Unemployment Less Than Half Of Winter Peak

After a winter in which Oregon's unemployment compensation payments broke all records, the rate of insured unemployment was down to 8.8 per cent of all insured workers in the first week of April, from a peak of 20.1 per cent, the state unemployment compensation commission reported Saturday.

The number of continued claims filed in some areas at the winter high amounted to more than half of the average covered employment during 1948, but the highest current rate in any local office area is 19.3 per cent at Grants Pass, closely followed by 18.9 per cent around Toledo.

Three local offices — Portland, Ontario and Tillamook — reported a rate of insured unemployment below the latest national figure received here. The United States average for mid-March was 6.7 per cent as compared with 6.3 per cent in the metropolitan area, which included 146,789 covered workers or 46.2 per cent of the entire state in 1948. Fewer than a third of the current claims are from this section.

With the number of claims dropping steadily, the state's rate is expected to reach a normal 3 to 5 per cent by early summer, when agriculture, food processing and other activities join lumbering and construction in offering more jobs.

Bicycle Safety Rules Listed by State Bureau

Bicycle-motor vehicle collisions killed three riders and injured 307 others in Oregon last year, most of them children, the state traffic safety division reported Friday.

Records show that the majority of such accidents stem from the carelessness or disregard for fundamental traffic rules, the division said. Oregon law requires bicyclists to observe the same traffic laws as motor vehicle drivers, except those regulations which by their very nature cannot apply.

Despite the law, the division emphasized that motorists must not expect children riding bicycles to display the same degree of judgment and responsibility as adult automobile drivers.

Parents were urged to make sure their children know and follow these rules.

1. Keep bicycle to the far right of the street and ride with traffic.
2. Ride in a straight line without weaving or stunting.
3. Ride single file.
4. Do not carry passengers on bicycles.
5. Unless essential, do not ride at night. If you must, have a good light and reflector.

Timber Tracts To Go on Sale

Six tracts bearing 17,000,000 feet of timber in Yamhill, Polk, Marion, Linn and Benton counties will be on the auction block at the Salem district office of the bureau of land management Monday.

District Forester A. P. Collins said the estimated value of the timber involved is in excess of $205,000. On account of the number of inquiries with regard to this sale, it is believed that competition will develop in the oral auction bidding.

Since July 1, 1949, sale from O. & C. lands within the Salem district have totaled 38,500,000 feet of timber at a price of approximately $549,000.

Additional timber will be offered for sale at two-month intervals throughout the year.

The district forester pointed out that of the gross revenue received from the management of the O. & C. lands, the various land grant counties received 50 per cent in lieu of taxes.

Prohibition Issue Aired at Town Meeting

"Prohibition won't curb alcoholism in a nation where half the adult population drinks," an Alcoholic Anonymous member told a Salem Town Meeting forum Saturday.

But speakers favoring prohibition scored heaviest applause from a city hall audience liberally sprinkled with Women's Christian Temperance union members.

The Rev. Orville Jenkins, pastor of Salem's First Church of the Nazarene, called for prohibition again "because it cuts off the source of supply for drinkers."

"I saw three times as much drinking when I lived in (wet) California as when I lived in dry Kansas," said Jenkins.

Dr. Horace G. Miller, Salem psychiatrist, said he didn't think prohibition had been a success during the 1920s. "It created a disrespect for the law."

"People don't become dependent on liquor if they really 'feel good' inside," Miller said. Most psychiatrists neither favor nor are opposed to moderate drinking, he added.

Mrs. Fred Toozie, Portland, state president of the WCTU, said prohibition would work "if the government would enforce it the way it enforced rationing in wartime."

The Alcoholic Anonymous members said that organization "tries to teach people the laws of life. God and common-sense living... it is not trying to change a habit that has been imbedded in civilization for thousands of years."

The forum was one of a series sponsored by Salem Toastmasters clubs.

Lost Zero Sends Firemen Rushing To Downtown Fire

Fire engines from the North Salem station speeded to downtown Salem early Saturday morning to battle a fire reported "in the 200 block on North Commercial street."

There was no fire. Crews checked the alarm, then turned around and hurried north again. The reported fire was in the "200 block on North Commercial."

It was a minor chimney fire at the Eugene Ewen residence. Firemen reported there was no damage.

ASKS STUDY OF SHELLET
ASTORIA, April 14 — (AP) — The vice president of a fish company here appealed today for a biological study of smelt, to find out why they are falling to run. Henry Goodrich of the New English Fish company said this is the first year that smelt have not run heavily in at least one Columbia river tributary.

PART-TIME GLASSES

A national survey by the Better Vision Institute showed that 55.8% of eye-glass owners wear glasses steady. The other 44.2% wear them only for special occasions. Many people who don't wear glasses today, should possibly be "part-time" wearers, and many of the "special occasion" wearers should, for their own good, be "full-time" wearers. Are you one of these persons? See Dr. Henry E. Morris or Dr. Kenneth W. Morris at Morris Optical Co. at your earliest convenience to ascertain this fact for yourself. Or, better yet, phone 3-5528 for an appointment!
