KNOW WHAT

There's been talk that Queen Anne style furniture might come back again to big popularity. And that shows how cedar chests are tuned to the home furnishings fashion trends—they're already Queen Anne styled like this. Yes, this is a cedar chest, a fine example of how well the new chest designs fit into any room in the house, to decorate it as well as to provide especially safe storage space. This chest, adds an extra wide low drawer to the full capacity cedar-lined space above. Store blankets and winter woolies, linens, too, if you like, in the cedar department, and use the drawer below for things that don't need the protection of cedar. Some things shouldn't be stored in cedar. Cedar oil accumulates on metal objects, printed matter and painted pictures. Silver, brass candlesticks, grandpa's portrait and your wedding license must be put away somewhere else.

East Salem—Mrs. Louis Newman was hostess at her North 38th street home for members of the T.P.M. club Thursday night. Mrs. William McKinney was honored birthday guest and Mrs. Gene Estes as special guest.

Four Birthdays Are Honored

FOUR CORNERS—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lehr were hosts at an unique birthday celebration on Sunday when the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Lehr and her twin brother Walter Hafner; their brother-in-law, Clifford Stuhr, and Judy Lehr, who will be six on May 31, shared honors at a dinner.

A large birthday cake was presented by the grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hafner of Silver Creek Falls. Others coming to extend congratulations to the honorees were Mr. and Mrs. Max Hafner, Mrs. Clifford Stuhr and children, Jackie and Betty Lou, Mrs. Walter Hafner and daughters, Sue Ellen and Peggy Lee all of Silver Creek Falls, and David Lehr and Jeanette Hafner.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shrake opened their home on Saturday evening to a group of friends. Pinocchio was the diversion. Bidden were Mr. and Mrs. Delbert White, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Poole, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Thornburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wagner.

The Four Corners Garden club will meet on Thursday evening, June 1 at 8 p.m. in the Community hall. Mrs. Leroy J. Stewart, program chairman, will present Mrs. Agu Ounatuu who will speak on living conditions in Estonia. Hostesses will be Mrs. Harold Snook, Mrs. Loren Richey, Mrs. J. E. Webster, and Mrs. Oliver Rickman.

Lansing Garden At Blackman's

EAST SALEM—Mrs. Milton Blackman was hostess for the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Lansing Garden club. Mrs. Halbert Kemper assisted in serving a dessert luncheon. The business meeting was conducted by the president Mrs. H. W. Cola. She gave her report of the last meeting held for organization of a Council of Salem Garden clubs, and the Lansing club plans on a membership in the organization. A report of the program planning committee, Mrs. Rex Peffer and Mrs. William Hartley, was given. Program books will be made by Mrs. Lowell Hann.

The June meeting will be with Mrs. William Marsh when a special speaker is planned. For the program hour the members drove to Silverton for a visit to the Coolley's Iris Gardens.

Little Girl Welcomed

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sommer (Jacqueline Torgerson) are receiving felicitations on the birth of a daughter, Michelle Louise, on Monday night at the Salem Memorial hospital. The little girl weighed six pounds, eight ounces. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Torgerson and Mrs. Clara Marsh of Salem, and H. A. Sommer of Los Angeles. The baby has three great-grandmothers, Mrs. Herman Sommer of Salem, Mrs. A. Torgerson of Silverton and

Molasses Cookies, French Toasted Sandwiches Among Recipes in Mail

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

The postman, we are told, comes only once these days. But he certainly must be loaded when he comes here. For many manufacturers are working overtime to keep his mailbox jammed full of suggestions for using everything from canned soups to salted nuts.

Now take those fellows who publicize bread and its affiliated foods. They feature French toasted sandwiches, prefacing the recipes with such clever lines as "Left over chicken." (They always put in lots of question marks, they're a sign of real wit.) Make a chicken-cheese sandwich, dip it in egg-milk (they always use plenty of hyphens too, that makes for catchy guff) batter and fry it. The result is oo la, la! (French toast you see) delectable!

Here's the recipe, which doesn't sound as bad as the building, though we can't see where the chicken and oo la, la comes in. This is their recipe, not ours, maybe you'll like it:

FRENCH-TOASTED SANDWICHES

3 eggs, beaten.
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
Syrup, jam, jelly or other spread
12 slices enriched or whole grain yeast bread
Sandwich filling
1/4 cup margarine or butter
Mix together eggs, milk, salt and sugar. Make sandwiches. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture. Brown on both sides in margarine or butter about 5 minutes on each side. Cut sandwiches in half. Serve on hot platter with syrup, jam, jelly or appropriate spread. Makes 6 sandwiches.

As we get it, you merely dip any sandwich in egg and milk and fry. A good way, we'd say, to use up day-old sandwiches.

The molasses people did a bit better, with a recipe for cookies which are usually welcomed.

MOLASSES SNAPS

1/4 cup fat
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup smoothly beaten cooked potatoes
1/4 cup molasses
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon ginger
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cream together fat and sugar. Add potatoes and continue creaming. Mix in molasses. Sift together the flour, soda, spices and salt. Stir into the first mixture. Drop the batter by tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Flatten to a thickness of 1/4 inch, using a greased flat-bottomed glass. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) until the cookies are lightly browned—about 15 minutes. Remove from the baking sheet and cool. Makes about 30 cookies.

Here's a dressing recipe sent by the makers of mayonnaise. It sounds good for tossed green salads or other springtime mixture.

ORIENTAL DRESSING

1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup tomato ketchup
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Blend real mayonnaise with ketchup and seasonings. Fold in parsley. Yield: approximately 1 1/2 cups.
