Just Too Thorough

DALLAS, Ore., May 17—(P)—Ed Lange was so busy acting as auctioneer for a Boy Scout affair that he couldn't keep a close check on what was being sold.
When it was time to leave he hunted around for his coat. He had auctioned it off.

Traffic Schools
Save Lives
And Crashes

When traffic violators are required to learn traffic safety under Court supervision. This method reduced deaths by as much as 70% in Los Angeles, and set similar remarkable records in many other cities. Salem has a traffic problem which only a school of this type can solve. Your Municipal Judge must "sponsor" this school. My candidacy for Salem Municipal Judge is YOUR opportunity to have such a system in Salem. If you are interested in saving lives, property damage and the elimination of squirrel drivers then

DeMolay Boys Occupy City Offices

As "police chief" for one day, Lloyd Hamlin in a Salem city police car is shown surrounded by fellow "acting officers," members of Chemeketa chapter, Order of DeMolay, who took over city offices Wednesday afternoon. The youths were treated to luncheon at the Senator hotel where Mayor R. L. Elstrom talked. During the afternoon the boys studied activities in their departments. From left in the photo are Bob McConville, recorder; Brad Nelson, treasurer; Hamlin; Dick Lewis, city attorney; Jim Todd, municipal judge; Harold Hewitt, fire chief. Other officers included Jim Stewart, manager; Bob Measney, mayor; Dick Reay and Les Gentemann, airport managers, and Walter Wilson, city engineer. (Statesman photo.)
