PORTLAND, April 4-(AP)- The Portland Beavers started their 1950 home season by winning both the afternoon and evening Pacific Coast Baseball league games against Oakland by identical 7 to 2 scores.

Red Adams pitched the victory in the day contest when the Beavers piled in five runs in the seventh inning. In the night game, a three-run outburst in the third inning sewed up the contest.

A night crowd of 9,329 brought the attendance to 19,392 for the two-game inaugural. Veteran Southpaw Roy Helses got credit for the night win. He relieved Vince DiBiasi in the fifth. The Oaks started the second game scoring with a second inn-ing run, but the Portland third inning scoring wiped this out and was the clincher. The springtime is spreuting buds on the bushes and also spreuting plans in the minds of that sizeable group called spe-cie softballine. Jim Dimit, city director, says the big-ball bunch have hopes of making this one of the biggest seasons since the palmy days of the '30s. Dimit, a subile optimism in his eye, reminds that the '49 campaign saw the City league pulling the biggest crowds in a long, long biggest crowds in a long, long time . . . 'Course it's to be men-tioned that the local softball set-up is still viewed in strictly a reoreational light. There have been no admission fees in ef-fect for a couple of years and that holds true this season also. Buy anybody gets more kick out of playing before full rather of playing before full rather than empty scats. The increased attendance last season has put a new sest in the program, without a doubt . . . Dick Sinovia did pretty much of ekay in his first week of action with Seattle. Highlights for Dick were a tworun homer and a single that banged over a pair of runs and broke an 11-inning fray in fa-ver of the Suds . . .

Gatchall Diamond Vet

Looking over the Willamette baseball roster, the name Frank Gatchall is to be noted. Frank is no spring chicken so far as the diamond sport goes. He pliched a season or so back in the late 30's under Spec Keene, since then has acquired a fam-ily, and now is back in school working for a degree - and also siesing the opportunity to do a little hurling. For, you see, he's pretty crazy about this game called baseball . . . Frank at one time was one of the hottest mound prospects you'll find. Ask Carl Mays about that. The stuff Frank displayed in his budding years had a lot of 'em ga-gaand we mean a LOT of 'em .... Graduation will bite sharply in-to the ranks of Salem high's tank squad but Don Uliman and Dale Sheridan are a couple of lads Coach Vern Persinger thinks will carry some of the load next season. Ullman came in fifth in the 200-yard freestyle at the in the 100-yard freestyle at the state meet last week end but nonetheless chalked the best time of his career in the event. And Sheridan, third in the 100-yard freestyle, pumped that dis-tance in 1:00.2 — fastest a Vik performer has swum the event In recent years . . . Improvement - that's what any mentor looks out for . . .

The San Francisco and Oakland clubs announce they have abandoned the idea of going out-law, of dropping out of the Coast loop. Where, may we ask, would the Acorns and Seals have gone if they HAD chosen to drift out of organized baseball? All alone - and lonely they'd have been.
