The guy who really flattened the Dick Greco deal for the Senators is Brillheart, Tacoma mgr. The Solons made a fancy trade proposal to San Diego, through Portland, for the huge home run hitter. When the Padres put it up to Brillheart, skipper of their farm clu bat Tacoma, he mixed it for fear Greco would return to haunt him. Which Big Richard could easily do. (Remember the Sinovic deal?) Padre chiefs then told George Emigh that the only club in the WIL Greco will play for will be Tacoma . . . Any of you guess "rain" on your cards in the Breakfast club opening night attendance contest? If so you might win by quite a splash . . . Hope this isn't a harbinger of things to come: Two pitching Joes on the 8-deep Victoria staff-Mishasek and Blankenship — held the Vancouver Caps varsity to four measly hits in one of the final tuneup tilts the other day . . . Question is asked, how come Portland didn't try for Ken Keltner since Cleveland let him go? One answer could be that the Bevos would rather wait five more years and let Keltner play for nine other clubs before they're ready for him

Operation on Heel Over, Clint Eyes Comeback

Clint Cameron, the WU grad who led the WIL in hitting (.350) last season for Wenatchee, has had the big operation on his ailing side, and Shepard, a biggie at 190 heel and now feels that he's ready to again have his whirl at Triple-A baseball. It was the bad heel that slowed Clint down to a fast walk and cut his career short with the Hollywood club. It was quite may come up with some lastnoticeable that the thing bothered Cameron even if not his swinging minute help from the parent bat all last season. He's again with the Tri - City club (last year's Wenatchees) and is playing the optifield. If the heel comes around as expected, he'll not be long for this league. The guy wields too big a bat for that fate .

Both Calgary and Edmonton in Canada will have Western International league franchise by 1951, it says in a Vancouver, B.C. paper. Wonder if George Norgan has been popping off again?... When (and if) the Senators get in their Tuesday night commencer with Tacoma, John (Moose) Clabaugh will officially be on the Salem roster, Not as a player, but as first base coach. That will be Clabaugh's farewell appearance until next spring, as his vacation is about over and he's due back at his job on the Bonneville dam . . . Incidentally, the Senators will take a 40-minute rest stop every time they bus by the dam. Reason: Ad Liska is an ardent fisherman and Clabaugh will by then know where and when every salmon and trout will be for 20 miles either side of Bonneville. We've even heard that El Moose has detoured part of the fish ladder through his back yard . . .

How They'll Finish in WIL for 1950 (Ha!)

Rumor around Corvallis that Sammy Baker, the ex-prep whiz, come roster belong to Outfielders won't make Kip Taylor's eleven, as he (Kip) has plenty in the way Glen Stetter and Dick Wenner, of lettermen, transfers, etc., for coming season. Big Sam is apt to First-baseman Wimpy Quinn, chase the lot of 'em into the hills if he's as good as a collegian as he was a high schooler, however . . . 11th Campaign Takeoff Ready

Tacoma vs. Senators In Local Commencer

> By Al Lightner Statesman Sports Editor

The Western International league's 150 - game schedule for 1950 is booked for embarkation Tuesday night. The circuit's 11th opener will find Tacoma at Salem, Victoria at Spokane, Yakima at Wenatchee and Vancouver at the new Tri - Cities (Richland-Pasco - Kennewick). But unless the weather does a turnabout from its nipups of the past couple of weeks, league officials will absorb a severe setback to their aspirations of having the 1950 campaign off to a flying start toward one million attendance year. Three new managers will make their WIL debuts Tuesday and wo others in the holdover department will be guiding differ-ent teams than they had last year. The newcomers are Marty Krug, sr., at Victoria, Rupert (Tommy) Thompson at Wenatchee and Ad Liska at Salem. Alan Strange, boss at Bremerton a year ago, is now herding the Spokane Indians. And Jim Brillheart, who had the Tribe last time, is back at Tacoma where he held the reins in 1948. Joe Orengo is back again at Yakima where he won the pennant last season, Bill Brenner is once more with Vancouver and Charley Petersen is at Tri-Cities, the outfit that now holds last year's Wenatchee franchise. The Bremerton club was moved to Wenatchee this season.

With many of 1949's topmost stars now gone, prospects point to a wide - open chase for the 1950 bunting. All clubs in the league lost many of their outstanding operators of a season ago. Gone are such remembered stalwarts as Larry Barton, Dick Sinovic, Jack Warren, Al Libke, Hal Rhyne, George Stainback, Edo Vanni, Bud Sheely, Gil Dougald, Keith Simon, Bill Taylor, Dick Briskey, Dick Greco, Ray Orteig, Len Tran, Bud Peterson, Bob Cherry, Jack Parks, Ted Jennings, John Marshall, Cal McIrvin, Vern Kindsfather and others of equal hue.

Taking their places are many graduates from Class C and D circuits, plus a sprinkling of handlowns from the neighboring Coast loop. Among the returning veterans are Clint Cameron the league's utmost hitter last year, Brenner, Joe Rossi, Jim Robin-Walt Pocekay, Charley Mead, Jim Warner who set a homer record (Continued on next page)
