Ceremony Read At Church Sunday

Arrangements of apples, blossoms and pale pink snapdragons formed the spring setting for the wedding of Miss Ruth McCall and William H. Johnston on Sunday afternoon. It was at 3 o'clock that the Rev. Victor Hugo Sword performed the ceremony at the Calvary Baptist church. Edward Lindburg was the soloist and Mrs. James Francis the organist.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. McCall, was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a camellia pink suit with buttons on the fitted jacket and the collar was edged in fringe of the material. She wore a navy straw hat and navy accessories. She carried a crescent bouquet of camellias, bouvardia and lilies-of-the-valley with a prayer book.

Miss Dorothy McCall was her sister's only attendant and she wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and carried a hand bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Johnston and his twin brother, Robert, was his best man. Ushers were Donald Jones, Delbert Kleen, Jerry McReal and Wade Carter.

Mrs. McCall wore a two piece green wool costume suit and corsage of pink roses and bouvardia for the wedding. Mrs. Johnston chose a brown costume suit with green accessories for her son's marriage. Her flowers were yellow roses and bouvardia.

A reception at the McCall's country home followed the nuptials. Mrs. Robert King cut the cake and Mrs. Edward McCall of Corvallis presided at the coffee urn. Assisting were Miss Patricia Buzzell, Mrs. Harold McCall of Eugene, and Mrs. Donald McCall of Oregon City. Marcia King passed the dream cakes.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Salem until fall, when they will go to Corvallis, where he will attend Oregon State college.

SLIPCOVER OF DENIM
You can't keep a good fabric in the dress goods department, not if it can be turned into something smart for the home. Denim makes the latest switchover from dressmaker to decorator, and if it is tough enough to take it as blue jeans it should wear forever when it slipcovers a chair. Denim tailors well, makes those neat, smooth welting and crisp kick pleats that keep a piece of furniture's good lines as trim as the original upholstery cover. It's crease resistant, easily washable and much for the money. The faded blue that's used for play clothes is widely available but the big news is color, yellow, pink, rose, shades of green and brown—even two-color checks, cross bars and plaids. These new-comers have a more lustrous finish and are lighter weight.

Learn how to make sure-fitting sleek slipcovers yourself with the help of Elizabeth Hillier's booklet SLIPCOVER MADE THE EASY WAY. This booklet is yours for 15 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Miss Hillier at this newspaper. (Copyright 1950 by John F. Dille Co.)

Rice Growers Claim Limelight for Their Product During This Week

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor
This, it seems, is National Rice Week. Rice certainly would provide a variety of dishes. It is said that a consumer service organization for the rice people has 1,890 recipes using rice in its files. That would serve a good many meals without repetition.

So we'll go along, with the rice growers and provide a few of their recipes for our readers to try out.

Chicken a la Ortole
Chicken back, neck, giblets
¼ cup sliced celery
Water
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup celery leaves (chopped fine, p.cked lightly)
1½ teaspoon sugar
1 small bay leaf (optional)
1½ cups canned tomatoes

Put back, neck, and giblets from stewing chicken in saucepan with cold water to just cover. Add 1 teaspoon of the salt, celery leaves and ¼ cup of the chopped onion. Cover and simmer until the chicken is tender. Strain stock, add water to make 2½ cups, tomatoes, green pepper, celery and rest of onion. Heat to boiling, add rice, sugar, bay leaf, if desired, and rest of salt. Cover and boil gently until the rice is tender and most of liquid absorbed. Scrape and cut all the meat from the bones and chop giblets. Stir meat into rice just before serving. Serves 6.

The rice experts constantly emphasize the necessity for cooking rice correctly to get the most good from it. This is their method:

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE
Put 2 cups of white rice, 2½ cups salt and 4 cups cold water in a large saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency. Never stir rice while cooking—the grains will separate and tender. This produces very firm rice grains. If you prefer more tender grains, use ½ cup additional water for each cup of rice used, and increase your slow cooking period 4 or 5 minutes.

Cuba is said to be the home of this rice dish, also sent by the rice consumer service:

FICA DELLO
1½ cloves garlic
1 onion
2 green pepper
2 tablespoons shortening
1 No. 2½ can drained tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
Cayenne pepper to taste
Chop the garlic, onion and green pepper. Fry in part of the shortening. Add chopped tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cook this mixture, known as "sofrito," over medium heat for 20 minutes. Add the meat and stir to break into small bits. Add the remaining lard and other ingredients. Cook over low heat for one hour, stirring occasionally. Add salt if desired. Serve hot, over fluffy white rice. This will serve 4 or 5 persons.

More for Your Money Consumer Type Nylon Brushes News For Home Painting and Touching Up

By Sue Gardner
Once you have your winter clothes packed away in moth-balls and the windows open to soft warm air you are bound to find a decorating job is needed in your apartment. If you also find your old paint brushes are worn - down with much use in past seasons, consider one of the new consumer type nylon brushes for painting walls or touching up furniture.

Women will be particularly happy with the new brushes because they are light-weight and most efficient if used with good paint. Any job around the house is, as a rule, only as good as the tools with which you do the job, and when you consider the effort involved, you want the finished product to look like a professional job.

The nylon bristles are easier to clean and won't break off and they result in a smoother coat of paint. This type of brush is excellent for the water-thinned paints. An added insurance for the life of your nylon brush is that vermin, moths, and fungi won't attack it. Tests have shown that the brushes outlast the regular type three to five times, which makes them a good investment for a homemaker. The smaller brushes in nylon run a little more than those with traditional bristles, but the larger ones cost less in nylon.

Here are some suggestions for buying brushes that will help you in your painting job. If you are painting walls, ceilings or other flat surfaces, use a brush that is three to six inches in width. A four inch brush is the most popular size for homemakers. For moldings, baseboard and trimming jobs, use a brush that measures from one and a half to two and a half inches in width. If you want to paint the window sash and narrow work, use a brush no wider than two inches and ask your dealer about metal paint shields, masking tape or stripping laquers so you won't have to worry about getting paint on the windows. For work like radiator painting, get a long handled bush and paint from the inside out, for most effective work. (Copyright 1950, General Features Corporation)

Peg O' My Hear Here Tuesday

Last in the series of three Civic Drama Festival plays brought to Salem this year by the 20-30 club will be Tuesday night when the comedy, Peg O' My Hear, is presented at the Salem high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. Single tickets may be purchased at the door.

Special guests of the 20-30 club at the play will be the Cherryland festival queen-elect, Nancy Miller, and members of her court. Proceeds from the play will be used by the club's project of purchasing city playground equipment.

Peg O' My Hear was originally written by J. Hartley Manners as a starring vehicle for his wife, the late Laurette Taylor. It was an instantaneous success at the Cort theatre, New York City, and ran for over two years. This past summer it has been a favorite attraction on the straw hat circuit, being played by some fifteen different companies.

The play is a heart warming comedy of the trials and problems of an adorable Irish lass who is compelled to spend the summer with her rich relatives. She violates in an entirely innocent manner nearly every canon of the stodgy Britons, but has a hard time of changing them over from their traditions and customs, and they have an equally hard time making anything different out of the little Irish-American girl.

On Etiquette

By Roberts Lee
Q. If one encounters two friends who are seated together at a table in a restaurant, is it proper to stop at their table until invited to join them?
A. No; this is rude and thoughtless, as they might have matters of personal importance to discuss. It is much better merely to speak as you walk by. Even if asked to join them, you should decline the invitation, unless it is so cordial that you positively know it is their wish to have you with them.

Q. Is it proper for parents to send out announcements and invitations when their daughter, who is a divorcee, remarries?
A. Yes, this is quite all right.

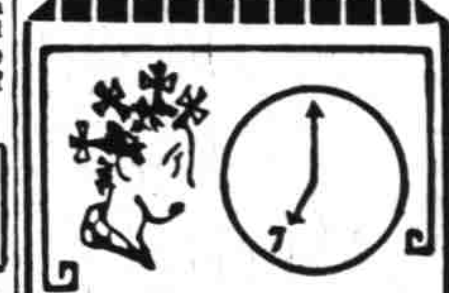

Q. May engraved cards be used to acknowledge flowers and notes of sympathy?
A. Yes, these are perfectly proper.
