The camp will operate for four separate weekly periods, closing August 6. Accommodations at camp will handle 100 scouts plus 30 Explorers or older scouts.

For the first time the admission age limit for scouts has been lowered from 12 to 11 years.

suspension order has to be issued before he can fix the date for a hearing on the increase. If Flagg hadn't have suspended the requested increase, the increased rates would have become effective yesterday.

New this year also will be week-long hikes for explorer scouts. They will make a 50-mile hike around the eight-lake basin with a new group making the trip each week.

Howard Higby, field executive in the Salem scout headquarters office, is in charge of the camp. John Klapp, Salem, will be program director and Erick Soderberg, Albany, will have charge of the explorer trail. Jean Allard of Albany will assist Higby, Richard Wyatt of Salem will be assistant aquatics director, and Bert Cray, Salem, will be camp cook.

This year about 20 activities, including archery, swimming, instruction, boating, fishing, hiking, first aid and lost persons instructions, will be featured. Twelve troops have signed up for camp at the Salem scout office, Higby said this week. Last year about 400 scouts attended camp.

Typewriter Mechanic Held By Local Police

Griffith was released to Detective Callahan of the Portland police department for return to that city where he is wanted on charges of grand larceny and obtaining money by false pretenses (checks). Warrants had also been issued charging him with larceny by bailee in Hillsboro and grand larceny in Grays Harbor. The four warrants called for $4,500 bail.

Parker arrested Griffith Thursday morning at a downtown Salem hotel following a tip from Portland police. Parker indicated that Griffith had been active throughout the northwest as a typewriter and business machine repairman and had used the profession as an "in" for his alleged thefts.
