Welcome to Spring

Fresh Vegetables at Green Grocers Herald Spring: Use as Main Dishes

By Maxine Buren Statesman Woman's Editor

Even if the calendar didn't reveal it, even if we felt no urge to dig in the soil and take long walks in the fresh air, even if there were no cars parked along the roadside when we go home after dark-the green grocer's displays would prove that spring's here. Green asparagus, red rhubarb and yellow summer squash, summery looking watermelon with accents of black seeds, colorful young peas and pink new potatoes make a spring culinary bou-quet to gladden the heart of 'most any housewife.

Watercress, cucumbers, tomatoes, which the man says are outdoor-grown, and red radishes will be the makings of a real spring tossed salad.

Asparagus, one of the nicest of spring vegetables, may be made into a main dish very easily. Steam and cover with a cheese sauce, serving with toast points. The French style is to cook in a little water into which has been put chopped lettuce leaves and some onion. Thicken the sauce with breadcrumbs and serve with poached eggs.

Make a thick cream sauce into which has been put two eggs. Combine with short pieces of asparagus, pour into scooped out hot rolls (or toasted hamburger buns) and serve as a main dish. May sprinkle with cheese.

Cauliflower, also in the market in all its glory, can be made "Polanaise" by this method

CAULIFLOWER POLANAISE

Cook the cauliflower head whole. When done combine 1/4 cup breadcrumbs with 2 tablespoons butter and pour over cauliflower, top with shredded hard cooked egg.

Shrimp sauce, made by combining shrimps with cream sauce and pouring over the cooked cauliflower.

Young carrots have made their appearance in markets. Steam whole small carrots, top with sauce made by melting butter and adding a generous amount of sliced stuffed green olives.

Artichokes have made their appearance in the markets. They are one of those foods which you either like very much or care nothing for-something like olives and avocados.

When the artichoke is cooked and the center removed, there's quite a bit of space to fill with some mixture, like the French do. Here, for instance, is one recipe:

ARTICHOKE A LA BARIGOULE

Fill center of artichoke with chopped mushrooms, parsley, onion and bacon, moisted with tomatoes. The together. Put in a pan, add stock and braise slowly for about two hours in oven.

We usually cook our artichokes with a little oil in the water to make the vegetable take on gloss, and also with some mixed pickling spices and vinegar or lemon for flavor.
