New Summer Courses Set At Monmouth

MONMOUTH—In response to a demand for short, intensive courses, Oregon College of Education will offer a series of five workshops in the 1934 summer session, announced today. From June 19 to July 17, three workshops will be in session; two on the OCE campus and one in Europe. Evelyn Hudson, of the department of higher education staff, will conduct a workshop in physical education on the campus. Miss Mary Fullington, supervisor of arts in the Seattle public schools, will direct a workshop in art.

Assistant Professor Charles Noxon will lead a workshop group in Geography on a tour of Europe, including England, Scotland, France, Italy, Switzerland and other European countries. The tour will begin about June 12, and students will return to Oregon about 45 days later. From July 17 to August 11, two workshops will be offered. Dr. C. DeWitt Boney, Rutgers university professor of education, will lead a group in Language Arts. Dr. Boney is an outstanding authority in the area of reading and has done extensive work for the American Association for Childhood Education. The emphasis will be on the development approach to reading.

Kenneth Wanless, science specialist in the Detroit, Mich. school system, will repeat his workshop in elementary science. Offered last summer, this course aroused an intense demand for another one this year.

Armored cars were in use by the marine corps as far back as 1916 and those speedy types attained speeds as great as 60 miles per hour.

New Buildings Being Erected, East Salem

EAST SALEM—New business firms are taking over the vacant building lots in all East Salem communities. The fourth vacant corner at Park avenue and Garden road now has a new building under construction.

First there was the large Park N' Market and cold storage locker building, the Assembly of God church which has now a new Sunday school building under construction, the Richfield gasoline station, and last, the new furniture store building for the Maurer-Bogardus company.

This new building is on the southwest corner of Garden road and Park ave., just a short distance from the present city limits. The new building will be one story of concrete construction and modern in styling. It will have over 9,000 square feet of floor space and is being placed so there will be black top auto parking strip around the corner for at least 30 cars. The store will carry a complete line of home furnishings. The contractor is R. D. Bright and the construction is by the Cecil Lant company.

On Garden road to the east of the church parking lots is a new display lot opened the past week by the Gibson Tractor Sales service. At 3335 Garden road a bakery firm of Portland has taken over the house as a distribution center. East Salem will soon have another gasoline station. This one is on the southeast corner of Lancaster drive and Sunnyview ave. It is being built by Louis Lorenz who bought the lot about two years ago.

Angel club has been instrumental in having legal size trout released in Abiqua and Butt creek this year and also in having the trout season opened two weeks earlier in this area.
