS)- A million Kentuckians now residing in other states and foreign lands have been extended special invitations to return to their native state in 1950, the year of "My Old Kentucky Homecoming."

The State Chamber of Commerce is promoting the program as the celebration of the Blue Grass state's sesquicentennial which was postponed in 1942 because of the war.

Hoping to spread the "word" of the attraction to tourists, one columnist put it:

"Kentucky has a dream to sell to the tourist. It's a dream that's all wrapped up in bluegrass and fine horses, mint julips and moonlight, in romance and adventure in commonwealth steeped in history . . . People like romance and glamour with their dreams and Kentucky has a full measure of both.'
